petition made March 1790 he says he has five small children. According to D.A.R. records his wife was Sarah Jane Mosley 1745-1805. She is probably buried in Posey County also but no record has been found of it. The father of Thomas Price was Kales Price whose will was made April 1758 and recorded November 1758. In it he gives a wife Mary who was with child, sons James, Humphrey, Thomas and daughters Ann and Mary. The unborn child was a girl Milly. Ann married Waugh Darnell, and Mary married James Davis. About three years after the death of "Kales Price" his widow married Alexander Burke. In 1775 Thomas Price deeded back to his mother and Alexander Burke the land inherited from his father. Thomas Price had the following children. 1. Edmund, 2. William, 3. Jesse, 4. John A., 5. Ruben, and a sixth child whose name is unknown to us. The family came to Floyd county Kentucky and there all remained except two sons who came to Indiana. Rev. John L. Cox wrote a fairly extensive and accurate book on Thomas Price in the 1920's. The two sons who came to Indiana were William and John A. William was born in Virginia in 1777 and married Elizabeth Eaton about 1802 or 1803. They are buried in Robt Township and had the following children.

1. Nancy wife of John L. (Laughing) Cox.
2. Sally wife of Thomas G. Cox.
3. Lourania wife of George W. Bennett.
4. Zacharian who married Elizabeth Moore.
5. James who married Milsey Moultry.
6. John J. married Lucy Williams.
7. Issac who married Polly Ann Stillwell.
8. Hansford who married Mary Ferguson Hershman.
9. Romelia who married Rermelia Williams.
10. Elizabeth who married Elijah Cox.
11. William Jr. who married Clarissa Richards.

John A. Price married Anna Anderson and there were three children by this marriage but only one who married and he left no children. They were Issac, Betsy, and Thomas P. who married Sarah Wisley.

After the death of Anna Anderson John A. Price married Patsy Benson and had ten children. They were.

1. Ann wife of Thomas Target.
2. James Newton who married Sherilda Barr.
3. David Benson who married Evelyn Gambrel.
- 4. Nancy Jane who married William Rhodes. - Maurice's grandmother's brother
- 5. William A. who married Elizabeth O'Hell.
6. Gemina who married Early Carnes.

7. John A. R. who married first Eleanor Anderson second Elizabeth Anderson. Since we are not sure who his wives were out from their names they probably belong to the Elijah and Elikem Anderson families.

8. Rachel the wife of John Wheeler.
9. Martha who married John Wilson.

→ 10. Sarah Ellen who married Elijah Cravens. (Maurice's grandmother's brother)

the case being urgent, the outside man exclaimed, 'None of your winking and blinking—I tell you the Indians are about.' That was understood, the meeting was closed and military defense organized. Now gentle and fair reader, I beseech you not to blush or be ashamed of your forerunners; they were the chosen of God and nature's nobility."

Another account of early Baptist services, this one in or near territory now embraced by Muhlenberg County, is given by H. Austin Cooper in his book TWO CENTURIES OF BROTHERS VALLEY CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN. He tells how Captain Henry Rhoads led a group of over a hundred people into Kentucky in 1785? Many of these Pennsylvania Dutch settlers made homes in what is now Muhlenberg County and have hundreds of descendants in the county.

Henry Rhoads had been an "exhorting deacon" in the Church of the Brethren or the Dunker congregation in Bedford County, Pennsylvania. Mr. Cooper says of him (p. 192), "Henry Rhoads [called the Godfather of Muhlenburg County" by Otto a Rother] found time on the Lord's-Day to stand before the congregation gathered from the sparsely settled neighborhood and read from his German Bible and would translate it into the English language as he read. . . . The congregation here mentioned in Muhlenburg County was the Baptist Church."

"The first church organized at Pond Station (Pond Station was in Muhlenberg County before McLean County was established) was a Baptist Church. Apparently most of the settlers were Baptist. The area around Sacramento and Bremen was commonly called the "Dutch Settlement" on account of the Pennsylvania Dutch settlers most of whom came from Bedford and Somerset, Pennsylvania. Henry Rhoads left the Church of the Brethren and became a member of the Baptist Church."

In his will Henry Rhoads left his Bible to his "beloved wife Barbary Rhoads." The first two paragraphs of his will shows his deep Christian conviction: "In the name of God, amen. I, Henry Rhoads, of the county of Muhlenberg and State of Kentucky, being weak in body but of perfect mind and memory, do make and ordain this my last will and testament.

"First, I recommend my soul to the Almighty God, and as touching my worldly effects wherein He has helped me, I give and dispose of them in the following manner."

First Muhlenberg Baptist Churches

The second Baptist church west of Louisville, Hazel Creek, was constituted on December 3, 1797 — the year before Muhlenburg County was established. The Beaver Dam Baptist Church was constituted on March 5, 1798. The Rev Wendell H. Rone in his A HISTORY OF THE DAVIESS-MCLEAN BAPTIST ASSOCIATION (p. 10.) says, "From these two Churches all the Associations and Churches in this populous territory have descended."

Hazel Creek is in the southern part of the county; Nelson Creek, constituted in 1803, in the eastern. Bethel (usually known as Old Bethel to distinguish it from the many Bethel churches in Kentucky), constituted in 1811, was the first Baptist church in the north-central part of the county.

GUARANTEED HOTEL INVESTORS 1985, L.P.
(A DELAWARE LIMITED PARTNERSHIP)

The California Department of Corporations requires that the issuer shall cause a copy of Section 260.141.11 of the Commissioner's Rules (set forth below) to be delivered to each issuee or transferee of such securities.

260.141.11. Restriction on Transfer.

(a) The issuer of any security upon which a restriction on transfer has been imposed pursuant to Sections 260.102.6, 260.141.10 or 260.534 shall cause a copy of this section to be delivered to each issuee or transferee of such security.

(b) It is unlawful for the holder of any such security to consummate a sale or transfer of such security, or any interest therein, without the prior written consent of the Commissioner (until this condition is removed pursuant to Section 260.141.12 of these rules), except:

- (1) to the issuer;
- (2) pursuant to the order of process of any court;
- (3) to any person described in Subdivision (i) of Section 25102 of the Code or Section 260.105.14 of these rules;

(4) to the transferor's ancestors, descendants or spouse, or any custodian or trustee for the account of the transferor or the transferor's ancestors, descendants, or spouse; or to a transferee by a trustee or custodian for the account of the transferee or the transferee's ancestors, descendants or spouse;

(5) to holders of securities of the same class of the same issuer;

(6) by way of gift or donation inter vivos or on death;

(7) by or through a broker-dealer licensed under the Code (either acting as such or as a finder) to a resident of a foreign state, territory or country who is neither domiciled in this state to the knowledge of the broker-dealer, nor actually present in this state if the sale of such securities is not in violation of any securities law of the foreign state, territory or country concerned;

(8) to a broker-dealer licensed under the Code in a principal transaction, or as an underwriter or member of an underwriting syndicate or selling group;

(9) if the interest sold or transferred is a pledge or other lien given by the purchaser to the seller upon sale of the security for which the Commissioner's written consent is obtained or under this rule not required;

(10) by way of a sale qualified under Sections 25111, 25112, 25113, or 25121 of the Code, of the securities to be transferred, provided that no order under Section 25140 or Subdivision (a) of Section 25143 is in effect with respect to such qualification;

(11) by a corporation to a wholly owned subsidiary of such corporation, or by a wholly owned subsidiary of a corporation to such corporation;

(12) by way of an exchange qualified under Section 25111, 25112, or 25113 of the Code, provided that no order under Section 25140 or Subdivision (a) of Section 25143 is in effect with respect to such qualification;

(13) between residents of foreign states, territories or countries who are neither domiciled nor actually present in this state;

(14) to the State Controller pursuant to the Unclaimed Property Law or to the administrator of the unclaimed property law of another state; or

(15) by the State Controller pursuant to the Unclaimed Property Law or by the administrator of the unclaimed property law of another state if, in either such case, such person (i) disclosed to the potential purchasers at the sale that transfer of the securities is restricted under this rule, (ii) delivers to each purchaser a copy of this rule, and (iii) advises the Commissioner of the name of each purchaser; that any such transfer is on the condition that any certificate evidencing the security issued to such transferee shall contain the legend required by this section.

(c) The certificates representing all such securities subject to such a restriction on transfer, whether upon initial issuance or upon any transfer thereof, shall bear on their face a legend, prominently stamped or printed thereon in capital letters of not less than 10-point size, reading as follows:

"IT IS UNLAWFUL TO CONSUMMATE A SALE OR TRANSFER OF THIS SECURITY, OR ANY INTEREST THEREIN, OR TO RECEIVE ANY CONSIDERATION THEREFOR, WITHOUT THE PRIOR WRITTEN CONSENT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF CORPORATIONS OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXCEPT AS PERMITTED IN THE COMMISSIONER'S RULES."

Just short note hope all is well there, I was doing some research for a man out west and came across an Isaac Roads who was a farmer in Mo., near Sedusac? paper not very clear, but told County - Gasconade. in Press Jan 14, 1892, seems like this was Hardin R Roads son by 1st Mary. Will try to look up this next week, have a few extra days next week. I've been working on Charts when I can. Son at work now, only have 1880 Census book checked out only Peter W. Rhodes 58 Ind. Pen. Va. - Estlin S. 58 W Ind Ky. Ky.

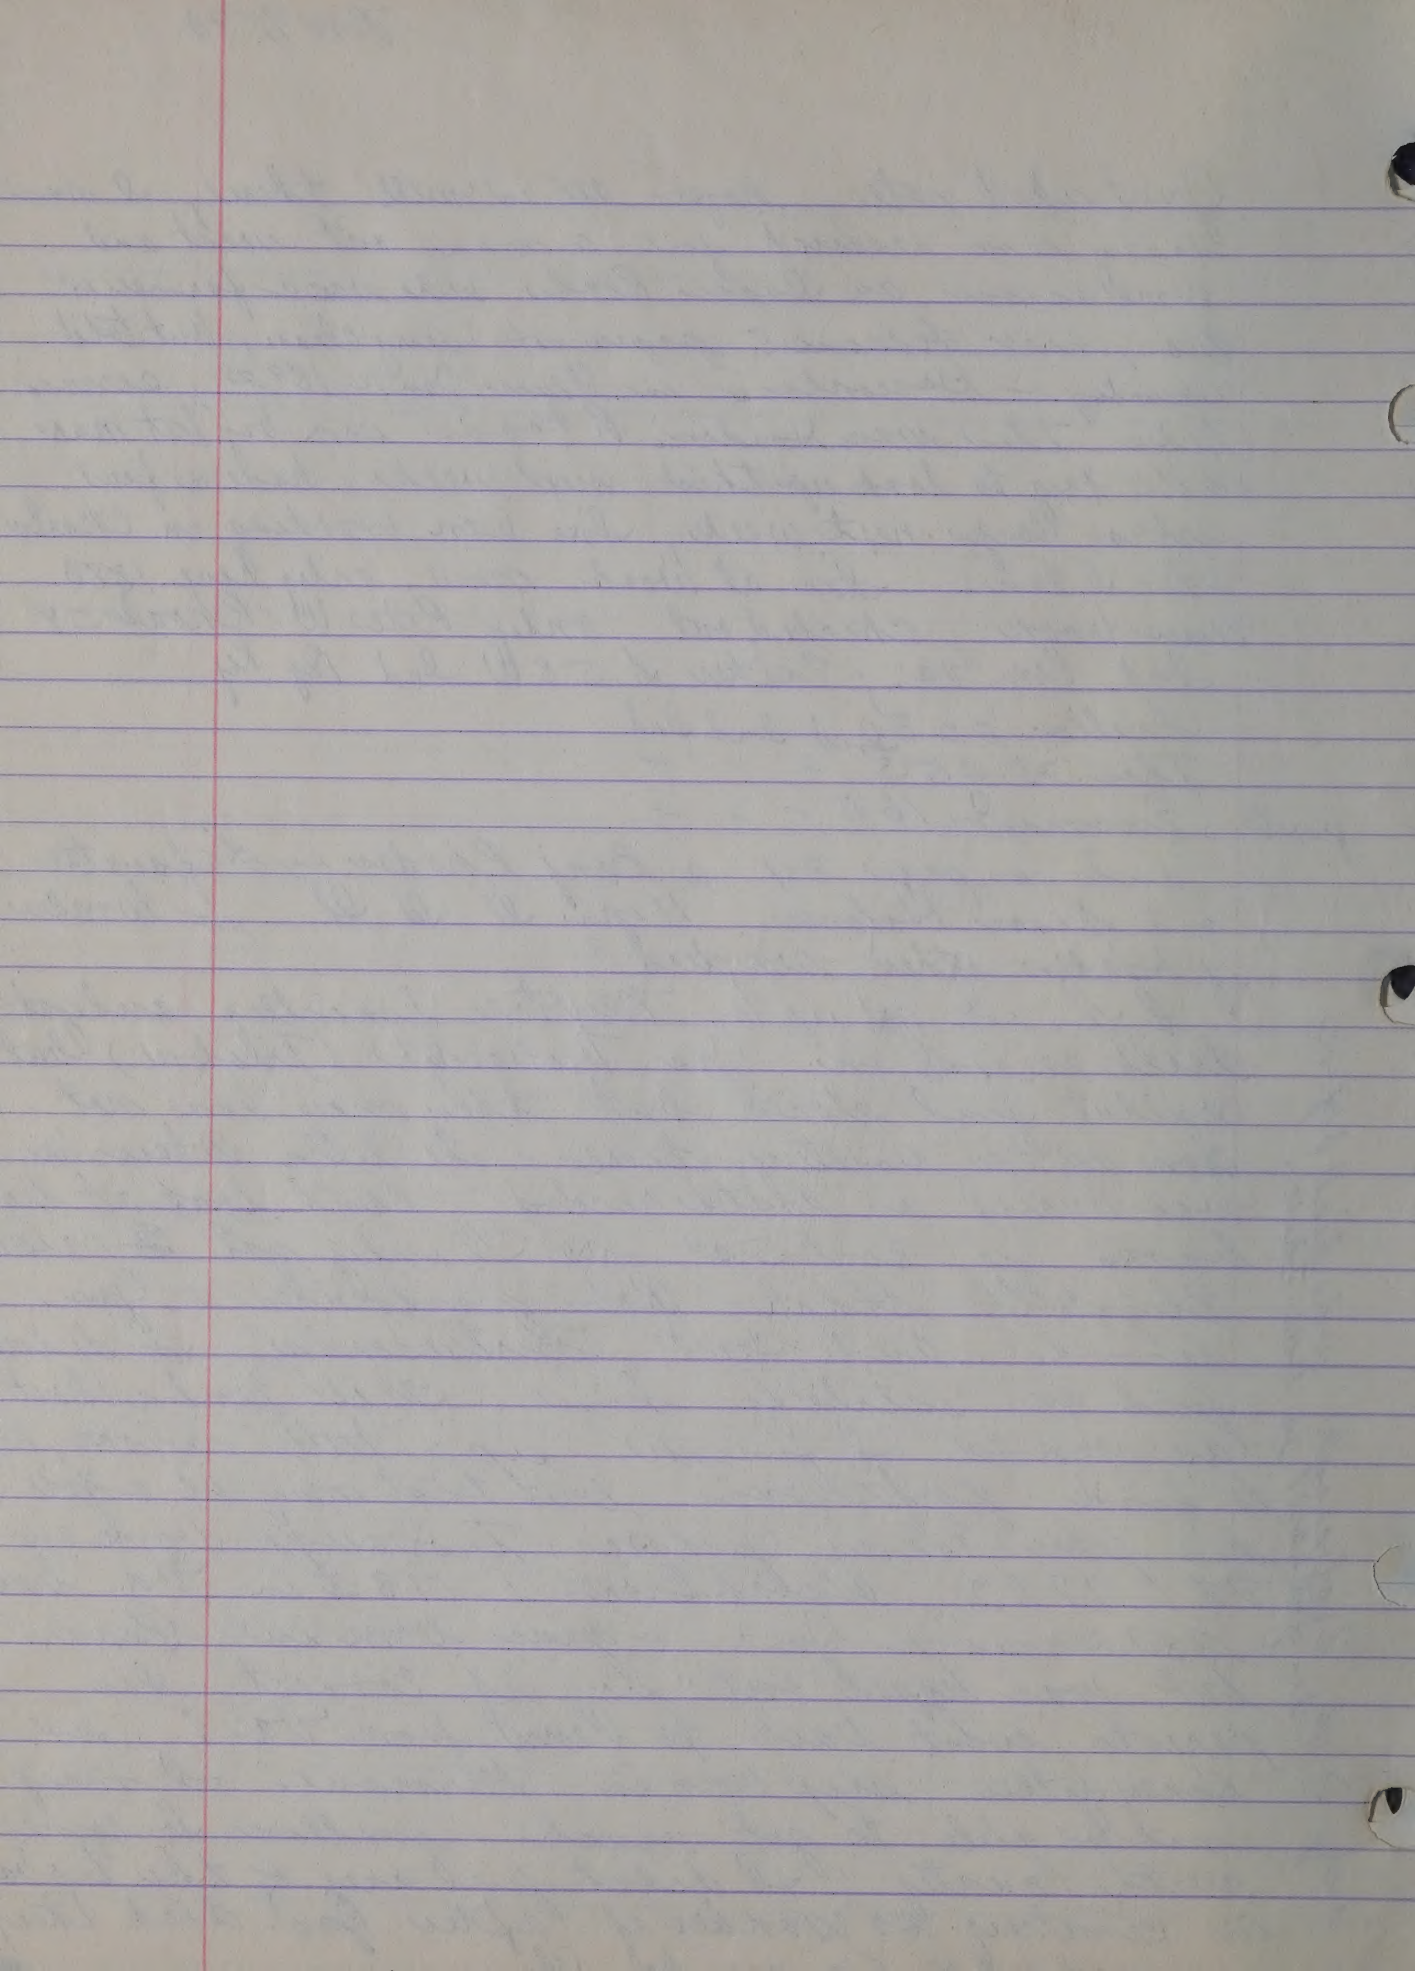

Luella 22 F Ind Ind Ind
Thos. H. 25 S - - - p 25 Emma J. 16 A - - - and on page 34 a Benj. Rhodes in Lafayette and Susan Holman 11 yrs. Ill Ill Ill. so wonder if Hardin other son died?

P.S. I got up to Newton finally and got death record on Jas. Trobaugh (Troba) but couldn't find stones but they may have not done all the cemetery there. He tells where he was buried on death record; can't look at death books as cost 5.00 so I only got 3 records Elizabeth Stahley Rob's grandmother + Jas. records. and some court records. I didn't find an estate for him. Will send a chart as soon as I finish up a little more, hope to find port records but that may be a job his father Henry Jackson Trobaugh born in Va. 1783, Sarah Brown b. 1785 in Va. but 1880 census on Jas. - gave born in Penn., but was typed out so if correct his parents went back to Penn. from Va.? His Henry father said born in German. I may not be able to get much unless I come up with County. I didn't find any of the Trobaugh in cemetery so wonder if after Jas. died they moved out of Jasper. Co. Ill.

only way Trobaugh's who died before his father is bur. there.

bers of the Latter-Day Saints Church, and Mr. M. was ordained Elder in the church in 1862. He is now a local minister and presides over a congregation of about seventy-five members. In political matters, he is associated with the Republican party, and has served as Supervisor of the township.

MARION SONGER, farmer, P. O. Xenia, was born in Clay County, Ill., October 23, 1845, to Jacob and Rebecca (McGrew) Songer. (See sketch of Hiram Songer, Xenia Township, Clay County.) Our subject was reared and educated in Clay County. In 1872, he came to his present farm in Wayne County, which contains 160 acres, 100 being in cultivation and well improved. March 28, 1872, he was married in Clay County to Miss E. C. Vickrey, who was born in Clay County, a daughter of Alex Vickrey. This union has been blessed with two children—Homer E., born September 10, 1875, and Minnie M., born February 23, 1879. He is a member of I. O. O. F. of Zenia, and of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and Mrs. Songer of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In politics, he is Democratic. Mr. Songer has been quite successful in business, and entirely through his own energy.

FOUR MILE TOWNSHIP.

JOHN BOSWELL, miller, Wayne City, was born July 24, 1855, in Clay County, Ill.; his father, Matthew Boswell, is a native of North Carolina. He is yet living and farming in Clay County, to which he came in 1841. His father, the grandfather of our subject, Edward Boswell, was a native of Virginia, also a farmer by occupation, and died in Clay County. Lucy S. (Moore) Boswell is the mother of our subject; she is a native of North Carolina, and yet living in Clay County. She is a daughter of Joshua and Lucy (Algood) Moore, both natives of North Carolina. Our subject went to school in Clay County, Ill., where he farmed. On the 10th day of June, 1875, at the age of nineteen, he was joined in matrimony to Miss Mary E. Ellis, a native of Missouri, born November 15, 1859. She is a daughter of Charles and Nancy (Carlisle) Ellis. Three children came to bless this happy union—William N., born March 2, 1876; he died of pneumonia, February 24, 1883; Viola E., born January 15, 1878; and Charles M., born April 7, 1882. Mr. and Mrs. Boswell are esteemed members of society, also of the Grange. He is a member of the A. F. & A. M., Viola Lodge, No. 691. In political matters, Mr. Boswell is a Democrat.

DR. J. M. BRAMSON, physician, Wayne City, was born July 3, 1836, in Warren County, Ky. He is a son of Hezekiah Bramson, a native of Virginia, and a farmer and shoe-maker by occupation. He came here in 1838, and settled in Marion County, Ill. He died at Tamaroa, Ill. His father was Briscoe D. Bramson, of Scotch descent. The mother of our subject was Emeline (Baily) Bramson, a native of Kentucky, where she died. She was a daughter of David and Martha (Baily) Baily, and is the mother of six children, two of whom are now living—Martha W. Walker and James M., our subject, who was educated in New York

Deanna and Martin lived in Anderson until about 1968 when they moved to St. Louis. After Deanna and Martin were divorced, Deanna went to work for K-Mart.

Martin was born 16 Feb 1932 in Atlanta, Missouri. Martin and Illinois, but who received his medical education in St. Louis, Mo., and Cincinnati, Ohio. The Doctor has traveled and followed his profession in different States, as Iowa, Kentucky and Illinois. He came to Wayne County, Ill., in 1876, and practiced five years in Johnsonville, after which he went to Kentucky, but finally returned to this State, and in the spring of 1882 came to Wayne City, where he now resides and has succeeded in building up an extensive and lucrative practice, enjoying the esteem and confidence of the people. Dr. Bramson was married, April 4, 1860, in Franklin County, Ill., to Miss Sarah A. Harper, born December 22, 1842, in Tennessee. She is a daughter of Alfred and Mary A. Carter (Harper). Mrs. Dr. Bramson is the mother of six children—Marinda E., born May 11, 1861; Lilburn H., born September 12, 1865; Bertha S., born October 12, 1867; Laura A., born November 23, 1869; Martha L., born June 29, 1872; and Clyde M., deceased. Mrs. Dr. Bramson is connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Dr. Bramson is a member of the I. O. O. F., the Grange and the G. A. R. The Doctor also served in our late war. He enlisted in the fall of 1861, and served thirteen months in the Sixth Illinois Volunteer Cavalry, Company D; held the position of Sergeant, and participated in different cavalry engagements.

DR. J. C. BRISTOW, physician, Wayne City. Among the experienced and trustworthy physicians of Wayne County is the gentleman whose name heads this sketch. He was born December 22, 1825, in Parke County, Ind. His parents, George and Elizabeth (Collings) Bristow, were natives of Shelby County, Ky., and were highly esteemed members of society. George Bristow was a farmer by occupation and also an ordained minister of the old Regular Baptist Church; he died in Shelby County, Ky. His father, Gideon Bristow, was a native of Virginia, but of Welsh descent; he and three of his brothers fought in the Revolutionary war. Dr. Bristow's mother was a daughter of William Collings. Our subject was educated in the common schools of Indiana and Kentucky, and received his medical education in the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, Ky., where he received his diploma. In 1855, he commenced to practice medicine in Keokuk County, Iowa, and after two years of successful labor went to Kansas Territory, where he practiced one year, and then returned to Illinois, settling in Crawford County, where he followed his profession till June, 1879, when he came to Wayne City, where he now resides and where he has succeeded in establishing a fine practice. The Doctor votes the Republican ticket, and is considered one of the best read men in this part of Wayne County.

J. R. CHANDLER, merchant, Wayne City, was born February 6, 1854, in Clay County, Ill., where he received such an education as his part of the county afforded, and here he was early in life imbued with a spirit for a mercantile career for which he is so well fitted, and in which his many friends predict for him even greater success than he has thus far achieved. He commenced by clerking for his uncle, W. W. Brownfield, of Xenia, acting as traveling salesman six years. In January, 1881, he came to Wayne City, Ill., where he opened a dry goods store, carrying also groceries, boots, shoes and clothing, and at present enjoys a very large trade, owing, his success no doubt, to his energy, and honesty in dealing with his customers. Mr. Chandler was married, March 7, 1878, in Xenia, Ill., to Miss Mollie Thing, born August 1, 1856, in Indiana, daughter of George and America (Rusher) Thing. He was a graduate of the university of Missouri with a degree in engineering. He was employed by Delco Remy in Anderson, then went to work as a civilian employee for the US Army in St. Louis, Missouri.

DIED AT RANTOUL LAST THURSDAY; REMAINS BROUGHT TO THIS CITY FOR BURIAL

Charles H. Kornmeyer was born at Lockport, Ill., on the 28th day of November, 1844; died at Rantoul, Ill., February 19, 1920; aged 75 years, 2 months and 21 days.

He was first married to Almira Snow of Rantoul. To this union were born three children, George, Mary and Henry, of whom Henry is living. He was again married to Lina Armstrong in 1877. To this union were born six children, to-wit: Oliver, Eugene, Rolla, of Rantoul, and Mrs. Loa Carr, of McLeansboro. His companion died on the 12th day of December, 1912.

At an early age he enlisted on the side of the Union in the Civil War and faithfully served his country as a private until victory came to their cause.

He moved to Hamilton county in 1885 on a farm purchased by him and here he resided and became a successful farmer, until he retired and came to this city, where he resided until the death of his beloved wife. After this sad event he returned to Rantoul and made his home with his children.

He had been a faithful member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows from early manhood up until his death. On moving to Hamilton county he transferred his membership to Hamilton Lodge No. 191, where he remained a faithful member and highly esteemed brother until his death. He was among the oldest members of this lodge and the lodge will keenly feel the place left vacant by the death of Brother Kornmeyer.

He was a patriotic citizen, always ready to uphold his country's rights; a good neighbor; a kind husband and loving father. He was of a genial disposition and had a pleasant word and a smile for everyone with whom he came in contact.

He leaves to mourn their loss, one brother, five children, 13 grandchildren and a host of relatives and friends who will know him no more in this world, but hope to meet him on the golden shores of the new Jerusalem.

Funeral services at the Baptist church Saturday, February 21, at 10 o'clock, under the auspices of the I. O. O. F., were conducted by Rev. John B. Maulding, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

CHARLIE REESE DEAD

George B. Footo received a telegram Tuesday morning announcing the death of Charlie Reese at his home, 228 Third Avenue S., St. Petersburg, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Reese were residents of this city for several years while he was employed by Stinson Bros. Failing health caused them to move to Florida. Their many friends in Hamilton county sympathize with Mrs. Reese in this sad bereavement.

Cyrus Douglas' daughter died Tuesday at West Frankfort of measles. We understand that she was the only daughter and that makes it doubly sad. We extend our sympathy to the family.

Amy Viola, daughter of James and Lumira Garrison, was born near Garrison, Ill., May 14, 1876, and was of a family of seven children as follows: Mrs. Estella Perry of Garrison, Ill., Iona, who died at the age of 13 years, Nolan, of Clinton, Iowa, Arnold of East St. Louis, Mrs. Alma Peer of Harvey, Ill., and Ella, who died at the age of three years.

November 15, 1897, she was united in marriage to John Hutchcraft, who still survives her and who did all he could to restore her to health. To this union four children were born, Clarence E., Clyde R., Rachel M. and John Dale, all living.

About eight years ago she professed faith in Christ and later united with the Baptist church at Ellis Mound, where she remained a consistent member until death.

About three years ago she began failing in health and after seeking relief in different sanitariums, denying herself the privilege of being with her family that she loved so well. She passed away at Mt. St. Rose Sanitarium, St. Louis, Mo., February 12, 1920, aged 44 years, 8 months and 28 days.

Fell asleep in Jesus.

Precious sleep,

From which none ever

Wake to weep.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hulbert Perry, where she was born and spent her early days, February 15, 1920, by Elder W. A. Mayberry. Interment at the Garrison cemetery.

MARTHA MAY STANDERFER

Martha May Trotter, daughter of William R. and Martha J. Trotter, was born in Hamilton County, Aug. 26, 1892; died at her home near Delafield February 21, 1920; aged 28 years 6 months and 21 days.

She was married to C. E. Standerfer April 26, 1911. To this union were born three children. She accepted faith in Christ in 1908 and united with the Missionary Baptist church of Belle Prairie, living a consistent christian life and a faithful mother and wife until her death.

She expressed her willingness to go to that better world, by singing and asking those around her bed to meet her in heaven.

She leaves to mourn her departure a husband, one son and two daughters, mother, father, five brothers, four sisters and a host of other relatives and friends.

Short funeral services were conducted at the home February 22, by Rev. John Maulding. Interment at Crouch cemetery.

Oscar Smith died Tuesday with flu and pneumonia and was buried Thursday evening at Olive Branch.

Life's race well run,
Life's work well done,
Life's victory won,
Now cometh rest.

These words of the poet express to us the meaning of the life of Mrs. Maud Logsdon Wilson who passed away Saturday, Feb. 7, 1920. Mrs. Wilson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Logsdon, was born in Shawneetown, Ill., August 29, 1885 and passed away at the early age of thirty-four years five months and eight days.

After completing the course in the common schools she attended and graduated from Lindin Wood College of St. Charles, Mo., and also Wilson College of Chambersburg, Penn.

When only fifteen years of age she united with the Presbyterian church at Shawneetown and remained a devoted member of that church until her death.

May 16, 1911 she was married to F. R. Wilson of McLeansboro and since her marriage has made her home in McLeansboro. A little infant daughter preceeded her in death six years ago.

The husband, father and mother, brothers and sisters are suffering profound sorrow. There are six brothers, Eugene, Thomas O., Joe E. Jr., Horace, Fred and Bluford. Also two sisters, Mrs. W. T. Miller and Miss Isabelle. The many relatives and friends are in deep sorrow and sympathy. We dare not say goodbye, we only say good-night for after the night comes morning.

Funeral services were from the residence Sunday Feb. 8, conducted by Rev. W. E. Bennett and the body was laid to rest in the Odd Fellows Cemetery.

WESLEY CREMEENS DEAD

Wesley Cremeens was born Jan. 2, 1869, died Feb. 21, 1920, age 51 years, 1 month and 19 days. He was united in marriage to Martha Reed, Dec. 4, 1889. To this union was born four children, one having preceeded him to the great beyond.

Mr. Cremeens was converted several years ago and united with the Bethel Baptist church, later he moved his membership to the Methodist church of Macedonia, of which he remained a faithful and devoted member until he was called to membership in the church above.

He leaves to mourn his departure his wife and three children, also some grandchildren and one brother, and a host of friends and other relatives. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge of Macedonia and will be missed in the church as well as in his home. But let us remember our loss is his gain.

He was laid to rest in the Braden cemetery, after a short service had been held at the open grave by Rev. J. L. Miller, his pastor.

BEARING THEIR WAR CHIEF TO HIS RESTING PLACE

Military pallbearers representing the three arms of the service bear the remains of the late Woodrow Wilson from the hearse into the National Cathedral on St. Albans.

WOODROW WILSON

Woodrow Wilson's soul had drifted out on the great dark tide that runs around the world.

Out through a city stilled in a Sabbath morning's reverential calm, his name was being spoken from a hundred pulpits. In the Central Presbyterian Church, where he faithfully went to worship while the flesh was able, a choked congregation had sung "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," "How Firm a Foundation" and "Onward Christian Soldiers," favorite hymns in which he loved to lift his voice in a happier, better day. Joe Darnall and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. Logan Hutchcraft at Macedonia Thursday, who died at her home in St. Louis Saturday of pneumonia.

OBITUARY

Cordelia Wilson, daughter of Jacob and Mary E. Wilson, was born in Monroe county, Tennessee, November 2, 1847 and died March 1, 1924, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ivillar Greer, aged 76 years and 4 months.

She was the eldest of a family of eleven children and emigrated with her parents to Hamilton county, Illinois, at the age of 13 years, where she has lived continuously ever since.

On Oct. 13, 1870 she was united in marriage to Leonard Faulkner, who departed this life Aug. 16, 1918. To this union were born six children, five of whom, three sons and two daughters, are living. They are, Nannie J., wife of Quiller Greer, James L., William J., May wife of Rolla Floyd of Mt. Carmel, and Chas. C. of McLeansboro, one daughter, Josie, died in 1898. She also leaves 15 grand children, six great-grandchildren, three brothers and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her departure.

She was converted early in life and was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church at Webb's Chapel. Throughout her long and useful life she always held a keen interest in the work of the church.

She was afflicted for several months but bore her afflictions with patience.

The funeral services were held at Webb's Chapel Monday, March 3rd, conducted by Rev. C. M. Price of Norris City assisted by the pastor Rev. W. R. Richardson. Interment at Hutson cemetery in the presence of a host of sorrowing friends and relatives.

Pana.—Mrs. Elizabeth B. Green, ninety-nine, said to be the oldest woman in central Illinois, died here. She was a native of Virginia. Her only surviving relatives are nieces and nephews.

Rev. John B. Maulding of this city conducted the funeral of Mrs. Mary Acka, wife of Wm. Acka, cashier of Dahlgren State bank, at Dahlgren Friday.

Charity () Houston Carter Patton widow of Joseph
Carter

Chancery Case 1 - Box 9

To the Honorable William Wilson Judge of the Wayne Circuit Court at its September Term in the year 1847 in Chancery sitting

Humbly representing sheweth unto your Honor your petitioners William Carter, Silas Carter, Elizabeth Odle & Baules Odle & ~~Nancy Carter~~ ~~would respectfully show~~ that Charity Patton, formerly Charity Carter of said Wayne County departed this life sometime in the year 1846, dying seized of the following described lands situate in said Wayne County and State of Illinois, to wit:

The South West quarter of the North West quarter of Section Seventeen ~~in Township~~ and the North East quarter of the South East quarter of Section Eighteen & the East Half of the South East quarter of the North East quarter of Section Eighteen all in Township Three South of Range Nine East containing one hundred acres

Your petitioners would further shew that besides your Petitioners the said Charity left the following persons her heirs at law & legal representatives, viz.: Samuel Carter, John Carter & Nancy Carter who are of full age and Phebe Carter, an infant children of the said Charity and George W. Stanley, Stephen H. Stanley, John C. Stanley, William T. Stanley, Elizabeth C. Stanley & Nancy W. Stanley, infants, the children of Martha Stanley deceased daughter of the said Charity, and Rigdon B. S. Houston, Elizabeth A. Houston, Nancy R. Houston, James Houston & Charity B. Houston, who are also infants, the children of James Houston deceased a son of said Charity Patton, & William Rhodes & Isaac Rhodes the infant children of Mary Rhodes deceased a daughter of said Charity deceased.

Your petitioners would further shew that said lands belong to said heirs in the following proportions, ? viz: The said William & Phebe Carter are entitled to one tenth part each of the whole of said land. The said Elizabeth Odle (formerly Elizabeth Carter) is entitled to one tenth part. The said Silas Carter is entitled to four tenth parts thereof, one tenth part in his own right and one tenth part in right of each of the said Samuel Carter, John Carter & Nancy Carter, they having conveyed their share to him. The said George W., Stephen H., John C., William T., Elizabeth C., & Nancy W. Stanley are each entitled to one sixth of one tenth part of said lands ? in right of their deceased mother Martha Stanley - That said Rigdon B. S. Houston, Elizabeth A., Nancy R., James & Charity B. Houston are each entitled to one fifth of one tenth part thereof in right of their deceased father James Houston. That said William & Isaac Rhodes are each entitled to one half of one tenth part thereof in right of their deceased mother, Mary Rhodes.

Therefore in tender consideration of the premises your petitioners pray that said Phebe Carter, George W., Stephen H., (paper torn) C., William T., Elizabeth C., & Nancy W. Stanley, Rigdon B. S., Elizabeth A., Nancy R., James & Charity B. Houston, William & Isaac Rhodes be made defendants to this Bill - That summons issue ? That a guardian ad litem be appointed to defend for said defendants herein - and that on the final hearing hereof your Honor order and decree that said lands be divided among said heirs according to their respective rights therein - That commissioners be appointed ? And that your Honor grant such other and further relief in the premises & to your Honor shall seem just and your Petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray.

Hope cemetery, located in the northeast corner of section 13, on which St. Paul is also located, was started late in 1874, altho efforts were made two years previous. On March 22, 1872, a charter was granted to the Graceland Cemetery Company, the directors of which were V. B. Stoddard, C. A. Lybrand, Ora Scott, E. M. Bahney, S. S. Lemert, Mattie Sinnamon and Jennie Moffitt. At an election held in Osage Mission August 21, 1869, it was voted to appropriate money with which to purchase a cemetery site. The new company purchased 20 acres of land from Mr. Holman three miles north of town, but serious objections arose because it was rocky and distant. The matter was dropped until September 1874, when Hope Cemetery was chartered with S. S. Warner, president; J. S. Cust's, vice-president; D. H. Parris, treasurer; T. F. Rager, secretary. Ten acres at the present location were purchased and E. W. Cox appointed sexton. In the course of time the St. Paul lodges of Masons and Odd Fellows came into control, and kept up the cemetery. When the St. Paul Masons consolidated with the Erie lodge, they sold their hall interests to the A.O.U.W., including the cemetery. The Odd Fellows, however, continued to give it attention until its St. Paul lodge reached the vanishing point. The cemetery is now without a sponsor, but some enterprising individuals have been giving it considerable care. Dr. G. W. McMillan, the first physician to reach the side of President Lincoln after he

The first of these is the fact that the United States is a young nation. It is only about 170 years old, and its history is therefore a history of growth and development. The second is the fact that the United States is a large nation. It covers a vast area of land, and its population is one of the largest in the world. The third is the fact that the United States is a diverse nation. It is made up of many different peoples, languages, and cultures, and this diversity has been one of its strengths.

The fourth is the fact that the United States is a nation of immigrants. It has been built by people from many different parts of the world, and this has helped to create a unique American identity. The fifth is the fact that the United States is a nation of ideas. It has been a place where new ideas have often been born, and these ideas have helped to shape the world. The sixth is the fact that the United States is a nation of action. It has been a place where people have often taken bold steps, and these steps have helped to change the world. The seventh is the fact that the United States is a nation of hope. It has been a place where people have often dreamed of a better future, and these dreams have helped to inspire them to achieve it.

Dear Shirley:

Well, I finally got down to the office this week for some serious work on your Rhodes line. I came up with several Rhodes marriage records and have copied some I thought you might want.

Father & Mother -- William H. Rhodes and Caroline Crawford

1. Alice M. Rhodes m. Sampson G. Klotz 7-22-1902
2. Anna E. Rhodes (18) m. Frank C. Wilson 10-26-1895
3. Emma C. Rhodes (23) m. Edward Bahrenburg 3-27-1895
4. James E. Rhodes (26) m. Ida E. Warfield 6-4-1906

F & M. --- Solomon Rhoades & _____ Williams

1. Della Rhodes (23) B. Ill. m. James Ditzer 3-26-1884

F. & M. ---Edward Rhodes B. Harrison Co. and Oillie Welborn B. Ind.

1. Elijah S. Rhodes B. 7-3-1891 in Posey m. Lula May McKinney 10-28-1911
2. Homer Rhodes B. Posey m. Lillie Bauer 11-30-1916

F. & M. --Henry Rhodes and Laura Denbo

1. Ida E. Rhodes (18) m. Edward Nelson 3-26-1896
2. Laura L. Rhodes (15) B. Ind. m. George Glenn 4-17-1892

F. & M. -- Levi Rhodes and Malinda Watson

5. Malinda Rhodes (22) m. Abraham L. Burlison 2-1-1896
6. Minnie Rhodes (20) B. Ind. m. John W. Mason 7-5-1892

F. & M. --Lee W. Rhodes B. Harrison Co. and _____ Hanshoe B. Posey

1. Mabel Rhodes B. 2-11-1889 Posey Co. m. Herman Curtis 12-24-1909

This last one lead me to the Curtis file and Alan Curtis. He has done some work on the Curtis and Rhodes families. I am enclosing 2 pages from our files for you. I also called him and he said if you want to write him he would be glad to help and also to add to his records.

Also came across your William Rhodes marriage to Nancy J. Price on 10-20-1854 but those old marriages don't have parents. Didn't find your Elijah Cravens but might have just missed him.

Right, I had not met any of my father's second family. I really wasn't too interested in meeting any of them but since Jackie called me I did met her and her family. She hadn't done any work on the Carter family so send her what I had. Also send some family sheets for her to fill out and return. I need her mother's family to fill out my records.

Alan Curtis's address is 805 Walnut Street, Mt. Vernon, In. 47620.

Thanks for your help,

Wanda

ing the Mississippi river at Alton, Illinois. He lived in Shelby county during the year 1810, and then returned to Marion county, where his father purchased land in section 9-58-8 (w. 1/2 sec.) and the nw. 1/4, ne. 1/4 16-58-8, where he settled down, raised and educated his family and lived the remainder of his days. William Ragar was the only son, and hence a very important aid in clearing up and improving the new farm. On February 16, 1851, he was married to Miss Lavina B. Ford. She is the daughter of Thomas Jefferson and Matilda (Loyd) Ford, of Garrett county, Kentucky. She, however, was born in Henry county, Kentucky, September 9, 1829. After marriage Mr. Ragar purchased a farm, on which he located permanently and now owns; it is well improved by his skillful farming and good management. Mr. Ragar and his wife have had a family of eight children. They are: Peter J., born November 30, 1855, died July 28, 1881; Sarah M., born April 14, 1858; Martha J., born May 15, 1860; Mary G., born November 30, 1861; Laura R., born January 9, 1864; John W., born November 18, 1865; Nannie A., born November 16, 1868, and died March 9, 1870; George W., born June 2, 1871. Mr. Ragar has witnessed the development of Marion county for many years past, and is fully acquainted with the amount of labor which has been requisite to all the improvements of the last forty years. He remained at home during the entire civil war, watching with interest the progress of the contest. Mr. Ragar is a member of the Missionary Baptist church and clerk of the Ebenezer organization. He is an industrious, well respected citizen; has a good home and a comfortable living for his declining years.

HENRY RHOADES.

The subject of this sketch was born January 15, 1812, in Muhlenburg county, Kentucky, a son of John and Elsie (McQuarry) Rhoades, the former a native of Pennsylvania, the latter of Tennessee. In the autumn of 1827 Mr. Rhoades moved with his father's family to Marion county, Missouri. In 1837 he was married to Miss Rachel Abbott, daughter of Amos Abbott, of Kentucky. To this union has been born nine children, two of whom are deceased. The living are: George Washington, James E., Henry, Martha Ann, Mary Jane, Elizabeth, and Rachel. After his marriage Mr. Rhoades located in Shelby county, Missouri, where he resided seven years, and then moved to Knox county. Here he remained until October, 1861, when he came to Marion county, invested in real estate and located permanently. He now owns 55 acres of choice land, valued at $725. Mr. Rhoades received a good common school education in the public schools of his native State. He is a worthy, industrious citizen, well respected by the community where he lives. He has been a prominent and helpful member of the Masonic order since 1854, was a charter member of Lodge No. 502, located at Philadelphia. He has held the position of junior warden, tyler, treasurer and various other offices of trust in the lodge. Mr. Rhoades remained at home during the war, taking no active part in the contest; but he was compelled to feed soldiers at different times, and lost a valuable horse by them.

JAMES E. RHOADES.

This gentleman was born in Knox county, Missouri, October 10, 1841. He is the son of Henry and Rachel (Abbott) Rhoades of Kentucky. Mr. Rhoades was married March 6, 1861, to Miss Louisa Alice Davis. She was born November 11, 1843, and is the daughter of John B. and Catherine (Rhoades) Davis, the former of Indiana, the latter of Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades have seven children living and one deceased. They are: Charles W., Dora Belle, Eva May, John Henry, Susan Elizabeth, Lucretia J., and George Emmett. For three years after his marriage Mr. Rhoades resided in Knox county, but moved to Marion county in the fall of 1864. He located on his present home in 1881, where he owns 100 acres of choice land, valued at $1,500.

Mr. Rhoades enlisted in the Confederate army under Col. Porter in August, 1862. He was in the battles of Kirksville, Stockton, Walnut Creek, Chariton River, and was taken prisoner and confined in the Knox county prison for a time, but transferred to Macon City, from there to St. Louis, and thence to Alton, Illinois. Here he was released, after having experienced the hardships of six months' imprisonment. He then returned home, where he remained comparatively unmolested during the remainder of the war. Mr. Rhoades was charter member of the Masonic lodge No. 502, located at Philadelphia. He held the position of master of the lodge from 1878 to 1880, and was again elected to that position in 1882. He has been a member of the Christian church since 1862, holding various offices of importance in the same. He was ordained elder in the Christian church by E. C. Browning and Edward Reed, at Philadelphia, in 1878. He was at the same time endowed with the duties of an evangelist in the church. Mr. Rhoades has also pursued the teacher's vocation with success.

HEZEKIAH ROBEY (DECEASED).

The subject of this sketch was born in Bourbon county, Kentucky, March 15, 1806. He was the son of Hezekiah Robey, of Maryland. Mr. Robey was educated in the select schools of Kentucky, and grew to manhood in his father's family. He was married October 7, 1831, to Miss Magdalena Tillitt, daughter of James and Mary Ann (Reed) Tillitt, natives of Virginia. She was born August 8, 1812. The children born of this union were: John S., died young; Mary Ann, born October 2, 1836; Rev. George Washington, born May 27, 1838; Nancy Jane, born May 30, 1841; Hiram Lee, born February 28, 1845; James William, born January 26, 1848, died March 22, 1870; Sarah Eliza, born March 21, 1846; Margaret Catherine, born June 3, 1848; Susan Elizabeth, born February 25, 1850, and Ellen Isabella, born October 12, 1851, and died September 28, 1852. Mr. Robey departed this life on November 10, 1864, leaving many near and dear friends to mourn the loss of a good man and worthy citizen. His wife still survives him; she resides with her daughter Elizabeth.

HEZEKIAH C. ROBY.

The subject of this sketch was born in Jessamine county, Kentucky, near Lexington, March 26, 1807. He is a son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Cloud) Roby, the former a native of Maryland, the latter of Kentucky. He grew up with his father's family. For three years he was engaged as a laborer in Ohio. He afterward returned to Kentucky, and was married February 11, 1830, to Miss Frances Hollway, daughter of George and Frances (Tiller) Hollway, of Culpeper county, Virginia. Of this union eight children were born, of whom only one, James W., is now living. Those deceased are: Frances, George W., Mary J., Deborah, Margaret A., Thomas J., and Eliza. Mrs. Roby died November 28, 1848. Mr. Roby was afterward married on May 15, 1856, to Susan Hyett, daughter of Charles and Catherine (Adams) Hyett, of Pennsylvania. This union was blessed with four children, of whom two, Rebecca and an infant daughter are now dead. Those living are: Charles R. and John W. After marriage Mr. Roby lived in Kentucky until December, 1819, when he moved to Monroe county, Missouri, for a short time, then moved to Randolph county where he resided for more than thirty years. He moved to his present home in Marion county in 1877, where he owns a very nice little farm, very well improved and well cultivated. Mr. Roby remained at home during the late war, but two of his sons, George and James, were in the Confederate service for four years; during that time George was slightly wounded. Mr. Roby is a member of the Christian church, in which he has been a deacon for many years. Both of his wives were members of the same church.

northeast of Montrose. John A. and Agnes Wilson were parents of ten children: William, subject of this sketch; Stewart, Omer C., John W., Mary E., Eoline and Clara, deceased; Thomas, resides at Reynoldsburg, Ohio; Monroe lives at Cincinnati, Ohio; James resides in Montana.

In 1861 William Wilson enlisted in Company A, 76th Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and served for nearly four years with his command, being honorably discharged from the service on July 15, 1865. He served with the 15th Army Corps under Generals John A. Logan and Sherman. He participated in the great battles of Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Vicksburg, Mission Ridge, Lookout Mountain, and was in the campaign through Georgia, marched from Atlanta to the sea with General Sherman's Army, and thence through the Carolinas to Richmond, after the surrender of General Lee. He marched in the Grand Review of the victorious Union troops through the streets of Washington and then returned home. He accompanied his parents to Henry County and engaged in farming in this county until 1885, when he located in Montrose and engaged in the retail meat and butchering business. He followed this for several years and was also employed in a local grocery store for some time. Of late years Mr. Wilson has been living in peaceful and well earned retirement.

William Wilson has been twice married. His first marriage occurred in 1868 with Eliza E. Stubblefield, who died in 1890. His second marriage took place in 1893 with Miss Emma Tuttle. Mr. Wilson is a Republican in politics and has served four years as city assessor of Montrose. He also filled the post of city collector of taxes. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and is affiliated fraternally with the Grand Army of the Republic Post at Appleton City, Missouri.

Jacob Rhoads, pioneer settler and president of the Bank of Deepwater, was born in Edgar County, Illinois, July 30, 1847, the son of Alney McLean (born January 11, 1820, died February 12, 1892) and Susan (Dixon) Rhoads (born 1820, died December 24, 1859). Alney McLean Rhoads was born in Kentucky and was the son of Jacob Rhoads, who migrated to Edgar County, Illinois, in 1823 and was a pioneer settler of that county. The parents of Jacob Rhoads were reared and married in Edgar County, Illinois, and resided there until 1854. In that year A. M. Rhoads, wife and six children, gathered up their belongings and drove in wagons across the intervening country to find a new home in Henry County, Missouri. They arrived at their destination after a three weeks' trip and located upon a tract of land situated on the banks of Deepwater Creek, two and a half miles north of the town of Deepwater. Mr. Rhoads built a cabin of poles, having a stick chimney and a dirt floor to supplement the tent which had sheltered them of nights when making the long trip from Illinois. This rude structure served as the family domicile while the father was cutting and hewing logs to build a cabin. This log cabin was erected in September of that year and served as the home of the family until 1868, when a frame house was built. There were nine children in the Rhoads family, only two of whom are living: Jacob, subject of this review, and Mrs. Elizabeth Moyer, Deepwater, Missouri.

During the Civil War Jacob Rhoads enlisted for service in the Missouri State troops but was exempted from active service on account of the fact that he was deficient in the sight of one eye. He was married in 1868 and began life for himself upon his father's farm. The family estate was left to him and his sister at the time of his father's death, but Mr. Rhoads had accumulated land on his own account. He has sold some of his land but is the owner of a total of 870 acres in Henry County. Mr. Rhoads has been active during his entire life and only of recent years has he turned over the actual cultivation of his farm land to his sons. Every day he makes a trip to the farm and does some work about the place. He believes that it is better to wear out in the harness than to rust out as so many retired farmers do when they retire to a home in town.

In 1868 Jacob Rhoads and Augusta V. Plecker were united in marriage. Mrs. Augusta Rhoads was born in Augusta County, Virginia, June 2, 1852, the daughter of John W. (born April 15, 1817, died March 25, 1877) and Anna Eliza (Craum) Plecker (born March 15, 1820, died December 19, 1889). The Plecker family came to Henry County in 1866 and settled upon a farm which had been owned by A. M. Rhoads previously. To them were born ten children, eight of whom were reared to maturity: David B. Plecker, Oklahoma; Edward J., North Dakota; John A., Oklahoma; James F., Deepwater, Missouri; A. H., Lynchburg, Virginia; Mrs. Mary Frances Pomeroy, Colorado; Margaret Ann, wife of James Moyer, Clinton township; Mrs. Augusta V. Rhoads.

The children born to Jacob and Augusta Rhoads are as follow: Rosa Lee, John Alva, Dessie Ellen, Virginia Ann, Jettie Celeste, Harlan Francis, Mrs. Rosa Lee Sprouse lived in North Dakota, is deceased and left three children: Mrs. Edith Florence Wintsell, who has two children, Marie Wintsell and Nora; Earl Jacob Prouse, now in France serving in the National Army. Mrs. Bertha Virginia Lovell has one son, Eugene Merrill

Lovell. John Alva Rhoads lives on the old home place, married Maude Haines and has nine children: Mrs. Cecil Audrey (Smith), Florence Floyd, Clifford Clyde, Carmel, Fay, Jacob Carroll, Fay Carmel, Ruby Lee, Raymond, Lois Virginia and Woodrow Wilson. Mrs. Dessie Allen De Armond, Deepwater, has two children: Goldie Fern and Dimple Violet. Mrs. Virginia Ann Woods lives in Deepwater. Mrs. Jettie Celeste Wilson, Deepwater, has one child, Leota. Harlan Francis, living on the Rhoads home place, married Gladys Holmes and has three children: Cleo Jacob, Opal Francis and Glenn, born July 4, 1918.

Mr. Rhoads is a pronounced Democrat who has taken a more or less active part in political matters during his entire life. He was the first treasurer elected in Fairview township under the township organization and has filled several township offices. He is a director and president of the bank of Deepwater and assisted in the organization of this bank. He and Mrs. Rhoads are members of the Baptist Church.

Prior to his election as president of the bank in 1917 Mr. Rhoads served several years as vice-president of the bank.

It is a matter of history that A. M. Rhoads rebuilt Jackson's old water mill after the war and for a time it was operated by his oldest son until it passed into other hands. Jacob Rhoads recalls that the grinding of meal for the family table was done by tread-mill operated by "cow power." This mill was located southeast of Calhoun and he took corn there to be ground and remained all night. There was a "still" near this grist mill and the distiller would trade whiskey for corn, more whiskey being given in exchange for yellow corn than for white corn.

In point of years of residence Jacob Rhoads is probably the oldest living pioneer settler in the southern part of Henry County. Despite his age he is energetic, well preserved and keeps well informed of daily happenings, taking a great interest in everything that is going on in the world. He believes that a man, especially a man who is getting old, should keep alive his interest in everything which happens and will thus prolong his life and live much more happily than otherwise. When a man begins to lose interest in things mundane, he is ready for the grave. In this case Jacob Rhoads has a long time yet to live and enjoy life.

Alfred H. Allison, proprietor of a well improved farm of 128.64 acres in Walker township, was born in Bates County, Missouri, December 18, 1868, and is the son of Otho C. and Zerelda (Baker) Allison, the former a native of Illinois and the latter was born in Missouri. Otho C. Allison was born in 1845 and died in 1915. Mrs. Zerelda Allison was born in Clarksville. His property was destroyed by fire December 4, 1870, when he lost everything, but as nothing however discouraging could daunt him, he resumed operations in a few months. At the time of his death he owned a fine farm of eighty acres located near Paynesville, besides his business house and residence in Clarksville. The Captain never identified himself with any church organization, but was a thorough-going Universalist in belief. Politically he was a stanch Republican, but was of a very retiring disposition and never aspired to public office. He was a kind, sympathetic, generous and charitable gentleman, who measured up to the full standard of manhood, and was a great lover of home. His remains lie interred in the Clarksville cemetery. Mrs. Johns is a consistent member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

WILLIAM P. JACKSON, deceased. For over sixty years the home of this honored old pioneer was in Marion County, and while living on his excellent estate in Warren Township he was called to his final rest, September 7, 1891. His parents, Julius A. and Elizabeth (Walls) Jackson, were natives of Delaware, whence they made the journey to this State and county when William P. was a lad of twelve years. They resided here for about ten years, when they changed their location to Shelby County, Mo., and there passed the remainder of their lives. They were extensive land-owners, having their property worked by slave labor. They were the parents of two sons, the brother of our subject being James W., who is also deceased.

After the death of his wife Julius A. Jackson was again married, the lady on this occasion being Mary Griffith. She was also a native of the State of Delaware, and departed this life in Shelby County. To them were born three children, Julius A., Eliza and Elizabeth, all of whom are deceased. Elizabeth married Dr. Lemuel Franklin, who now resides on the old homestead in Shelby County, Mo., which was settled by Grandfather Jackson.

The original of this sketch, born June 12, 1818, was given a good education, completing his studies in the St. Charles College. He then engaged in teaching in Shelby and Marion Counties, following this vocation with signal success until about twenty-four years of age, when he abandoned that kind of life and gave his attention to farming, locating at once on the farm which is now occupied by his widow. This estate had been given him by his father on his removal to Shelby County. His ventures in the agricultural line were prospered and at the time of his decease he left an estate of about four hundred acres lying in Warren Township, this county. He acquired a moderate fortune, became prominent in his community and for a number of years was Justice of the Peace, and for fifty years was School Director. Mr. Jackson always took an active part in church and educational affairs and was highly respected by all who knew him.

Our subject was twice married, his first union being with Miss Emily E. Sharp, who was born in this county and died May 11, 1849, at the age of twenty-three years. She left two children, Richard A., a farmer of Marion County, and Mary E., who married John Toliver Ragland; both are now deceased. In 1850 Mr. Jackson chose for his companion Miss Sarah Taylor whose birth occurred in Oldham County, Ky., July 4, 1832. Her parents were John and Jane (Woodard) Taylor, natives respectively of the Blue Grass State and Virginia, the father having lived to be eighty-five years of age, but his wife died when young. To Mr. and Mrs. Taylor there were born six children, William, John, Elizabeth, Joseph and Jane, all deceased, and Sarah, Mrs. Jackson. Mrs. Jane Taylor departed this life in the Blue Grass region, after which her husband came to this State and county and lived with his daughter for about twelve years, when he was taken into the home of his son, John, Jr., where he passed the remainder of his life. He was never an office-seeker or holder, yet was very prominent in his community, pushing forward to completion any scheme set on foot for the betterment of the people. He was a member, and for many years a class leader, in the Methodist Episcopal Church. In politics he always voted for the Democratic candidates.

To our subject and his estimable wife there were born a large family of children, eleven in number. Of these James W. is engaged as a general merchant in Bucklin, Mo.; Eliza F. is deceased; John T. is a farmer of this county; Sarah F. is at home with her mother; Emily E. married J. W. Rouse, a banker of Bucklin; Lulu is now Mrs. A. W. Cassidy, a merchant of Lamar, Mo.; Minnie F. is engaged in teaching school at Monroe City; Julia B. is the wife of W. T. Stamper, and both are school teachers of note in Corvallis, Mont.; William W. is a farmer of Barton County, Mo.; Annie E. is at home; Julia A. is deceased.

Mrs. Jackson has retained one hundred and twenty acres of the home place, to the cultivation of which she gives her attention, and is manifesting herself to be a woman of business ability. The family occupy the brick residence which was erected by Mr. Jackson in 1855. She is a faithful, consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and an active worker in the same. Educational measures find in her a warm friend, as she is strongly in favor of good schools and teachers.

THOMAS C. WILSON. This prominent business man of Hannibal was born in Lincoln County, Mo., April 12, 1851. He is the son of Alexander K. and Alzira M. (Gibson) Wilson, the former of whom was born April 1, 1813. He in turn was the son of David Wilson, a native of Ireland, who emigrated to the United States in 1809, settling in North Carolina. Eight years later he removed to St. Louis, Mo., and after a stay there of two years became a resident of Lincoln County, where he passed his time in farming until his decease, in 1821. The grandfather of our subject married a Miss Elder. All of their children are now deceased. Mrs. Wilson passed away in Lincoln County in 1867, at the age of ninety-seven years.

The father of our subject was reared to mature years in Lincoln County and, when of sufficient age, learned the blacksmith's trade, which occupation he followed the greater part of his life. After the formation of the Republican party he voted for its candidates, being one of the twelve men in Lincoln County who cast a ballot for Lincoln, in 1861. He departed this life February 8, 1886. Alzira, his wife, was born in what was many years ago the Territory of Louisiana, but now the State of Missouri, April 27, 1816. Her father was Gayon Gibson, and the maiden name of her mother Selamy Sitton. The former was the son of Gayon Gibson, Sr., whose birth occurred in Ireland, January 7, 1744. He crossed the Atlantic in 1772 and in this country was married to Eleanor Kennedy, December 8, 1773. He died of yellow fever in Augusta, Ga., in 1795. Gayon was born in South Carolina, October 7, 1787, and his wife was a native of North Carolina, her birth occurring October 5, 1793. Their marriage took place in Tennessee, October 10, 1811, and to them were born eleven children, of whom Alzira was the third. The grandfather died January 8, 1848. Selamy Sitton was the daughter of Joseph and Diana (Beck) Sitton and was the youngest member of a family of twelve children. Joseph Sitton was a native of Scotland, in which land his family were very prominent and noted people.

Grandfather Gibson fought as a soldier during the Indian War. He went to what is now Missouri in 1808, but three years later returned to Tennessee, where he was married, and brought his wife to his new home, reaching Kennedy's Fort on Christmas Day, 1811. Although the parents of eleven children, fifty years rolled by before there was a natural death in the family.

The parents of our subject were married in Lincoln County, Mo., November 6, 1843, and unto them were born eight children. Ann Isabella is now the wife of John M. Gladney, of Lincoln County, and the mother of ten children: Luther M. died in February, 1894, leaving five of Breckinridge County. He was a life-long agriculturist and succeeded in providing well for his large family. In 1825 he moved to Boone County, Mo., renting a farm there for four years, when he came to this county and purchased forty acres of land in partnership with his brother-in-law. The place was covered with timber which he proceeded to clear off, but only lived there about two years, then selling out and taking up his abode on a farm north of the one where our subject is now living. He entered one hundred and sixty acres of Government land, on which he made substantial improvements during his five years' residence thereon. From 1836 until his death, which occurred in 1866, his home was near Mexico, Audrain County, Mo. His wife departed this life in 1835. Of their ten children only four survive, namely, Jeremiah, John, Julia, and Benjamin. Melissa, Lucretia, Thomas, and one other, all died in infancy or childhood, and Mary and Rhoda A. have also passed away.

The birth of our subject took place in Breckinridge County, Ky., April 5, 1818. He grew up on his father's farm, and when in his nineteenth year left home to make his own living. For some time he worked in a brickyard in Grant County, Wis., and was also employed on farms. He can say what few men can with truth, that he has crossed the plains twelve times, a most unusual record in view of the difficulties and dangers which the daring adventurers of early days encountered. As schools were very few and poorly conducted when Mr. Shepherd came to this county, and as he was obliged to give his services to his father on the farm, it is little wonder that he had a small chance of obtaining an education. Nevertheless he is a man of keen observation, fond of reading and study, and by his own efforts became well informed.

In 1850 Mr. Shepherd was married in Audrain County to Sarah McGee, a native of Monroe County, Mo., but who was reared to womanhood in Ralls County. Her parents were James and Polly (See) McGee, both natives of Kentucky. The father was one of the early settlers here, and with his wife passed his last years in this community. For two years after his marriage our subject lived at the home of his wife's mother, then moving to a farm near his present home, and three years later coming here. The land is suitable for general farming, though corn and wheat are the principal products. The owner also gives considerable attention to raising livestock, and has been very prosperous.

January 20, 1862, Mr. Shepherd enlisted in the Union service as a private in Company E, Second Regiment of Missouri Cavalry, under Col. McNeal and Capt. Cowen. In August, 1862, he took part in an engagement at Perry Grove, Mo., where they met the forces of Green and Porter. His next battle was at Pierce's Mill in Shelby County, Mo., and at Kirksville there was a sharp skirmish with the enemy. Then with his company he went to the southern part of the State and met Marmaduke's soldiers at Cape Girardeau, Mo. He was in several other engagements of lesser note during his three years' service, and finally received an honorable discharge, May 12, 1865. With the exception of a slight injury incurred during his first battle he was never wounded, and was always present at his post of duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd have never had any children of their own, but have adopted several to whom they have stood in the light of parents, giving them loving care and every possible advantage. At present a member of their household is Miss Lettie Henderson, who has lived with them for many years. Mr. Shepherd is a member of the Christian Church, while his wife is a Methodist, and both take great interest in religious progress.

CHRISTIAN S. JACKSON is numbered among the enterprising and progressive young farmers of Ralls County and, in view of the fact that he has not long been engaged in independent effort, has succeeded remarkably well and bids fair to be one of the principal agriculturists of the district ere many more years have rolled over his head. The homestead on which he has made substantial improvements and which has been in his possession but three years, is situated on Section 36, Township 54, Range 7.

Our subject is the son of James W. and Sarah E. (Sharp) Jackson, of whom a sketch is given on another page of this work. His father was born in Delaware, November 24, 1825, his parents being Julius and Elizabeth (Walls) Jackson, both natives of Delaware. James Jackson came to Missouri when a boy, with his parents, and settled in Shelby County, afterward going to Marion County, where he married Sarah E. Sharp, a native of Virginia. Of this union seven children were born, of whom the eldest died in infancy. The others are William R. P.; James B.; Emma E.; Edward A.; Cornelius C., and Christian S. The father died February 28, 1881, and since that time his widow has resided upon the farm in Marion County, and has taken charge of its management. In this she has shown herself to be a woman of excellent executive ability and good judgment.

Christian S. Jackson was born in Marion County, Mo., September 18, 1867, and his boyhood was passed in the usual way of farmer lads, his time being divided between work and play. He assisted his father in the management of a farm and after the former's death was an invaluable aid to his widowed mother. When he was in his nineteenth year he assumed much of the responsibility and soon afterward began working a portion of the farm on his own account. Two or three years later he came to Ralls County and purchased sixty-seven acres, his present home. He has instituted many improvements and carries on general farming. Corn and oats are the principal staple crops and the farm also seems well adapted for raising horses, cattle and hogs. The owner is a man of practical ideas and is not so conservative that he will not adopt new and well-sanctioned methods. He is a young man of good general information and in his political faith is an ally of the Democracy.

October 30, 1890, the union of our subject and Mary C. Allison took place at the home of the bride's parents, Capt. J. W. and Catherine Allison, of Ralls County. (See their sketch elsewhere in this work.) Mrs. Jackson was born October 10, 1866, in this county and here grew to womanhood, receiving a liberal education. By her marriage she has become the mother of two children: James A., born October 2, 1891, and whose death occurred when he was but four months old, and Owen R., born August 27, 1894. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church South and are actively concerned in its various lines of usefulness.

ROBERT K. PHILLIPS has been Postmaster of West Hartford, Ralls County, for the past ten years, having entered upon his duties in May, 1885, and since then having had the office in his own dwelling. Politically he has always voted the Democratic ticket since the war and has held a number of local offices in this district, such as School Director, etc., acquitting himself in a thorough, practical manner. For some fourteen years he has been the proprietor of a farm on Section 32, Township 54, Range 6, but he has been an inhabitant of Ralls County for over a quarter of a century and intimately associated with its progress.

Isaac Phillips, father of our subject, was born in Pennsylvania, but his parents were natives of Ireland. His birth occurred in 1793 and in 1820 he removed to Jefferson County, Ky., and in the spring of 1857 located near Centre, Ralls County. There he rented a farm for two years and then purchased a farm on Lick Creek, in this county, near our subject's present home. This was his dwelling place until he was claimed by death July 17, 1880. He was three times married, his first wife being a Miss Woolfolk, of Oldham County, Ky. She survived their marriage only a few months and later Mr. Phillips married her cousin, also a Miss Woolfolk. Their children were: Agnes, who married Dr. A. S. Newton, now of Louisville, and Margrette, who died at October 6, 1888, Mrs. Harriet Fogle became the wife of David B. Clouser. He was a native of Pennsylvania and his death occurred July 12, 1893, at the age of sixty-three years. He was a man of sterling qualities and had hosts of warm friends in this neighborhood. In his political belief he was a Republican and never failed to discharge his duties as a citizen.

Walter S. Johnson was born in Warren Township, Marion County, April 1, 1843, and married Annie Fogle, daughter of our subject, February 19, 1871. Mr. Johnson is a son of Horatio N. and Juliana (Tabor) Johnson, natives of New York State. They moved to Marion County in 1835 and here passed their remaining days. The former was born July 31, 1809, and died September 19, 1877, and his wife, who was born October 5, 1811, died April 21, 1865. Their seven children were named as follows: William P., Orson D., Sarah A., Walter S., Elizabeth R., John N., and Tabor T. Walter Johnson learned the carpenter's trade in Philadelphia, Mo., and after reaching his majority, rented various farms in that locality for six years. Then for three years he worked on a salary in this township and for six years after his marriage leased a farm in this vicinity. Afterward, on account of his health, he went to Colorado, where he remained for three years. In 1884, he moved to his present homestead which comprises one hundred and five acres. He and his good wife are members of the Baptist Church. Politically he is affiliated with the Democracy.

RICHARD A. JACKSON is a well-to-do and energetic agriculturist of Township 56, Range 8, Marion County, his residence being on Section 6. He is a fitting example of the self-made men of this region, of whom there are many and prominent ones. His only capital in life was a good general education, a few hundred dollars and native characteristics of determination, industry and energy in whatever he undertook, and thus in time he wrought out for himself a goodly heritage. He has been a lifelong resident of this Township, having been absent from its limits only a few months, and has thus been identified with its development and increasing prosperity.

William P. Jackson, father of our subject, was born in Kent County, Delaware, June 12, 1819, and on reaching man's estate married Emily Sharp, a native of this Township. She died May 11, 1849, aged only twenty-three years, and left three children, one of whom died in infancy. Mary E., since deceased, was the wife of John T. Ragland, who is also deceased. Subsequently William Jackson married Sarah F. Taylor, who was born in Kentucky, and is still living in this Township, and a sketch of whom will be found on another page. By this union were born the following children: James W., of Buckland, Mo., engaged in merchandising; John T., who is a farmer in this township; Eliza F., deceased; formerly the wife of Mr. Settles, a farmer of Boone County; Sarah J., who lives with her mother; Emily E., wife of John W. Rouse, a banker of Bucklin; Lula, wife of Alfred Cassaday, a merchant in Lamar, Mo.; Julius, deceased; M. Fannie, a school teacher, living at home; J. Beatrice, who married Dr. W. L. Stamper, a school teacher in Montana; William W., a farmer of Barton County, Mo.; and Annie E., who is also a school teacher and living with her mother. The father of this large family moved to Shelby County, Mo., from Delaware at an early day, and when twenty-five years of age settled in Warren Township, where he passed the remainder of his life. He was a man of good education and taught school for many years in addition to carrying on his farm. For a number of years he served to the satisfaction of all concerned in the capacity of Justice of the Peace, and at the end of his busy and useful life was called to his reward, September 7, 1891, aged seventy-three years.

The birth of Richard A. Jackson occurred in Warren Township, this county, November 23, 1843. His boyhood passed quietly on his father's farm, his time being occupied in the usual pursuits of a country lad until he was twenty years of age. He had then completed his course at the District school and entered the Central College at Fayette. At the end of one term he returned home, intending to resume his college course, but on the breaking out of the war was obliged to change his plans. Later he went to Abingdon College in Knox County, Ill., for six months, but on account of sickness was obliged to give up his studies for a time. When he had partially regained his health he obtained a teacher's certificate, and conducted a school for a year and a half. He was careful and economical, thus being able to lay by a portion of his income, and in 1869 made his first purchase of land, a tract of one hundred and forty acres. For one year he was engaged in the men's furnishing goods business in Monroe City, but aside from that has given his sole attention to his farm, since becoming the owner of his original homestead. By subsequent purchase he has extended its boundaries until at present it numbers five hundred and forty-five acres.

As his future companion along life's highway Mr. Jackson chose Alice B. Johnson, to whom he was married in this Township in 1874. She is likewise a native of Marion County, having been born November 11, 1846, to Dr. Daniel and Frances R. (Graham) Johnson, natives of New York State and Tennessee respectively. Mrs. Johnson, who was born in 1811, departed this life July 22, 1895. She was a woman possessing many amiable qualities, and was beloved by all. Mrs. Jackson is one of nine children and a twin sister of Annie L., who is a school teacher in Covington. Another sister, Cornelia, a resident of the same city, is the wife of Watson Sayers, a merchant. The eldest of the family, Juliet, who was the wife of Isaac L. Owens, a farmer of this Township, has passed to the silent land, as has also the next sister, Delia, who was the wife of John T. Sullivan, now a retired business man of Covington. Henry G., one of two brothers, is a retired merchant of Monroe City, and Susan, the youngest sister, is the wife of James Sullivan, who is engaged in commercial pursuits in Monroe City. Daniel, Jr., is a farmer in California.

Dr. Daniel Johnson came to Marion County in 1832, and during his residence here lived in several sections of the same. He owned a farm and also conducted a large practice in the vicinity, and was also a large slave owner. In 1865 he was found a short distance from the depot in Monroe City dead, and it is supposed was killed by a railroad train.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson have become the parents of eight children, namely: Wm. Leaman, born December 22, 1875, died October 22, 1876; Richard Elmo, born February 25, 1877; Juliet, born September 19, 1878; Emily Alberta, born August 3, 1880; Francis Everett, born March 6, 1882; Susan Cornelia, born March 20, 1884; Julius Augustus and Jessie Graham, twins, were born January 13, 1887; Jessie, died October 1, 1893. All reside at home. In order to afford them better educational advantages the family reside in Monroe City during the winter season. Our subject and wife are devoted members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and their names are always to be found on the list of contributors to worthy causes. They are public spirited and take great interest in whatever pertains to the good of the country at large and this locality in particular. Mr. Jackson uses his ballot in favor of Democratic nominees and principles.

EMMET J. CRAWFORD, an industrious young agriculturist, who resides in Warren Township, is a self-made man. His career may well serve as an example to those younger of what can be accomplished by a man who possesses ambition, energy and good common sense. Mr. Crawford began for himself when attaining his majority and has become prosperous and highly respected through his untiring efforts. His homestead, which is two hundred and forty acres in extent, is greatly improved since he took possession of it.

Our subject was born in Salem Township, Ralls County, this State, December 19, 1864, to been in the family for sixty years. The small village in the vicinity is called Sharpsburg, and during the lifetime of the Rev. Richard Sharp had the distinction of having a postoffice, but this has since been discontinued.

Mr. Jackson was born in Delaware November 24, 1825, being a son of Julius and Elizabeth (Walls) Jackson. The former, likewise a native of Delaware, died in Shelby County, Mo., in 1847, aged fifty-six years. His wife, also of Delaware nativity, died September 23, 1825, when but twenty-five years of age. They were the parents of two children, the elder of whom, William P., is deceased. After his first wife's death, Julius Jackson married Miss Mary Griffith, who was born in Delaware April 22, 1808, and died February 9, 1846. Their three children are deceased, and in order of birth were as follows: Elizabeth, who married Dr. Franklin, now of Shelby County, Mo.; Eliza, and Julius A., Jr.

James W. Jackson first landed in this county in 1838, settling in Warren Township, and later moved to Shelby County, Mo., where his parents lived until death called them from their labors. In 1848, when he was twenty-four years of age, our subject was married and began housekeeping on a farm in this township, where he and his wife resided for two years. The next three years were spent on another farm in this county after which they moved to the old homestead on which Mrs. Jackson is now living. Mrs. Jackson was a daughter of the Rev. Richard and Rebecca (Enix) Sharp, and was born in Shelby County, Ky., May 25, 1828. Seven children came to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, namely: William R., who is cashier in the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Monroe City; Mary E., deceased; James B., a merchant of Monroe City; Emily E., wife of Frank Dimmitt, Circuit Clerk in Shelbyville, Mo.; Edwin A., a farmer of this township; Thomas C., who is living with his mother on the old farm; and Christian S., the proprietor of two hundred and sixty acres of fine land in Ralls County.

The birth of the Rev. Richard Sharp occurred in Albemarle County, Va., May 11, 1787. He was married in Kentucky to a lady of that State and of their union were born a son and four daughters, namely: Thomas, who is engaged in farming in Monroe County, Mo; Nancy, widow of Daniel Stewart, of the same county; Emily, deceased, who was the wife of William Jackson, since deceased; Sarah E., widow of our subject; and Susan F., widow of John Hayden, now making her home with Mrs. Sarah E. Jackson. The mother of these children was born February 26, 1793, and died in September, 1828. The father had previously married Elizabeth Row, a native of Virginia, and had the following children: James, William, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, John A., and Temperance, who married George A. Rucker, of California. These children have all been called to the better land. The Rev. Mr. Sharp moved to Monroe County, Mo., with ten of his children, settling near Madison, where he remained for a year. He then purchased a farm near Palmyra during the cholera epidemic, but later returned to the old residence and continued to dwell there for another year. Afterward he bought the farm now owned by Mrs. Jackson, and here passed the rest of his life. He was a very prominent man during his life and was a local minister in the Methodist Episcopal Church. Politically he was a thoroughgoing Democrat. His death occurred February 4, 1850, his loss being deeply mourned by the early settlers and the many sincere friends he had won by his manly and honorable conduct in life.

PERRY COLEMAN is a native of Allegany County, N. Y., born March 6, 1821, and is the son of John and Elsa (Green) Coleman. His father was a native of Montreal, Canada, where he remained until thirty years of age, when he went to New York in company with his parents. He remained with his mother until his marriage, and then went to farming, which he continued about thirty years, moving thence to Whiteside County, Ill., when

CHRISTOPHER D. JACKSON
As Recorded in HISTORY OF DAVIESS COUNTY KENTUCKY

Christopher D. Jackson is one of the very few old settlers living. He was born on the old Hartford and Bardstown road, nine miles north of Hartford, in what is now Ohio County, Kentucky, December 13, 1797. His father was Christopher D. Jackson, a native of Virginia, and was born in Prince William County and removed with his parents to Betotourt County, Virginia, when four years old; then moved to Danville, Boyle County, Kentucky, and then to Hartford, Ohio County, Kentucky, then a Fort.

He was married here to Miss Catherine Rhodes. They were members of the Baptist Church. They had a family of fourteen children; nine girls and five boys lived to be men and women. Christopher D. was the third son and fifth child. He was reared on a farm near Hartford. He married Miss Emma L. Shanks, on November 1, 1827. She was born in Kentucky.

About a month after his marriage, in December, 1827, Mr. Jackson moved to Daviess County, Kentucky, where he has since resided. At that time there were 625 whites and 518 blacks in the county over sixteen years old. Since that time a part of the county has been given to McLean and Hancock Counties.

Mr. Jackson had some 200 acres of land, and four negroes, one of which is still living with him. He also had $1,200 and a team of horses. He first settled on a part of his present farm in Masonville Precinct, and has resided on this farm every since. He and wife had four children;

1) Hanibal Jackson, died, age one year and ten days.

2) Josephine Jackson, died, aged nearly seventeen.

(3-3) James S. Jackson, married Miss Susan Haws, a daughter of Albert Haws, who was elected three times to Congress from this district. James S. Jackson and wife had five children, four living.

(4-1) Christopher Jackson, who married Anna Kroh

(4-2) Adelle Jackson, who married James Hickman, M.D. and resided in Owensboro. Ky.

(4-3) Albert G. Jackson, who married Laura Terrull.

(4-4) Nina Jackson, is unmarried

(4-5) Samuel Jackson, died aged six years.

Mrs. Jackson died in 1837. Mr. Jackson is now in the eighty-sixth year of his age, and is hale and hearty for a man of his age. He owns a fine farm of 3,000 acres in one tract where he resides. He also owns 418 acres in Vanover Precinct and 100 acres in Knottsville Precinct. Mr. Jackson is the largest landholder in the county and the wealthiest man in the county. He is one of our self-made men; he is well read; he has a large library of his own which contains many valuable books. He is a Mason and a member of the Sugar Grove Lodge, A. F. & A. M. Mr. Jackson gave the two acres of land which the Sugar Grove Church is built. He has held office of Justice of the Peace nineteen years, and was Sheriff of the county two years under the old State Constitution. His brother, Julius C. Jackson, was in the battle of New Orleans, war of 1812. His wife was a cousin of Senator McCreery. He has always been a strong supporter of the Democratic Party. He is of English, Irish and German descent; his great grandfather, Henry Rhodes, on his mother's side, came from Holland and settled with William Penn in Pennsylvania. His great grandfather on his father's side was Christopher Jackson, who was born in England, son of an English father than Simmons, Jr. born May 6, 1781, died 1830? Late in life she married (2) James Morton in Pike County, Illinois. The father of Jonathan Simmons, Jr. was born in England and is said to have eloped with Nancy Childs, daughter of Lord Henry Childs III. One of the children born to Jonathan Jr. and Mary Troutman was named Henry Childs Simmons. Their oldest son, Michael Troutman Simmons, born 1814, died 1867, was noted for his feat of leading the Independent Oregon Colony from Independence, Missouri to the Oregon Territory in the fall of 1844. He was only thirty years old but the members of the party chose him as colonel and placed him as second in command of the train. It was a large group, consisting of 323 persons and eighty-odd covered wagons—a record was achieved in that over 2,000 miles were traveled to the Columbia River without serious illness or loss of life.

Colonel Simmons was determined to push on to the Puget Sound area and succeeded in doing so the following spring. He actually extended the Oregon Trail another 58 miles. He established his land claim at Tumwater Falls and a marker at that point states: 'The End of the Oregon Trail.' He was a judge and served in the first Oregon Territorial Legislature in addition to many other accomplishments.

(16) (17) (18)—Little is known of these three children of Michael and Elizabeth Schroeder Troutman. The names of Philip, Margaret and Caty Troutman appear in Michael's will. Philip inherited all of the mills and lands on Cedar Creek near Salt River, on condition that he pay the estate one thousand pounds after the death of his mother, Elizabeth. Margaret, who married Lewis Brown, inherited one slave, $500 and a 250 acre plantation. Caty inherited one slave and was to receive 700 of the 1,000 pounds which Philip was to pay the estate.

Lewis Brown and the above Margaret Troutman Brown were parents of the three known children, daughter Catherine Brown, who married William S. Settles (see Settle family sketch); another daughter who married a Mr. Strainey and one who married a Mr. Kendall, all of Hardin County.

JACOB VANMETER SR.

Louisville, which had been established as a town at the Falls of the Ohio in 1780, saw great numbers of settlers from Virginia and Pennsylvania arrive by way of the Ohio River and scatter south into the country toward the Green River. Among them were Jacob VanMeter and his family who had arrived at the Falls in the previous fall and waited for the warm spring months before moving on to their new home.

VanMeter came to Severns Valley and later settled on the farm known as the 'Strickler Place,' about two miles from Elizabethtown on Billy's Creek, near where it joins that main stream of Valley Creek. He built a fort near Haycraft's soon after his arrival. In the party with VanMeter were his three sons, Jacob Jr., Isaac, and John; seven daughters, and two sons-in-law, Samuel Haycraft, husband of Margaret, and John Gerrard, husband of Susan. One son-in-law, David Henton, the husband of his daughter, Mary, was drowned in the river on the trip down the Ohio.

The elder VanMeter was an extensive landholder, having fourteen grants of land from the Virginia government, dated 1783 and 1784. One was a preemption Treasury Warrant signed by Beverly Randolph. Doubtless, some of the land was divided among his children and members of his family. The Auditor's office has no record of land granted to his son-in-law, Samuel Haycraft.

VanMeter built a small grist mill at the mouth of Billy's Creek for grinding corn and wheat. Corn was ground there for the small distillery operated by Samuel Haycraft. Samuel Haycraft, Jr. who wrote the "History of Elizabethtown" mentions that, as a young boy it was his duty to go with a bag of corn three times daily (Sunday excepted) to the mill of his grandfather.⁴⁵

VanMeter was in the original constitution of the Severns Valley Baptist Church. His wife, his son, Jacob, Jr., and his negro man, Bambo, were also members. Many of his descendents have become noted in carrying on the work of the church.⁴⁶

Jacob VanMeter died at his home on November 16, 1798, having lived a long life of usefulness. He was buried on the farm near his home. His son, Jacob, procured a sandstone rock for a tombstone and cut the following inscription on it: 'Here Lizes The Body of Jacob VanMeter Died in the 76 Yare of His Age November the 16, 1798,' the letters of which are today readable.⁴⁷

There were three Jacob VanMeters living in the Severn's Valley community at the one time, the elder Jacob, his son, Jacob, Jr. and Jacob Van Meter, the son of Henry Van Meter, the elder Van Meter's brother. To relieve the confusion, the elder Van Meter was called 'Valley Creek Jake' and his nephew, 'Miller Jake,' both men operating mills in the Valley.

Jacob Van Meter, Sr. who died in 1798 and his wife, Letitia Stroud, who died the following year saw the little settlement in it's earliest years and did not live to see it grow into the important position it was destined to occupy in the new state. Many of their descendents live within the borders of the county they helped settle, others moved on to other frontiers in the developing country.

The children of Jacob and Letitia were: Eleanor, born October 1742, said to have remained in Pennsylvania, married a Mr. Kline; Abraham, born June 13, 1744, killed by Indians soon after arrival in Kentucky, married Elizabeth Kline; Rebecca, born September, 1746 married first Edward Rawlings, second to Frank McKensie; Susan, born July 2, 1750, married Rev. John Gerrard; Elizabeth, born about 1752, married, first John Swan, who was killed by Indians soon after arrival in Kentucky, married second to Thomas McNeil, and third to Judge John Vertrees; Rachel, married Isaac Pritchard; Mary, born February 11, 1757, died June 29, 1832, in Nelson County, married first David Henton, who was drowned in the Ohio River while on way to Kentucky; married second to Major William Chenoweth, a Revolutionary War soldier; Isaac, born February 2, 1759, died November 4, 1840, married Mrs. Martha Hubbard Hoagland, widow of Captain Henry Hoagland, married second to Jane Carson; Margaret, born December 27, 1759, died April 12, 1843. Married Samuel Haycraft; Jacob Jr., born October 4, 1762, died December 12, 1850, married Elizabeth Rhoads; John, born 1764, died 1822, married Dinah Holtzclaw House; Alsey, born about 1766, died in Grayson County, married Jacob Rhoads; most of the children of Jacob, Sr. and Letitia Van Meter raised large families and their descendents are legion.

Note: The body of Jacob Van Meter Sr., referred to in this sketch, was some years ago removed from its original burial place and reinterred in the Elizabethtown Cemetery the local Jacob Van Meter chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution; the inscription as on the original stone rests over his grave.

The preceding sketch of Jacob Van Meter, Sr., is only a brief summary of the information found in an article prepared for Who Was Who in Hardin County, prepared for that project by Will H. Henton, January 27, 1942. Mr. Henton, a direct descendent of the venerable Jacob Van Meter, furnished much detail in that article and this writer sees no value in duplicating those details in this sketch; however, some items of interest pertaining to the Van Meter family, obtained through the courtesy of Mrs. Ruth Bruner Sims, of Frankfort, Kentucky, are added here as supplement.

Jacob Van Meter, who died in Hardin County November 16, 1798, was born in Somerset County, New Jersey in March, 1723, a son of John Van Meter and his second wife Margaret Miller Mulinaur, grew up in Virginia where his father had settled in the Shenandoah Valley, and became a wealthy land owner and horse breeder. He drew up a lengthy will, (Will of John Van Meter, Winchester, Virginia September 3, 1745), in which Jacob Van Meter was called "my fourth and youngest son," by which he inherited an equal share of "all Staylen (stallions), geldings, mares, colts." He inherited land, but not the estate "Opequen," on which his father lived, since he was the youngest.

Kegley's Virginia Frontier in describing the earliest history of Virginia, says: "The Van Meters cross the Potomack (Potomac River). John and Isaac Van Meter were traders who knew the country about the Potomac and the Shenandoah as early as 1728. After 1721 Isaac lived in New Jersey, but John had moved westward toward the southwest part of Maryland. In 1730 their petitions for 10,000 acres each in the forks of the Shenando River and 20,000 more for other families were granted. This was not to interfere with the surveys of Carter and Page." ...⁴⁸ Jost Hite with Robert McKay began acquiring land in the Shenandoah Valley in 1731. They with one hundred families were desirous of seating (settling) themselves on the back of the Great Mountains on land lying between the land of John Van Meter, Jacob Stover, John Fishback and others. ... Hite acquired the Van Meter grants in 1734 and patents began to issue to his settlers, one thousand acres to each family ... joining the land of 'Jost Heyd' and others.

Mrs. Sims' article says John Van Meter and his brother, Isaac, were granted 110,000 acres of land in the Shenandoah Valley by the Royal Governor, William Gooch, which they later sold to their cousin, Jost Hite, after selecting choice sites for themselves, while it was still a wilderness.

About 1768, Jacob Van Meter, together with John Swan, Sr., and others made a tour of the lands, then claimed as part of northwestern Virginia, since established as a southwestern part of Pennsylvania. They had decided to sell their property in the Winchester vicinity and locate on land which would be granted for service in the French and Indian War. They reached the vicinity of present Carmichaelstown (in present Greene County, Pennsylvania) and 'tomahawked' (marked on trees) such land as they wanted along Muddy Creek in what is known as 'Ten Mile Country,' land lying along Ten Mile Creek, a tributary of the Monongahela River, on the western side of that stream. Returning home, they brought back their families, slaves and such household goods as could be carried on pack horses. There were about fifty people in the party which settled along Muddy Creek.

Van Meter was granted 400 acres of land on the west side of the Monongahela, Application Number 2405, dated April 3, 1769, also a grant for 211 acres, a tract called 'Burgundy,' also on the west side of the river.

John Swan, Thomas Hughes and Henry Van Meter, brother of Jacob, were also granted land for services, and all four erected forts, located near each other on bottom land, not far from the mouth of Muddy Creek: Fort Van Meter, by Jacob Van Meter, on Muddy Creek; Fort Swan, by John Swan, on Swan's Run, and another Fort Van Meter, by Henry Van Meter, on Swan's Run. The location of Thomas Hughes' fort is not listed.

That Jacob Van Meter was a deeply religious man is attested by his actions in helping organize three Baptist churches in his life time. Ellis' *History of Fayette County, Pennsylvania*⁴⁹ relates the story of the forming of the Great Bethel Regular Baptist church: "This organization was formed in the year 1770, and is evidently one of the first religious societies established with the boundaries of Fayette County (Penn.). ... In the oldest books of records ... the following letter is copied verbatim, viz: 'The Church of Jesus Christ of Great Bethel, Constituted as is supposed in Province of Pennsylvania, holding Believers, Baptism, &c, sindeth greeting. To all Christian People to whom these may Concern, ... Sign'd by us this Eighth day of November in the year of our Lord Christ—1770.

Jacob Van Meter was instrumental in the organization of another church while living in Pennsylvania: Goshen Baptist Church, organized in 1774 in Garrard's Fort, when he moved there. In that original body were found ten members of the Van Meter family: Jacob and his wife, Letitia, Rebecca and her husband, Edward Rawlings, Susannah and her husband, Reverend John Garrard, Mary and her husband, David Henton (who was the first clerk of this church), Elizabeth, and her husband John Swan, Jr.

A list of the families who settled in the "Ten Mile Country" is of interest in that their associations did not end there, but through marriage and otherwise, continued in Kentucky: Van Meter, Swan, Strode, Hughes, Shelby, Harrod, Coleman, Brown, Rice, Biggs, Kincaid, Chenoweth, Garrard, Heaton (Henton). They doubtless regarded themselves as being "Virginians," living on the land claimed by both Virginia and Pennsylvania, and had a feeling of support for a "fellow Virginian," George Rogers Clark, not felt by the Pennsylvanians in Clark's military campaigns during the Revolution.

The Harrods are familiar names to students of Revolutionary War history and of Clark's campaign in the Northwest. The Van Meters and Swan family were also represented in Clark's force. William Harrod was a captain in the Illinois Regiment, John Swan, Jr. a lieutenant, Jacob Van Meter, son of Henry Van Meter, and anephew of Jacob Van Meter Sr., was ensign of the regiment. Richard Chenoweth, John Hughes and Issac Van Meter, son of Jacob Van Meter, Sr., are listed as privates among those who received land for their services under Clark. The "Ten Mile Country" was well represented in the Illinois Regiment. The writer has a special interest at this point as his ancestor, Jediah Ashcraft recruited for Clark's force and received a large grant of land for that service. (see Jediah Ashcraft sketch.) The "Ten Mile Country" was located across the Monongahela River from the Redstone Old Fort section of present Fayette County; the Ashcrafts at the time of the Revolution were living in that area of Pennsylvania.

The Revolution had not ended but the men from "Ten Mile Country" had returned from the war in the Northwest Territory and some would be in the colony of over a hundred people organized by Jacob Van Meter, Sr. to move to "Kaintucke."

Samuel Gordon Smythe, a Van Meter historian, wrote that Jacob Van Meter's daughter, Margaret, married Samuel Haycraft "enroute" to Kentucky. They were married September 9, 1779, at Fort Pitt (Pittsburgh) by Reverend John Corbley about the time Van Meter was organizing the colony to migrate to Kentucky. Whether Margaret Van Meter had known Mr. Haycraft prior to coming to Fort Pitt is not known, but it may appear that the courtship was of brief duration. The Van Meters had been living in the Muddy Creek section, while Haycraft and his brother had lived in the Fort Pitt community for some period of time in the household of Colonel John Nevill, coming there to live when the eldest of the three Haycraft orphan boys was eleven years of age.

Minutes of a Court held for Yohoghania County, Virginia March 23, 1779 (this prior to the date when that section was established as part of Pennsylvania) granted permission to pass unmolested to the Falls of the Ohio. On September 18, 1779, Jacob Van Meter and his family had been granted certificates of dismission by the Goshen Baptist Church. Soon twenty-seven house boats were, under the direction of Jacob Van Meter, Sr., floating down the Ohio, bringing the families and all their household goods, livestock and anything they could pile on the boats. All of the Van Meter children, with exception of daughter Eleanor, accompanied their parents, together with their husbands and wives. One babe in arms was in the party, the little daughter of Lieutenant John Swan Jr., and his wife, Elizabeth Van Meter. Swan was sitting on deck on one of the boats with his little girl in his arms when he was struck by an Indian arrow, fired from the river bank. His wife grabbed his gun and began helping the men ward off the attack. Another tragedy struck the party. Mary Van Meter's husband, David Henton, fell into the river while helping unload the boats and was drowned. Henton's death left his widow with two children, Hester Henton, born January 9, 1775, who would marry Walter Briscoe, and John C. Henton, born November 9, 1778, who would marry Catherine Keith.

Stephen Rawlings, father of Edward Rawlings, who had married Rebecca Van Meter, together with his family, were in the party. So was Jacob Van Meter, son of Henry Van Meter, one time ensign in Clark's Illinois Regiment and later a captain of Jefferson County Militia. In the party were two families of slaves belonging to the senior Van Meter. In his will were provisions that they were to be set free upon the death of his wife. They were to serve her during her lifetime, but if she lived until they were thirty years old, they were to be given their freedom.

The son, Abraham Van Meter, had at least one slave he brought with him from Virginia. This was "General Braddock," who became well-known on the frontier and who earned his freedom through killing nine Indians. He moved from the Severns Valley settlement to Goodin's fort in the Rolling Fork when Abraham Van Meter's widow, who had inherited "General Braddock" from her husband, following his death from a poison Indian arrow, married Samuel Goodin. The slave was appraised at 100 pounds. On March 19, 1797 he was "set free forever." He afterwards married Becky Swan and lived on a small farm near Elizabethtown. This verifies that the Swans, who came out with the Van Meter party, also brought slaves to Kentucky.

Abraham Van Meter's land grant was near Shelbyville and he and his family were stationed with Squire Boone at Boone's fort, when it was attacked by Indians. The Indians were repulsed but Abraham was struck by an arrow; he was only grazed and thought nothing of it, but in a few days became violently ill and died. Another story of his death is that he was killed near the present site of Cave Hill Cemetery in Louisville.

In the spring of 1780, the colony under Jacob Van Meter arrived in Severns Valley. He immediately began construction of a fort for protection against Indians. Mrs. Sims' Van Meter information states that the Van Meter fort was located near the big spring at the power house on the Leitchfield road, for a long time the source of the Elizabethtown water supply. This site was very close to the site of Andrew Hynes' fort which was built about the same date. Others have placed the Van Meter fort at the site of the Van Meter house on Billy's Creek (the old Strickler place).

Jacob Van Meter built a grain mill on Valley Creek where Billy's Creek enters it. Others say he also had a still. (He had a still and a tavern license to keep travelers in his home at the time of his death.) He is said to have raised the first wheat in Hardin County, having brought the seed with him from Virginia.

Jefferson County records show that Jacob Van Meter, Stephen Rawlings and Edward Rawlings bought land from John Severns, who also sold 400 acres to Andrew Hynes in November, 1779. Judge Otis Mather has written that John Severns, Andrew Hynes, Elisha Freeman and Thomas McCarty built crude cabins in Severns Valley in the summer of 1779, the year before forts were built in the Valley. There is a possibility that Banah (Benham) Shaw was in the Valley at that early date, also.

A year after arrival in Severns Valley, Jacob Van Meter assisted in organizing the Severns Valley Baptist Church, the oldest church west of the Allegheny Mountains, still in existence and one of the largest Baptist bodies in Ken-Jacob Van Meter accumulated much land in Kentucky. At the time of his death, November 16, 1798, he owned 7,891 acres. The inventory of his estate covers four pages of Will Book A, pages 80 to 84 and 216, Hardin County Court.

The inscription placed on his grave by his descendents reads:

RELATING TO THE VAN METERS

Connelly and Coulter's History of Kentucky contains a biographical sketch of Major Benjamin F. Van Meter, M.D. of Lexington, an army surgeon during the Spanish-American War and the Philippine campaigns. He was a descendent of Isaac Van Meter, a brother of Jacob Van Meter, one of the original settlers of Elizabethtown, both being sons of Jacob Van Meter, the Virginia explorer. The father of Dr. Van Meter compiled a book of approximately two hundred pages containing genealogies and sketches of the Van Meter connections. Dr. Van Meter held the rank of major and served with distinction in World War I, in addition to his earlier military service.

Quoting from Connelly and Coulter: "The Van Meters were Holland Dutch, reached New Amsterdam in 1663, and subsequently moved into New Jersey. In the third generation of the family was John Van Meter, who commanded a trading expedition into the wilds of Virginia, as early as 1739, and four of his sons subsequently settled in the mountain districts of old Virginia. (No mention is made of Jacob and the other two sons). His son Isaac Van Meter with his wife and four children settled at historic Fort Pleasant in what is now Hardy County, West Virginia, in 1744. (This indicates that he was considerably older than his brother Jacob, who was twenty-one years old in 1774, while brother Isaac was married and had four children by that year.) He therefore owned the ground on which Fort Pleasant was built, the scene of the first battle of the Revolutionary War. (Believe this is confused with the Battle of Point Pleasant, October, 10, 1774, several hundred miles to the west at the juncture of the Great Kanawha and Ohio Rivers.)

"Isaac Van Meter, brother of Jacob, was killed and scalped by the Indians near his fort in 1757. One of his sons was Colonel Garret Van Meter who was born in New York in February 1732, and was a boy of twelve when the family located at Fort Pleasant. In 1756 he married Mrs. Ann Markee Sibley, and after the death of his father, inherited Mount Pleasant and a large tract of surrounding land. He was a colonel of a regiment of militia in General Washington's army in the Revolution. After the war he and his wife lived at old Fort Pleasant, where they died full of years. Only two of their sons grew to mature years, Isaac, born in 1757 and Jacob, born May 18, 1764. These brothers married sisters, Bettie and Tabitha Inskeep, whose mother was Hannah McCulloch (McCulloch), a daughter of the most famous Indian fighter and scout of his day. (Travelers through present Wheeling may note a marker at the site of McCulloch's leap, over a bluff to escape from the savages.)

"Jacob Van Meter, younger son of Colonel Garrett Van Meter, inherited the Fort Pleasant homestead, where he and his wife, Tabitha, spent their lives. He was colonel of a regiment in the second war with Great Britain in 1812. He became a flour miller in the South Branch Valley and for many years was a partner of Chief Justice Marshall in the breeding of thoroughbred horses. He was also one of the chief pillars of the Presbyterian church in his valley."

Another Jacob Van Meter, a man of some note in early day Kentucky, was born at what was known as White Stone Tavern, in Botetourt County, Virginia in January, 1788 and came to Warren County, Kentucky, settling at Bowling Green, in 1818. He was in the mercantile business there for over fifty years, dying February 27, 1874. He also engaged in farming on a large scale, owning between 4,000 and 5,000 acres of land and a large number of slaves. He acquired great wealth, is said to have lost over $75,000 worth of property during "the late conflict between the South and the North."⁵⁰ He built and operated the first steamboat on the Barren and Green Rivers; with James Skiles, he procured a charter and built the Bowling Green and Portage Railroad, the first railroad in Kentucky.

Jacob Van Meter, of Warren County, married Martha Usher Shrewsbury, of Irish descent. They were parents of eight children, Dr. Samuel K. Van Meter being one of their sons, William S. Van Meter another, who with his brother, Charles, in 1868 purchased the Grayson Springs property in Grayson County and developed it into one of the most popular watering places during the latter part of the last century. Following his death in 1884, the property was sold for $100,000, quite a sum for those days.

The grandfather of Jacob Van Meter of Warren County, appears to have been Henry Van Meter, born 1717 in the Somerset Colony of New Jersey, a brother of Jacob Van Meter, born 1723 in Somerset County, New Jersey.

Henry Van Meter married Eve Pyle. One of his sons was Captain Jacob Van Meter, born 1752 in Virginia, died 1838 in Hardin County, Kentucky, who served as an ensign in Clark's Illinois Regiment, later as captain of Kentucky militia, who married (1) in Virginia a Miss Covenhaven, married (2) Rebecca Rawlings, in Kentucky. Another son of Henry Van Meter was Isaac Van Meter, who appears to have remained in Virginia, where he married Hattie Beck, a daughter of Lydia Burden (Borden), whose father was Benjamin Burden (Borden) Sr., a very noted land developer in early Virginia. (See Kegley's Virginia Frontier, with reference to Borden's Grant⁵¹). On November 6, 1739, for divers good causes but more especially in consideration that Benjamin Borden, late of the Province of East Jersey, now of the County of Orange in Virginia hath lately caused to be imported and settled on the land hereinafter mentioned one family for every thousand acres, there was granted the said Benjamin Borden one certain tract or parcel of land containing 92,100 acres."

Most of the Borden grant was located in present Rockbridge County, Virginia. Perrin's history states that Henry Van Meter had, before George Washington's day, surveyed the Fairfax estate, an immense tract of land granted by George III.

JACOB VAN METER JR.

Jacob Van Meter Jr., was born in Berkley County, Virginia, October 4, 1762, a son of Jacob Van Meter, Sr. and Letitia Stroud Van Meter, of Frederick County, Virginia. He came to Kentucky with his father's party as a youth and later inherited his father's homestead when the elder Van Meter died in 1798. He continued to live at the old home place until about 1806, when the farm was sold to the Geohegan family.

Van Meter moved to the forks of Otter Creek, in what is now Meade County and built a home there and resided in Meade County until his death December 12, 1850. At the time of his death he and his wife, Elizabeth Rhoads, born October 6, 1770, in Bedford County, Pennsylvania, were living with their son, John. They were buried on the son's farm in Meade County.

Jacob Van Meter was a very religious man and reared his large family of ten sons and four daughters to take an active interest in the work of the church. Seven of his ten sons were deacons in the Baptist church. At the time of his death Jacob Van Meter, Jr., was the last survivor of the old pioneers of the Severn's Valley Baptist Church of Elizabethtown, having been a member for seventy-eight years.

The children of Jacob Van Meter, Jr. and Elizabeth Rhoads Van Meter were: Sarah, born February 2, 1788, died October 8, 1873, married her cousin, Abraham Van Meter; Abraham Wickliffe, born April 1, 1789, died November 11, 1868; married first Sarah Beal Dorsey; John, born January 21, 1791, died July 21, 1878, married first Susan S. Grundy and second Mrs. Martha C. Board McCracken; Joseph, born September 29, 1792, died October 28, 1887, married first Elizabeth Burkham Grundy, married second Jemima Nelson, married third Elizabeth Treadway, and married fourth Mrs. Sarah Carvin Thompson; Thomas Rhoads born May 10, 1794, died February 22, 1872, married seven times, his first wife being Harriet Allen; Susan Newmire, born April 9, 1796, died October 16, 1889; married first to Joseph Woolfolk, second to James Henry Crutcher; Jacob, born January 15, 1798, died September 14, 1821, married Susan Bush, she later married William English; Henry Rhoads, born June 3, 1800, died March, 1853, married Hope B. Foreline; Daniel Boone, born May 18, 1802, died February 10, 1880, married first Elizabeth Abell, married second Mary Elizabeth Pendleton; Nathaniel Wickliffe, born March 8, 1804, died April 22, 1865, married Corinna Dorsey; Miles Chenowith, born November 15, 1806, died April 6, 1880, married Jane S. McIntire; Elizabeth, born December 3, 1808, died December 13, 1886, married John Calvin, Mary Jane, born October 11, 1811, died February 6, 1904 (the last survivor of the family), married William Lewis; David Rhoads, born November 17, 1813, died April 4, 1876, married first Ann M. Simmons, married second Fannie Williams.

CAPTAIN JACOB VAN METER 1752-1838

The subject of this sketch, Jacob Van Meter, was a son of Henry Van Meter, a brother of Jacob Van Meter, Senior, prominent in the settling of Severn's Valley. Three Jacob Vanmeters arrived in the Valley in the same year, 1780: Jacob, Sr., Jacob, Jr., and Jacob, the nephew of Jacob, Sr. They came to Kentucky from the Muddy Creek settlement in southwestern Pennsylvania, at which place they had settled for some time after living in Virginia. All were descended from the Dutch immigrants, Jan Joosten and Macyken Hendricksen Van Meteren, who arrived in New Amsterdam in the year 1662.

The Jacob Van Meter of this sketch was granted land for his services in the Revolutionary War, as were many of the other settlers who were coming into the area at that time. He married his cousin, Rebecca Rawlings, granddaughter of Jacob Van Meter, Sr., and his wife, Letitia Stroud; she being a daughter of Rebecca Van Meter and Edward Rawlings, Revolutionary War veteran. The marriage took place May 12, 1793. To avoid confusion between the various Jacob Van Meters in the Valley, the senior Jacob was called "Valley Creek Jake" and his nephew was known as "Miller Jake," due to his milling interests.

Jacob Van Meter, "Miller Jake," died April 12, 1838. His efforts and those of his widow in obtaining pensions as a result of his military service are related in copies of statements in some of the pages following this sketch. His story might well be the story of many of the men who came about the time that he did; all embodied the same spirit and courage.

The local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is named in honor of Jacob Van Meter, Sr., his uncle.

JACOB AND REBECCA VANMETER (Spelled variously as Van Meter, Vanmetre, Vanmatre, Vanmeter)

Various information pertaining to these hardy Hardin County pioneers is found in the records of the National Archives in Washington D.C., copies of some of which have been obtained by the writer. These attest to a portion of his services during the Revolutionary War period flatboat on the Ohio River and wagon from the mouth of Salt River (West Point). He came with Major James Crutcher and his son, Thomas S. Crutcher, who were returning from a buying trip to Pennsylvania, and likely Baltimore, which was a market for cattle from the frontier settlements; the trip to market requiring travel of a month's duration, the return somewhat faster. Driving cattle overland was a slow process. The trip down the broad river doubtless was a fascinating one for young Buchanan. The wagon trip introduced him to the Hardin County hills.

Major Crutcher was proprietor of a tavern in the county seat and we may suppose that the visitor from Pennsylvania occupied one of the Major's rooms and took his meals at the tavern table.

Buchanan's stay was not long. He returned, likely by horseback, as did east bound buyers. He doubtless stopped at Young's Inn at West Point, which is still standing on the banks of the river. The inn's register carried the names of the great and near-great of that period of history.

If Buchanan's and Abe Lincoln's paths crossed while the former was here, and it is very possible, it is not recorded. Buchanan, a volunteer in the War of 1812, became the fifteenth president and Lincoln followed him. It is said that Buchanan endeavored to avoid the issue of civil conflict and did not take stern measures when South Carolina seceded from the Union. Lincoln was forced to meet the issue and history has recorded the result, the bloody Civil War and its aftermath.

McMurtry, the historian, has described the probable appearance of Elizabethtown when Buchanan arrived here in 1813: "... Social life was developed to a high degree and schools were established. ... The village was not an unattractive settlement inhabited by poor and miserable people, but comprised largely of good families from some of the more advanced sections of the Eastern and Southern states. ... Costumes of the frontier still prevailed, but here and there were to be seen among the buckskin leggings, hunting shirts, coon skin caps, and moccasins, a few beaver hats, short breeches, low shoes with silver buckles and knee buckles."

CHRISTOPHER BUSH—THE BUSH FAMILY

Christopher Bush, Sr., and his descendents have played important roles in Hardin County history for almost two hundred years and some of his present-day generation continue to do so. Like many of our family names, it has been subjected to various spellings, attributable to the various lands where branches of the family have been found: Bush, Busch, Bosch, Boush, etc.

Christopher Bush, Sr. is said to have been born in Holland about 1730 and came to America circa 1750, and to Kentucky at the end of the Revolutionary War with Colonel John Hardin and others. (The Hardins came from the George's Creek section of Fayette County, Pennsylvania.) He died January 16, 1813. His wife, Hannah, who died January 19, 1835, married him in Virginia, according to their grandson, Squire Helm Bush, who died in Elizabethtown August 13, 1925.

Much information as to the Bush family, the emigrant Christopher Bush, Sr. and his descendents, has been compiled by William Christopher Bush of 8613 Camille Drive, Huntsville, Alabama, a grandson of Squire H. Bush and thus fifth in line of descent from the pioneer "Christy" Bush. A copy of Mr. Bush's work is on file in the library of the Hardin County Historical Society at the Brown-Pusey House in Elizabethtown.

Charles Bush, of Louisville, a son of Frank Bush, who will be remembered by many present-day Elizabethtown residents as Chief of Police for about twenty years, has also furnished the writer with a copy of the History of the Bush Family, which pertains primarily to the branch of the family which settled in Clark County, Kentucky, with some mention of some of the Bush members who had gone farther into the country. The Bushes who settled in Clark County about 1785, settled on land selected there for them by Captain Billy Bush, a friend of Daniel Boone. Christy Bush had come to Kentucky some years earlier, as records in Nelson County show him as entering land as early as August 9, 1781. The following establish this early date: "Christopher Bush enter 200 acres of land on a Treasurers Warrant No. 5166, on Hardin's Creek, including a millseat."

John Helm, son of the pioneer Captain Thomas Helm, came to Kentucky a year before his father came, bringing the family. Young Helm was only nineteen years old when he began surveying lands in Kentucky. In his memorandum book under date of June 17, 1784, he made entry: "Surveyed for Christopher Bush 293 acres of land in Jefferson County on the head of Hardin's Creek, a branch of Rough Creek, adjoining Bladen Ashby's 500 acre survey."

Mr. William C. Bush, whose compilation of family history was referred to previously, states that the Bush families that settled in Clark County, Kentucky and the Christy Bush family that settled near the Severns Valley settlement were not related. This writer with the information available that some of the Bushes came to Kentucky from Pennsylvania and some from Virginia, would tend to agree that would have been to some extent true for their generation; however, it would be quite possible that a generation or two earlier might have found them closer to a common ancestor. Various families are recorded as having moved about in Europe prior to some member coming to the American colonies. The story of the Clark County Bushes is interesting.

The Clark County Bushes have been traced back to one "John Bush," of Riccoughton, in the Corporation of Elizabeth City (Virginia), a gentleman who came over on the Neptune, and at his own charge was patented 300 acres, 50 in his own right and 150 for the transportation of his wife, Elizabeth and her children, Elizabeth and Mary Bush, who all came in the Guift (?) in 1619; and 100 acres for the transportation of his two servants, Thomas Hand and William Pucker, who came in the Charles in 1621, said land being in the parish of Riccoughton and adjoining the lands of Lieutenant Lupo and William Julinn, and bordering on the main river. The land was granted by Wyatt in 1624. (From Virginia Magazine of History Vol. I, page 194.)

Another John Bush, probably a grandson of the first John Bush, whose will was probated in Orange County, Virginia in 1746, in that will enumerated his wife, Bridget Bush, his sons, Phillip, John, Thomas, and Daniel and daughters, Martha Bruce and Elizabeth Sanders.

The above mentioned Phillip Bush apparently lived in St. Thomas Parish, in Orange County. He is recorded as living there on March 6, 1745, when he purchased from William Bryan, of the same parish and county, one hundred acres of land for five shillings and "the rent of one ear of Indian corn yearly, at the Feast of St. Michael the Archangel, when lawfully demanded."

When Phillip Bush's will was probated September 24, 1772, he named ten children and disposed of 500 acres of land, 75 pounds in money, four slaves and some personal property.

The aforementioned Captain Billy Bush was a son of Phillip Bush. Another son, Francis Bush, served in the Revolutionary War, enlisting February 14, 1778 in Captain William Taylor's Company, of Colonel Christian Febriger's Second Virginia Regiment of the Continental Line, serving one year. It is recorded that his second wife's father served as a sergeant in the same regiment and company from September 1776 to September 1779.

Captain Billy Bush accompanied Daniel Boone on his second trip to Kentucky in 1770. He was known as a great Indian fighter and was with George Rogers Clark in the Illinois campaign which won the Northwest Territory from the British and Indians in the Revolutionary War.

The rather large number of members of the Bush family who settled in Clark County gave a local name "the Bush Settlement" to the community. They were grateful in arriving at their new home, having spent five years of hardship and danger in their journey from Virginia. Traveling as a religious colony of Baptists, they had arrived at Holston (present site of Abingdon, Virginia) in December 1780, where they received word from Captain Billy Bush at Boonesborough, that because of Indian danger they should halt their journey until conditions were more favorable.

The party remained at Holston until 1783, raising three crops during their stay there. The dangerous march through the wilderness continued, with divine services being held each Sunday, "for the purpose of keeping the day holy and engaging in divine worship." The group moved from Holston by way of the Cumberland Gap, to Lewis Graif's station on Gilbert's Creek in Lincoln County, where they remained until November 1785, or about two years. From this place a number of the members of the church proceeded to the "Barrens" of southwestern Kentucky, but a majority of them, in 1785, removed to the "waters of Lower Howard's Creek," in what is now Clark County, occupying the lands that had been located for them by Captain Billy. The history referred to states that of some of the pioneers who settled in the "Barrens," that "to this stock belongs Sarah Bush, the second wife of Robert (?) (Thomas) Lincoln, the father of Abraham Lincoln." Sarah Bush, according to some historians, was born in Hardin's Fort (Hardinsburg). Christy Bush Jr. is believed to also have been born in "Big Bill Hardin's Fort," the date being March 31, 1790.

In Land Book "B" of Jefferson County is a notice on page 49: "June 7, 1785, Christopher Bush received from this office a Treasury Warrent—No. 14809 for 998 acres—209 acres is surveyed and 206 stands entered."

In 1793 Christopher Bush listed for taxation in Hardin County 495 acres of land, three horses and seven cattle. Ten years later, he possessed 1020 acres of land in Hardin County and 1,000 acres in Breckinridge County.

Bush was accumulating farm land and, in addition, purchased some of the original town lots in the thirty-acre plot laid off by Andrew Hynes and named in honor of his wife. On October 14, 1794, he purchased lot No. 28, corner of North Main and Poplar Streets, 202 North Main, the site of the Hills or Lasley house; lot No. 31, corner where library is located, corner of West Dixie and Mulberry Street; lot No. 33, corner of South Mulberry and Helm streets, site of present Helm-Mulberry School. His son, Isaac Bush, purchased lot No. 38 and another son, Samuel Bush, bought lot No. 35 and lot No. 37 on North Main Street, site of the Neff Jenkins house. Samuel Bush also owned lot No. 15, back of present Taylor Hotel building. Christopher Bush and his family were prominent in early-day Elizabethtown.

Christopher Bush is the subject of a sketch prepared by the late Judge George K. Holbert for Who Was Who in Hardin County, in which Bush is described as arriving with "Big Bill" Hardin and others at the site selected for a fort or station, where present-day Hardinsburg is located and starting work on the fort. But, because of early Indian attacks, the party had to spend part of the first winter at Hynes fort in Severns Valley, in 1780. He was mentioned in a deposition as having lived in 1780 and 1781 in Hardin's Station. He also mentioned "my boys."

Bush took up several hundred acres of land through patent and purchase on Hardin's Creek, in early days known as Limestone, a different stream from Sinking Creek. He had also conveyed to his son, William, 100 acres in that area. "Big Bill" Hardin and Christopher Bush "fell-out" over some matter and fought a considerable scrap, resulting in each taking the other to court with a suit for damages based on their injuries. Judge Holbert relates that Bush disposed of all his holdings at Hardin's settlement and returned to the Elizabethtown settlement, and in 1799 "purchased of John Warford 300 acres on Valley Creek, adjoining Captain John Vertrees and beginning at a white hickory in said Vertrees line about twelve poles above the said Vertrees spring on the west side of the creek."

Bush and his sons were stalwart men of great muscular power. Haycraft says of them: "There was no back-out in them; never shunned a fight when they considered it necessary to engage in it, and nobody ever heard one cry 'enough.'"

Bush was a farmer, a constable of Hardin County, and captain of patrollers. Thomas Lincoln served as a patroller under Christopher Bush. Bush and his son, Samuel, were plaintiffs in the first law suit ever tried in Hardin County, at the April 1793 term, before Judges Thomas Helm and Phillip Phillips.

In Hardin County Court on June 28, 1795, Christopher Bush, together with Daniel Linder, Stephen Rawlings and Hannaniah Lincoln, a cousin of Captain Abraham Lincoln, grandfather of Abraham Lincoln, were ordered "to view the most convenient way for a road from Jacob Van Meter's mill (on Billy's Creek) to the Courthouse and report at the next court." This was the beginning of the road to Leitchfield.

Christopher Bush made his will February 24, 1812, and died early in 1813, his will being probated February 8, 1813. His widow, Hannah, was left the "use of the plantation," two horses, four cows, some farm utensils, the household and kitchen furniture.

The children born to Christopher and Hannah Bush were: William, born July, 1763 in New Jersey or Virginia, died December 18, 1840, married December 30, 1794 to Elizabeth Rhoads; Samuel, born October 1, 1772, married Margaret (Peggy) Miller July 23, 1794; Hannah, born April 11, 1777, married Ichabod Radley June 1, 1794. Radley was a school teacher and deputy sheriff under Isaac Hynes. Haycraft speaks of Radley as being a "down Easter" and as having a better "English" education than was common for that day. He was employed as a teacher by William Hardin of Hardin's settlement. Hannah doubtless met Radley at that place; Isaac, born June 11, 1779, is said to have left Elizabethtown in 1810, went to one of the southern states and apparently died there some years later. Another daughter, Rachel, was born March 11, 1782, in Nelson County, Kentucky (the Hardin settlement in present Breckinridge County was a part of Nelson County at that date), married Samuel Smallwood March 24, 1807; Elijah, born May 8, 1784, in Nelson County, married Nancy Bruce January 7, 1806; Sarah, born December 13, 1786, in Nelson County died in Illinois in 1869. (See Sarah Bush Johnston sketch elsewhere in these writings.)

Christopher Bush, Jr., born March 31, 1790, died February 1, 1854, married Nancy (Polly) Goodin on April 2, 1815, the marriage ceremony being performed by Reverend Alex McDougal, the well-known Revolutionary War veteran and early-day Baptist preacher for the Nolin and Severns Valley churches. John, born January 15, 1793, married Charlotte Thorp March 10, 1811 and second to Margaret (Polly) Glenn June 17, 1813.

Before proceeding with the story of the Bushes, it may be of interest to relate a bit here of Isaac Bush, the third son born to Christopher and Hannah. He appears to have been the most adventuresome of their sons. He served as a constable for Hardin County in 1801 and was jailer in 1805. About 1804 he was in Hardinsburg, whether on official duties was not known, but he became involved in a dispute with Elijah Hardin, son of William Hardin, which ended with Isaac being shot in the back by young Hardin. According to Haycraft,³ doctors were called in to tend the wounded man, and proposed to tie him while they operated to remove the bullet. Bush would not have that but insisted on chewing on a musket ball while the doctors cut a gash an inch deep and nine inches long to get the bullet out. As young Hardin was a minor, Bush sued the elder Hardin in April term of court and was awarded damages of $1,500. Young Hardin was afterwards shot and killed by Friend McMahon.

Young Thomas Lincoln had spent some time in Elizabethtown during the years 1796 and 1797, while in the employ of Samuel Haycraft, Sr. Part of that time was spent in the building of the mill and raceway which was his first source of earned wages. While here he lived with his father's cousin, Hannaniah Lincoln. He lived in Tennessee with his Uncle Isaac Lincoln from sometime in 1797 to 1802. Soon after that date he returned to Elizabethtown and engaged in work as a carpenter and cabinet maker. During this period of time he would have been acquainted with the Bush family, including Sarah, and is said to have paid court to her; she, however, married Daniel Johnston, who became jailer of the county and a soldier in the War of 1812. Most readers remember Sarah Bush Johnston as the step-mother of young Abraham Lincoln and recall the story of her influence upon his life.

Thomas Lincoln is said to have been more involved with Isaac Bush than other members of the Bush family. The two made a flatboat trip to New Orleans, leaving Elizabethtown in March 1806 and returning in May of that year. Both young men had money to spend upon their return, although both had received some advance money prior to the trip. Apparently Isaac's was soon spent as on May 20, 1806 he borrowed from Thomas Lincoln the sum of 15 pounds in gold (money, not in weight). The following day Isaac purchased a new suit of clothes.

Thomas Lincoln's major transaction with Isaac Bush involved the purchase of the Sinking Spring farm (recorded as being the site of the martyred president's birth) on February 12, 1809. The farm was later the subject of involved law suits and both Bush and Lincoln had difficulties in attempting to establish title.

Isaac Bush had legal problems over the "Lincoln Farm" matter. His brother, William Bush, acquired the Knob Creek farm in 1828, the same land which Thomas Lincoln abandoned in 1816 when he left Kentucky for Indiana. Inasmuch as Thomas Lincoln married Sarah Bush Johnston, sister of Isaac and William Bush, he appears to have been more associated with that family than any other in Hardin County.

Isaac Bush is believed to have left Kentucky about 1808 (possibly late that year) and moved to Wilkinson County, Mississippi, and married late in life. (The writer has very little information about his wife.) She is supposed to have been born about 1808; their six children were born from 1834 through 1846.

The writer will not attempt to record in this work all of the descendents of the children of Christy Bush, Sr., and Hannah Bush, suffice it to say their numbers are profuse and many are found in the county now, although many of the early Bushes left Kentucky in the early 1800's.

The children born to Christy Bush, Jr., and Mary (Polly) Goodin Bush were: Martin Madison, born June 13, 1816, married Louisa Kirtley, died October 24, 1895; Isaac Shelby Bush, born October 2, 1817, died February 20, 1901; John Joshua Bush, born July 30, 1819, died February 22, 1839; Thomas Goodin Bush, born May 17, 1821, died August 5, 1844; William Pope Duvall Bush, born March 4, 1823, died June 26, 1904, married Carrie V. Chiselin; Henry Chilton Bush, born November 25, 1824, died September 16, 1844; Robert Young Bush, born June 30, 1826, died January 27, 1900, married Ann William Stone July 22, 1856; David King Bush, born February 5, 1828, died November 15, 1857, married December 23, 1856 to Judith E. Moreman; Mary Jane Bush, born January 6, 1830, died September 1, 1830; Sarah Elizabeth Bush, born June 11, 1831, died July 2, 1900, married April 24, 1849 to John Irwin; Mary Ellen Bush, born June 4, 1835, died January 15, 1895, married May 8, 1853 to Martin H. Cofer (see Martin H. Cofer sketch elsewhere in these writings); Squire Helm Bush, born September 30, 1837, died July 2, 1926, married March 5, 1873 to Harriet W. Robertson (see Squire Helm Bush sketch).

Christy Bush, Jr., was a tavern keeper at Claysville during the years 1836 through 1841. The two-story red brick building in which he ran the tavern stood for over a century. It and about all of the other houses and buildings that comprised the Claysville community have been torn away during the past twenty-five or thirty years. Prior to the stint as tavern keeper, he was a surveyor in the county.

In 1817 William Bush, the eldest son of the pioneers Christy Bush, Sr., and his wife, Hannah, built a large two-story brick house on his farm located near what is today known as the Tunnel Hill Road, off present Bardstown Road; it still stands, with the Bush family burial ground nearby, where over seventy members of the Bush family, extending through several generations, are buried.

The farm which Christy Bush, Sr., owned at the time of his death was purchased by Major Ben Helm.

Mrs. (Nancy Bush) Jenkins, wife of a mayor of Elizabethtown and prominent businessman, and her sister, Mrs. Robert E. (Lutie May Bush) Day, were daughters of Benjamin J. Bush, born 1843, died 1910, and granddaughters of Samuel Bush (1809-1870) and Deborah Conners. Samuel Bush was a son of William Bush and his wife, Elizabeth Rhoads, and grandson of Christy Bush, Sr., and his wife, Hannah.

Benjamin J. Bush married Malvina Ash, born about 1845. Children born to them were: Waverly Owen Bush, born 1871, whom older residents will recall as a policeman and taxi operator here in Elizabethtown; Henry T. Bush, born 1867; George H. Bush, born 1868; Ida E. Bush, born 1873 and Maggy Bush, born 1875.

Frank Bush, who served for many years as chief of police in Elizabethtown, was descended from the first Christy Bush and his wife, Hannah, through Thomas William Bush, who married Margaret A. Clark. He was a son of John Henry Bush and his wife, Catherine A. Stader Bush. John Henry's father, John Bush, was born April 1, 1802, and died July 5, 1852, a son of William Bush and Elizabeth Rhoads Bush.

Another descendent of Christy and Hannah Bush well-known in the town was A. J. (Jack) Bush, who operated the Bush House (the old "Aunt Beck Hill" stand presently known as the Brown-Pusey house) for some years, then was employed by the State Highway Department until forced to retire due to injuries. A. J. Bush then conducted the Bush Restaurant next to the Dyer and Alvey location. Bush's restaurant was the location for a century of various confectionery and food establishments. Perhaps Fritz Raubold was the first to conduct such at the location. He is said to have located at that stand from 1846 to 1905 and is one of the legends of the town.

A. J. Bush was a son of Henry Clay Bush and his wife, Martha Ann McMillen Bush. H. C. Bush, born in 1834, was a son of Samuel Bush and Deborah Conner Bush, and a grandson of William and Elizabeth Rhoads Bush. A. J. (Jack) Bush married Cora Lee Horn, born August 18, 1867, died August 1, 1955.

May we at this point in the Bush story turn to another member of the Christy and Hannah Bush descendents, who acquired prominence in the state a century ago: William Pope Duvall Bush born March 14, 1823, died June 26, 1904. A grandson of Christy and Hannah Bush, the pioneers, he was the fifth child born to Christy Bush, Jr., and his wife, Mary (Polly) Goodin. As a namesake of the early-day attorney William Pope Duvall, he joined some of his brothers who likewise carried the names of the period, whom his father admired; for example note the names, Madison, Isaac Shelby, John Joshua Barney, Henry Chilton and Squire Helm. (The story of William Pope Duvall is found elsewhere in these sketches.

The gay young Virginian practiced at the Elizabethtown bar, married a daughter of Andrew Hynes, and served in Congress and as Governor of the Florida Territory.)

Born and raised on his father's farm on Valley Creek, young W. P. D. Bush was educated in some of the county schools and studied under Robert Hewitt at the Hardin Seminary in Elizabethtown. He taught three terms of school in Hodgenville and in 1845 was appointed deputy clerk of the county and circuit courts of Hancock County, holding the position for two years. During that time he studied law and upon examination, was licensed to practice, in 1845.

With the outbreak of the Mexican War, he volunteered and was enlisted as a second lieutenant in Company "F" of the Fourth Kentucky Infantry Regiment, the company commanded by a Captain McCready. He served through the war, returned home and opened a law office in Hawesville. He was elected county attorney and served in that capacity for several terms, in the meantime acquiring considerable property. He lived on a farm of more than 800 acres, which adjoined the town of Lewisport.

In 1853, as a Whig, Mr. Bush was elected to represent Hancock County in the State Legislature. He served again from 1861 to 1863 and again from 1865 to 1867 as a Democrat. In 1868 he was appointed as reporter of the decisions of the Kentucky Court of Appeals; he held this position for twelve years, after which he was commonly called and spoken of as Judge Bush.

An interesting incident in connection with the life of Judge Bush was his going to Washington as a private citizen during the Civil War, following the last draft of men into the Union Army. He had a meeting with President Lincoln, in which he called attention to the fact that many men from Kentucky had gone into the armies of the Union and the Confederacy (volunteered), and as a result their names were still on the military rolls of the state. The numbers being drafted worked a hardship on the men of military age still in civilian life, which by that time were quite reduced, due to the numbers already in service.

Lincoln recognized the point being made by Judge Bush and issued an order which Bush brought back to Kentucky with him and delivered to the commandant of the Kentucky Military Department, who then had the men discharged from service who had been included in the last draft call.

In 1852 Judge Bush married Miss Carrie V. Ghiselin, daughter of John D. Ghiselin, of Norfolk, Virginia. They were parents of seven children: Carolina, Catherine D., Finley, Sidney J., Susan, Lilly, and Harry R. Bush. Judge W. P. D. Bush died in Louisville June 26, 1904. His wife had pre-deceased him, dying in 1894. They are buried in Cave Hill Cemetery in Louisville.

Squire Helm Bush, the youngest child born to Christy Bush, Jr., and his wife Mary (Polly) Goodin Bush, through his father was a link with pioneer days in Hardin County, the lives of the father and son spanning a period of 135 years, the father being born in 1790 and the son dying in 1925.

Squire Helm (S. H.) Bush was born September 30, 1837 at Claysville, near Elizabethtown, and died in Elizabethtown August 15, 1925.

At the time of his death Mr. Bush was the oldest living member of the Elizabethtown Bar, having practiced for more than fifty years, from 1871, when he moved from Hodgenville, where he had practiced after returning from service in the Confederate Army during the Civil War. He was admitted to law practice before the war.

He enlisted in the Sixth Regiment of the First Kentucky Brigade. The Sixth Regiment was commanded at first by Colonel Joseph H. Lewis, of Glasgow (later Brigadier General of the Brigade), the lieutenant colonel was Martin Hardin Cofer, brother-in-law of Mr. Bush. The First Kentucky Brigade became known as the "Orphan Brigade" following the death of its commander, Brigadier General Ben Hardin Helm at the battle of Chickamauga. S. H. Bush served with it throughout the war and returned home crippled, due to severe wounds received at Chickamauga. The story of the Orphan Brigade is told in another chapter. Mr. Bush walked with aid of crutches in later years. Cofer was promoted to colonel in 1863.

Mr. Bush practiced law with Colonel, later Judge Cofer, for several years and in Elizabethtown was a partner with Colonel James W. Hays. He served four years as chairman of the Town Board of Trustees, and was a candidate for county judge against Horace English in 1890, but was defeated.

On March 5, 1873, S. H. Bush married Harriet W. Robertson, born October 6, 1842, died May 12, 1925. She was a daughter of William Robertson and his wife, Mary Platt Robertson, of Springfield, Washington County, Kentucky. She was a sister of Samuel R. and Thomas A. Robertson, of Hodgenville and later Elizabethtown (see Samuel R. Robertson sketch). To them were born: Mary Platt Bush, born December 30, 1874, died November 16, 1963, who married on February 24, 1897; Robert M. Mann, a minister in Opelika, Alabama. He died in 1938. Their children were: William Robertson Mann, born November 13, 1903, Charles Bush Mann, born August 28, 1900, and Robert Ashlin Mann, born September 7, 1898, died August 7, 1959; William Christopher Bush, born March 31, 1877, died December 5, 1947, married November 23, 1921 to Frances Elizabeth Gibson, of LaGrange, Tennessee. She was born October 30, 1896, died April 10, 1963. William C. Bush, served in the Spanish-American War as a private in Company "A" of the 14th Regiment of U.S. Infantry. One child was born to William C. Bush and Frances E. Gibson Bush: William Christopher Bush, Jr., born August 7, 1925 in Clarksdale, Mississippi, presently living in Huntsville, Alabama. W. C. Bush, Jr. married Billie Jo Fowler on June 1, 1947. She was a daughter of James William Fowler and Cora Kirkpatrick Fowler, and was born October 8, 1930. Two children born to them are: William Christopher III, born July 30, 1949 and David Alexander, born September 4, 1953.

Other children born to Squire Helm Bush and Harriet Robertson Bush were Carrie Lee Bush, born December 10, 1878, died October 5, 1880; and Samuel Robertson Bush, born July 12, 1881, died in Evanston, Illinois April 20, 1955, married November 15, 1911 to Margaret Forest Harp. The ceremony was performed in Elizabethtown by the Reverend L. O. Spencer, Presbyterian minister. One child was born to them, Samuel Robertson Bush, Jr., August 23, 1928, who married Barbara Ann Barry. Their children are: Samuel R., Elizabeth Ann and Donald Stephen.

Samuel R. Bush was only seventeen years old when he enlisted in Company "G" of the 3rd Kentucky Infantry in the Spanish-American War. He joined the service at Glasgow and was stationed at Chickamauga, Georgia before being moved on to Cuba.

The S. H. Bush residence for many years was on South Mulberry Street near where the Helm-Mulberry School stands today. It stood on what was Lot No. 33 on the original plat of the town and which his grandfather, the original Christy Bush, bought when the town was first laid out.

The William Bush House on the Tunnel Hill Road, a few miles east of Elizabethtown. Said to have been built about 1817 by William Bush, the eldest son of Christopher and Hannah Bush, who was born in July 1763 in New Jersey or Virginia. He married Elizabeth Rhoades December 30, 1794. He died in 1840, she in 1854. Sarah Bush Johnston, sister of William Bush, married Thomas Lincoln in December 1819 and became the step-mother of Abraham Lincoln. The above house, a two-story brick, was at one time the residence of the Professor Jacob Fischer family. The Bush family burial ground is nearby, containing the graves of over seventy members of the Bush family.

REV. WARREN CASH

Kentucky is said to have been settled by men "carrying a rifle in one hand and a Bible in the other." Warren Cash was another of the men who wielded a strong influence on the citizens of the early-day settlements. He was born in Crawford County, Virginia April 4, 1760 and served for four years as a private in the Colonial Army. He returned home from service and married Susannah Baskett in November, 1783. Her father was Elder William Baskett, a prosperous man for that day. His daughter had received a fair education, but the man she married was entirely illiterate. She taught him, and in a brief time Warren Cash was able to read and began a study of the Bible.

Warren and Susannah Cash came to Kentucky in 1784, and in Woodford County both were converted and baptized into the Baptist faith. They were said to have been the first converts to the Baptist faith in Kentucky. He had a great desire to preach and began to hold meetings. In 1799 he was ordained into the ministry, and to this he devoted the balance of his life until his death, September 15, 1850. He moved to Hardin County in March, 1806 and was instrumental in organizing several churches which are in existence to the present time, chief among Miner, William Morrison, Thomas Olvey (Alvey), John Ora, John Pauley, Ceibert Pearman, Samuel Pearman, James Perciful, Roddy Purcel, Hugh S. Ross, Robert Rouser, George Rust, William Salling, John South, William South, Richard E. Stewart, Jesse Stockwell, John Tibbs, Silas Twedwell, Benjamin Utterback, Joseph Vanmeter, William Walker, Thomas West, Alexander Williams, and Samuel Wollard.

The Roll of the Field and Staff of the Second Regiment Kentucky Mounted Militia—War of 1812, lists John Thomas as lieutenant colonel, Thomas Speed as major, John Calloway also a major, Benjamin Helm as adjutant, William Akin as junior adjutant, Cyrus Talbert, quartermaster, Stephen Chenault as quartermaster sergeant, George Helm as sergeant-major, Henry Young, surgeon and David Brown as a surgeon's mate.

John Thomas, whose experience in the Revolutionary War assured him a position of some rank when the War of 1812 broke out, was captain of a company prior to promotions which eventually took him to the rank of major-general. His company, which was part of the Second Regiment of Kentucky Mounted Militia, had a number of Hardin Countians and local men on its roster. When Thomas was promoted, the captaincy of the company went to Aaron Hart. Benjamin Helm was lieutenant, the ensign was Joseph Monnie (Monin?); The sergeants, George Helm, Robert C. Slaughter and Nathaniel Lender (Linder?). Privates in this company were: John Ashbough, James Black, John Bush, George A. Blesset, Thomas C. Crutcher, Alexander Carsen, Christian Cregor, John Crawford, Winstead Constance, William Dale, William Goggin, Charles Helm, Jacob Hodges, James Hockley, John Howell, Jesse Kerby, Joseph Kirkpatrick, Peter Kermichael, Samuel Kennedy, Jesse Keeth (Keith?), John Miller, Arthur McGouhrey, John Morrison, Reuben Newton, Moses Pigg, Stephen Rawlings, Dudley Rountree, Edward Raux, Richard Rudd, Henry Rhodes, Edward Rawlings, George Rust, John Shackelford, Thomas Shackelford, George Syper, Armstead Smoot, John Smoot, Humphrey Smoot, Joseph Thomas, and Edward Walker.

This is the company referred to by Mr. Haycraft in his writing of Major Ben Helm:³ "... He was a prudent and provident man and soon became independent in his circumstances. In the year 1812 there was a call for volunteers under General Hopkins. The Major then being forty-five years of age was a volunteer in Colonel Aaron Hart's company, although being in affluent circumstances and rather feeble health, he answered to the call of his country. That was a mounted force, each man furnishing his own horse, gun and ammunition, rations for himself and provender for his horse. The force amounted to two thousand men; there was no commissary or quartermaster, and not a solitary wagon; his brothers, Charles Helm and George Helm, Thomas S. Crutcher—all of this town in the company; beyond Louisville there was no roads, the route was through the woods, guided by the sun during the day and by the stars at night. As they progressed they found the Indian towns deserted. When about thirty or forty miles beyond the Tippecanoe, the rear guard of the retreating Indians set fire to the tall grass of the prairie, which burned with great rapidity, involving the safety of the army. ...

"... and they would have been destroyed had they not sought safety in a swamp near at hand. Finding it impossible to overtake the wily Indians, and the stock of provisions running low, General Hopkins marched the army back. On the return, Major Helm was taken very sick, and for want of an ambulance he had to be carried on a litter between two horses for a march of two days."

Another War of 1812 Militia Company which contained men from that part of Hardin County which is now Meade County was Captain Benjamin Shackett's (Shacklett's) in Colonel Williams' Regiment, Kentucky Mounted Volunteer Detached Militia. It apparently was a one-month company, being enlisted from June 24, 1813 to July 25, 1813. The following names are listed on the Company Roll: Benjamin Shackett, captain; Edward Rawlins, lieutenant; Joseph Mannin, ensign; the sergeants, Charles Helm, Edmund Guthrie, Robert Shaw, Henry Reed. The corporals, Samuel Stevens, Joseph Kirkpatrick, Joseph Woolfolk and Charles Kellem. The

CAPTAIN HENRY

Captain Henry Rhoads

In the Rhoads and Newmeyer family histories there are references to Henry Rhoads, Sr. (Henry Roth, Sr.), that he "exhorted the people in his congregation." This indicates that he was an "exhorting deacon." However, after Elder George Martin left the area from 1764-1768, Henry Roth, Sr. was the elder in charge.¹ With the going of Henry Roth, Jr. and the fifteen families from Stony Creek to Kentucky in 1785, this left the congregation without leadership, for Henry Jr. seemed to have taken up the work of his father.² "Henry Rhoads, Jr. was a pioneer in the Wilderness of Kentucky, at the time when the Indians were still lurking in the forests and every moment of the pioneers' time was utilized for protection. . . . Henry Rhoads (Henry Roth, Jr.) found time on the Lord's Day to stand before a congregation gathered from the sparsely settled neighborhood and read from his German Bible and translate it into the English language as he read, doing it better than most of the leaders in the Sacred Service did with an interpreter to assist."³

The congregation here mentioned in Muhlenberg, Kentucky was the Baptist Church. (More will be said in detail in the section of the Kentucky Brethren.) It should be stated that this man, Henry Roth, Jr. had served his country in many useful ways. He was a captain in the Revolutionary Army at Valley Forge,⁴ was a delegate⁵ to the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia from Bedford County in 1776.⁶ He was commissioned a Justice of the Peace in Bedford County in 1776. A member of the Pennsylvania Legislature for Bedford County, 1778. (It must be remembered that this community was then located in Bedford County).

Five years after moving to Kentucky he served as a member of the Legislature of Kentucky from Logan County. That year he was given the honor to name the new county where he had lately settled. He named it after his beloved Brigadier General, John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg, under whom he served at Valley Forge.⁷

Henry Rhoads first went to Kentucky in 1784 according to tradition. He spent the first winter of 1784-85 at Bardstown and Elizabethtown, Kentucky. He then moved them permanently in the spring of 1785 and settled at Rhoadsville on Green River. He remained at Rhoadsville for three years and spent the winter of 1787-88 at Barnett's Fort, now Hartford, Kentucky. He left Rhoadsville (Calhoun), because of not being able to retain the land he first settled on, due to a mix-up in recording land grants. . . . after the Dorsey heirs of Frederick County, Maryland won out in the suit for the site of Rhoadsville (later Vienna and Calhoun, Kentucky) many of the Germans or Pennsylvania settlers moved about five or seven miles south of Calhoun (Rhoadsville) and settled around Sacramento, Bremen and Pond Station.

The first church organized at Pond Station was a Baptist church. Apparently most of the settlers were Baptists. The area around Sacramento and Bremen was commonly called the "Dutch Settlement" on account of the Pennsylvania Dutch settlers most of whom came from Bedford and Somerset, Pennsylvania. Henry Rhoads left the Church of the Brethren and became a member of the Baptist Church. There are Baptist churches in the "Dutch Settlement"'s area at Bremen and Sacramento.⁸

There must have been great excitement in the homes and meetinghouses in the winter of 1783 and spring of 1784. Henry Rhoads, Jr. was planning his trip to Kentucky to get the land offered the Pennsylvania and Virginia Revolutionary veterans or pensioners. The old father, Henry Rhoads, Sr. had died in 1774 and the son was free to go. In 1774, Henry Roth, Jr. sold his large holdings. The town of Garrett was one plot of his land. In the spring of 1784 a love feast was held as the fifteen families prepared to leave for the new frontier in Daniel Boone's country. Many were the preparations for the departure. Hearts were sad for this was a great decision. The party bade farewell and the congregation was weakened, never to remain for long as a Sabbatarian church. This was the second recorded love feast held west of the Allegheny Mountains by this church. The first was in 1762 when George Adam Martin organized the church.

Bruedersthal, where the two Indian trails crossed. The Brother-ton Church and parsonage now rest on the second land grant of this deacon. His third grant was in the Turkey Foot section, near Great Crossing of the Youghiogheny River. George Newmeyer is believed to have settled in the "Rhoads Corner," just east and north of Henry Rhoads, Sr. near the mill. Jacob Newmeyer sold land April 3, 1772, to one Samuel Gilpin. ("Tuscape Death" was the name of Harmon Husband, founder of Somerset. He used the name because he escaped death so many times in fleeing from North Carolina, where he was charged with perpetrating the overthrow of the British. A thousand pounds was placed on his head, and he fled the Southern colony into Pennsylvania).¹⁴ On the Reading Howell Map of 1795 was the Neimir's Run, now known as Boone Run. This flows directly past the old "Samuel Meyers Meetinghouse" and west into the Stony Creek. Philip Oswald is blank in our research thus far. It is believed that he migrated into Kentucky in 1784. Philip Kimmel was also a prominent name as his descendants are many in this area. He is buried on the William Ringler farm near the Brotherton Church. His land was just north and east of Abraham Kebel (Cable). Philip Kimmel resided on the present William Ringler farm. Brother Charles May possessed deeds (1951) with Abraham Keble's signature and also Philip Kimmel and wife, Mary. The last name on the 1770 membership list has undergone several changes. Morgan Edwards referred to him as "Mr. Widdelbarger." Mr. G. Brumbaugh used—"Widdelbarger." On a deed owned by Charles May the name "Henry Winterberger" appears. He applied his signature with an "X."¹⁵

The Samuel Meyers Meetinghouse

On the farm of Earl M. Meyers, located in Stony Creek Township, on the western slope of the Allegheny Mountain, about two miles east by north from Boone, stood an old log building, (Philip Lowry now lives here). It was about thirty by thirty-five feet. When it was built in 1789, by whom, is not known. This we know, that John Meyers was born in it in 1808. He is buried in the Richard Walker Cemetery, near Boone along Route 160. He was the great grandfather of the present owner of the farm. The son of John Meyers (grandfather of Earl Meyers) was Samuel Meyers, Sr., born in the same log house in 1802, and buried in the Downey Brethren Cemetery, 1879. Irwin

Meyers, father of Earl M. Meyers, was born there September 18, 1870, died August 25, 1891, also buried in the Downey Cemetery. The present modern and convenient frame house was built in 1893. Not much is known about the meetings held here; the names of the leaders, except it is related in the family tradition that John Meyers was an "exhorting deacon."¹⁶

The farm just west, and across the road from here was the old Daniel Rhoads farm, known after 1800, as the Allegheny Meetinghouse. This was a Love Feast House and was so named because the area at that time was so closely populated by Brethren that the old log house of John and Samuel Meyers was too small for the large meetings. It was here in 1878 where the "big meeting" or "Camp Meeting" was held referred to in another section of this book taken from the diary of Elder W. G. Schrock. The recording shows that over 3000 people gathered on the grounds for the preaching. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker, of Boone, lived on this farm for many years. Mr. Walker was a school teacher for eighteen years and tells many interesting stories about this area.

The term "Great Glades" included the area straddling both the east and west banks of the Stony Creek, rising in Berlin and running throughout the whole area to Johnstown, and extending north to U.S. 30 (Forbes Road, boundary line between Grmahoning congregation and Stony Creek-Brothers Valley. When this "Farsomlung's Briefly" was written there were most probably these congregations: Stony Creek or "Rhoads Meetinghouse," the "Glades Meetinghouse," or "John Groner Meyers Meetinghouse," the "Allegheny Meetinghouse," or "Samuel Meyers Meetinghouse," and the Elk Lick congregation, "on the river" (Meaning the Casselman River near present Meyersdale). These names are connected directly with the following churches in the Stony Creek area: Samuel Meyers and John Meyers with the "Allegheny Meetinghouse"; John Groner owner of the "Glades Meetinghouse" or "Groner Meetinghouse."

The following names were owners of farms near the "Groner Meetinghouse": John Schrock, Jacob Miller, Jacob Cobler, David Lichty, John Miller, Samuel Barkley, Jacob Schrock, (this brother is buried on the adjoining farm to the John Groner farm, grandfather to the Honorable Jacob Schrock of Berlin). ler (next farm east of John Groner), Samuel Forney (third farm southwest from Groner), Samuel Miller and Peter Cober.

The following are located closer to the "Rhoads Meetinghouse" or the original "Stony Creek Meetinghouse": Jacob Meyers, about half way between Elk Lick and the "Glades Meetinghouse"; Tobias Musser, (he became owner of the Rhoads Meetinghouse, born February 8, 1787, died May 20, 1860; is buried in the field adjoining the meetinghouse); Widow Weigley (of Philip Weigley) lived one mile south of Berlin; Jacob Blough, (across the creek from the "Glades Meetinghouse" or "Groner Meetinghouse") the sixth farm, now the William Schultz farm and is buried there; Jonathan Kimmel, (adjoining the "Rhoads or Stony Creek Meetinghouse" on the north corner on the road from Roxbury to Shanksville. It was here that the "Kimmel Church" was built in 1858. It does not appear on the "Somerset Atlas of 1874," but is treated in Holsinger's "History of the Tunkers and Brethren Church" by 1880. Daniel Walker lived on the west bank of Stony Creek the second farm due west from this meetinghouse. Peter Miller lived due east of the meetinghouse, the second farm. The last name given was Daniel Lichty, who lived near Jacob Blough. All of these churches east of the Stony Creek stream were in one congregation known as "Stony Creek," sometimes called the "Glades Church." "This was known as the Big Glades Church, and was presided over by Michael Moyer, Sr., John Forney, Sr., and Peter Cober."¹⁷

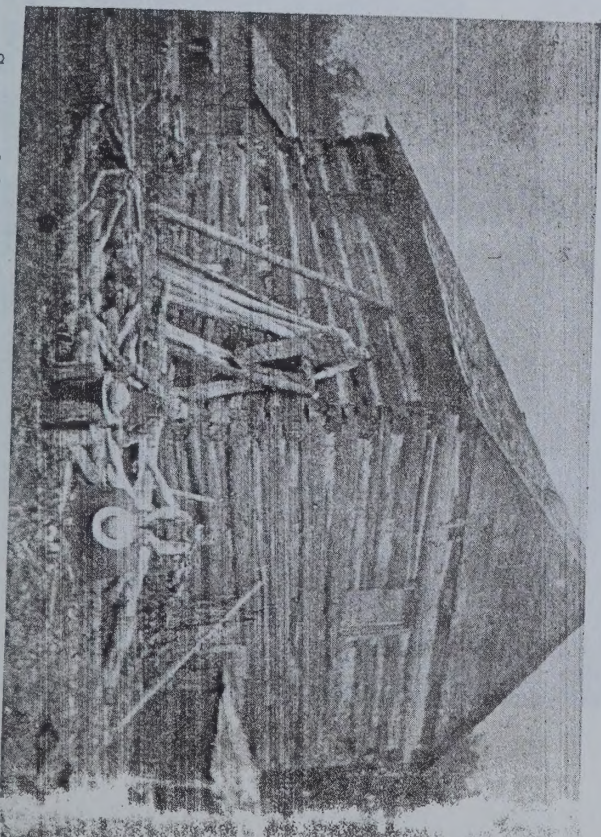

This author has searched the old warrants and surveys and has traveled over every road of this area, and has been on every farm of the two townships in relation to these names. He can testify that the above historical facts are almost without fault. Until "Farsomling's Briefly" is found again and carefully studied, the record will need to close—reluctantly!

However, it must not be lost to posterity that there was another Allegheny house of worship. During 1853 and 1854 the writer, Joseph Cable, referred to the "Allegheny Church" seven times in his diary. In connection with it he uses the following names: Joseph Ling, Henry Fry, John Berger, Ephriam Stalter and L. Whisker.¹⁸ If the "Somerset Atlas" of 1874 is consulted, one may find a church located just north of Buckstown, on the first road east, on the right hand side (east side). There is located a church without a denominational name. It is centered among the above names. Therefore, it is to be assumed that this

"This was known as the Big Glades Church, and was presided over by Michael Moyer, Sr., John Forney, Sr., and Peter Cober."¹⁷

This author has searched the old warrants and surveys and has traveled over every road of this area, and has been on every farm of the two townships in relation to these names. He can testify that the above historical facts are almost without fault. Until "Farsomling's Briefly" is found again and carefully studied, the record will need to close—reluctantly!

However, it must not be lost to posterity that there was another Allegheny house of worship. During 1853 and 1854 the writer, Joseph Cable, referred to the "Allegheny Church" seven times in his diary. In connection with it he uses the following names: Joseph Ling, Henry Fry, John Berger, Ephriam Stalter and L. Whisker.¹⁸ If the "Somerset Atlas" of 1874 is consulted, one may find a church located just north of Buckstown, on the first road east, on the right hand side (east side). There is located a church without a denominational name. It is centered among the above names. Therefore, it is to be assumed that this "Solomon's Temple," located on edge of Allegheny Mountain near Roxbury. Built in 1805 by Solomon Ringler.

Sponsored by Maple Grove Park, Earl M. Meyers. Old Allegheny Church, located on Earl M. Meyers Farm, north of Boone Mill, built, 1790, birthplace of Elder Samuel Meyers. This church was known as the "Samuel Meyers Meetinghouse" and was later turned into a blacksmith shop after the Daniel Rhoads Meetinghouse became the Love Feast house, situated just across the road to the west.

was the "Allegheny Seventh Day Baptist Church" mentioned in the diary. It seems that it belongs to the Quemahoning congregation since it is located in Shade Township. (Quemahoning became a separate congregation from Brothersvalley in the Annual Meeting in the "Grove Church" in 1849).

The Kentucky Migration, 1785

The terrible winter of 1784-1785 all but depleted the hopes of the frontiersmen who had faith in the coming crops of the spring and summer. The snows began early in October and continued almost without letup until after Easter. This is not uncommon to the area as the storms both in summer and winter come quickly and violently and often last for long periods without diminishing in force and fury. The altitude and the formation of the mountains to the west and east cause the storms to funnel into this area. As related in the former section on Brothers Valley the area is like an inverted saucer or dish lifted up above the surrounding countryside. Thus the storms beat heavily upon the land and the temperature drops quickly and holds on for many weeks sometimes without varying much either way. On Easter Monday when the sun shined warmly the snow measuring 85 inches on the level. This was one of the contributing factors for so many people leaving the area. However, this was only one.

Perhaps the other factors that induced the settlers to seek more pleasant settlement in the southern wilderness were the stories of some of their relatives such as Captain Henry Roth, Jr. and Phillip Aswald who had traveled extensively in the Kentucky country. They came back with glowing tales about the rich and fertile grasslands of the "blue grass region." At that early time most of the land was unsettled and there seemed to be room for all to settle in a more temperate climate. No doubt, the determining factor for their departure from Brudersthal in the summer of 1785 was the dual fact that the State of Virginia offered free land to her soldiers who fought in the Revolution. Many of the young men who had joined the Brothers Valley Militia and followed General George Washington throughout his campaigns against the British, received large land grants in what was then called "Western Virginia," which was the Kentucky country. Captain Henry Roth, Jr. led more than one hundred to Kentucky from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and what is now West Virginia. Several from New Jersey joined the band at New Market, Virginia, in the early part of the summer of 1785 and proceeded to the new "promised land."¹⁹

For the most part the people in the party were listed as heads of families. To be sure, there were many children in the group. It seems that they went by way of Winchester, Virginia, and there met a group from Maryland, especially from Washington and Frederick counties. It is known that at least a dozen from the Pipe Creek country, in what is now Carroll County, met them at Winchester and accompanied them to New Market, Virginia. Here they rested for several weeks before going on to the Roanoke Settlement where many others met the band and proceeded on their way.

The other reason for so many going along with the small band of leaders who received the "military grants" were those who were termed later in Kentucky as "squatters" on the land. These people had the approval of these who received the grants. They were the workers and the tillers of the soil for these large land holders. Many of them later bought tracts for their homes and settled permanently in Kentucky. About 1800 there was another movement from Kentucky across the Ohio River into Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and into the Black Hawk country of Iowa. Now for the heads of families in Captain Henry's band:

1. Captain Henry Roth, Jr., and wife, Elizabeth Stoner, of Pipe Creek, Maryland, daughter of Elder John Stoner.
2. Solomon Rhoads (Rhoads) brother of Henry, later to become a famous Elder of the Church.
3. Elder George Boone, brother of Daniel, elected to the Eldership in Stony Creek Church in Pennsylvania, 1770; also became an active Elder in Kentucky and Ohio.
4. Daniel Arnold, ordained, Brothers Valley, 1780; moved to Beaver Run, West Virginia.
5. David Martin, son of Elder George Adam Martin, became an elder in Kentucky, after 1785.
6. Jacob Miller, elected to ministry Stony Creek Church, 1764, went to Beaver Dam, Maryland, 1771; to Virginia, 1785.
7. Jacob Maugen.
8. John Huber, elected to ministry, 1774, Stony Creek Church, ordained, 1784; settled in Logan Co., Ohio, first resident Elder of Stony Creek Church, Ohio.
9. Jacob Landis, brother of Elder John Landis, of Brothersvalley, settled in Rockingham Co., Va.
10. Daniel Leatherman, Jr., became an elder in Kentucky.
11. George Stoy, settled in southwest Kentucky, near Louisville.
12. John Garver (Garber), ordained, Stony Creek Church, 1771, went to Beaver Dam, Maryland, 1771, went to Virginia, 1785, son of John, Sr.
13. John Frazier (Frazier), settled in Muhlenberg County, Ky., which was then Logan.
14. Henry Moore (Mohr), settled in Logan Co., Ky., thence to Logan, Ohio.

transported to Georgia, from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Texas, &c. In 1800, there were about 10,000 slaves in the United States, and in 1850, there were about 2,500,000. The increase was due to the fact that the slave trade was still in operation, and that the number of slaves imported from the West Indies and Africa was still considerable. The slave trade was a profitable business, and it was one of the main sources of wealth for the Southern States. The slaves were used for a variety of purposes, including agriculture, domestic service, and manual labor. The conditions of the slaves were often very harsh, and they were treated as property rather than as human beings. It seems evident that this company must have numbered well over one hundred in number. The reader can see that for the most part only family heads are listed. This list has come about through research across twelve years and we have listed only names from many sources where it has been gleaned that these people came along with Captain Henry Roth to Kentucky. However, it must be said that the first forty-eight names were given this author by Mrs. W. H. Newmeyer, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on August 23, 1952, the day before the celebration at Brotherton, Pa., of the one hundred and ninetieth anniversary of the founding of the congregation. Mrs. Newmeyer had not searched in this area for some forty years and her work has not been questioned by competent researchers in this area of history.

"THE GODFATHER OF MUHLENBERG"

AMONG the pioneers who first settled that section of the Green River country which is included in what is now the northern part of Muhlenberg County were some who had fought in the Revolution under General John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg. Most of the first settlers in the central and southern sections of the county were Virginians and Carolinians, mainly of English, Scotch, and Irish extraction.

Representatives of General Muhlenberg's army drifted to this part of the Green River country from Southern Pennsylvania and Northern Virginia. Most of General Muhlenberg's soldiers were born in America, but their fathers came from Germany and Holland long before the Revolution. Among these was Henry Rhoads, "the Godfather of Muhlenberg County," who not only procured the name of his general for the county but was also a prominent pioneer in Western Kentucky and identified with the early development of Muhlenberg and the entire western section of the Green River country.

In Perrin's "History of Kentucky," page 997, a brief sketch of the life of Rhoads is incidentally introduced in a biography of Professor McHenry Rhoads, the well-known educator, who is a son of Absalom J. Rhoads, a grandson of Solomon Rhoads, and a great-grandson of Henry Rhoads.¹ From this sketch I quote:

Henry Rhoads was born in Germany in 1739 and died in Logan county in 1814. [He died in Muhlenberg County.] He and two of his brothers came to America about 1757 and settled in Bedford county, Pennsylvania. In 1760 he married Elizabeth Stoner of Maryland. He fought for his adopted country through the great struggle for Independence, under the leadership of General Muhlenberg. After the war for Liberty, having lost heavily in the cause, he, with his two brothers and their families, came to Kentucky. They stopped first at Bardstown where they left their wives and children, and then went out in the wilderness to find a site to build a town. The place selected was at the falls of Green river where they started a settlement and called it Rhoadsville. After three years of peaceable possession an action was entered in the Ohio circuit court, styled "John Hanley vs. Henry Rhoads and others," for the possession of the land on which the new town stood. The suit was gained by the plaintiff. Henry Rhoads and a few of his friends then removed to Barnett's Station, on Rough Creek, where he lived five years, during which time the present town of Hartford was laid out and a few houses built. He next moved to Logan county and settled . . . where he owned 7,000 acres of military land. He represented the county [Logan and what became Muhlenberg] in the legislature of Kentucky in 1798, [and] on its formation [in December, 1798] as a county, named it in honor of General Muhlenberg.

Collins, in his "History of Kentucky," under the head of McLean County, says that the first fort or station in McLean County was built where Calhoun now stands, in 1788, by Solomon Rhoads, and called Vienna, and that in 1790 James Inman built Pond Station, a few miles southeast of Calhoun.

Other authorities and most traditions say that Henry Rhoads established a station some time between 1784 and 1788 where Calhoun now stands, and that he was assisted in this work by his brother Solomon Rhoads and another brother whose name is usually given as David. At any rate, a few years after Henry Rhoads established or helped to establish Rhoadsville or Fort Vienna, he lost the title to all his land in that vicinity, and after living for a while near Hartford he moved into what is now the Browder Mine neighborhood, in Muhlenberg County, which at that time was part of Logan County.

From a letter written to me by Judge Lucius P. Little, of Owensboro, the highest authority on the history of the Green River country, I quote:

"When Henry Rhoads came to this part of the Green River country he stopped at Barnett's Fort, on Rough River, above Hartford. He first located his claim for land at the site of the present town of Calhoun, and laid out a town in 1784 and called it Rhoadsville. When Rhoads was defeated by Captain John Hanley, agent for the Dorseys, of Maryland, the name of the town was changed to Vienna. Rhoads then went back to Barnett's Fort for a short time and soon after located in the bounds of the present county of Muhlenberg, five miles from Paradise on Green River and a mile from the present town of Browder on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

"Simultaneously with the departure of the Germans to the south side of the river, they erected a fortification about five miles south from Rumsey for refuge in case of Indian attack. This was called 'Pond Station.' This was in Muhlenberg until the territory embracing it was made a part of McLean County. About the same time such of the residents of Fort Vienna as owned slaves quit the fort and opened up farms north of the river, where some of their descendants are still to be found.

"As late as 1840 the settlement south of Cypress Creek and extending far enough south to embrace Sacramento and Bremen was commonly called 'The Dutch Settlement.' While these people were thrifty, yet few of them owned slaves."

In 1798, a few years after settling in Logan County, Henry Rhoads became a member of the State Legislature and on December 14, 1798, an act was passed creating a new county out of parts of Christian and Logan. It was Henry Rhoads who proposed and secured the name of Muhlenberg for the new county. Ed Porter Thompson, in his "School History of Kentucky," page 162, says:

General Muhlenberg was at no time a resident of Kentucky. His name and his deeds, however, are of interest to us because some of the gallant members of his church who followed him when he left his pulpit to fight for independence, had grants of land for military service, which they located on and below Green River, soon after the close of the Revolution, and made their homes in what are now Muhlenberg, McLean and Ohio counties. One of them, the Hon. Henry Rhoads, was a member of the legislature in 1798 when Muhlenberg county was established, and procured it to be named in honor of his pastor and general. . . . Through the influence of one to whom General Muhlenberg had been a pastor in peace and a valiant captain in the fight for freedom, his ever enduring monument (a county's name) was erected, not in his own land, but in the wilderness of Kentucky.

While faithfully and successfully serving the public, Henry Rhoads had, for a number of years, more or less trouble in establishing his claim to the land to which he was entitled and on which he lived after he moved into what later became a part of Muhlenberg. This land, of which he finally gained possession, lay in what was up to 1798 a part of Logan County. It was part of a grant of almost 7,000 acres which he had surveyed in 1793 for General Alexander McClanahan, with the understanding that he was to receive part of it. It is possible that 1793 was the year Henry Rhoads first settled in what is now Muhlenberg. In 1797 the State of Kentucky issued to McClanahan and Rhoads a patent for this survey. In October, 1801, a commission of six men was appointed to divide this tract between the two and issue a deed to each for his share. Order Book No. 1, page 1, gives the names of these commissioners, all of whom were prominent pioneers—John Dennis, Henry Keith, Matthew Adams, William Bell, Benjamin Tolbert, and Solomon Rhoads. Deed Book No. 1, page 66, shows that they granted Henry Rhoads two thousand acres of the survey, for which he received a deed October 26, 1801. Thus, after a long and patient struggle, he held a title to land against which no priority of claim was ever brought. In 1798 he bought an adjoining survey of five hundred acres that had been granted to General George Matthews.

GRAVE OF THE "GODFATHER OF MUHLENBERG COUNTY"

It was on this 2,500-acre tract that he built his home, shortly after his arrival from Hartford. The original dwelling has undergone many changes, but is still standing, near the Greenville and Rochester Road about nine miles from Greenville. The farm on which this house stands has passed from father to son for more than a century, and is now owned by Professor McHenry Rhoads. Near this historic house is the old family graveyard. In it, among five generations of Rhoads buried there, is the grave of the "Godfather of Muhlenberg County," on which was placed, almost a century ago, a sandstone about two feet high and marked: "H. R. B. J. 5, 1739, D. M. 6, 1814."

Henry Rhoads died on the 6th of March or May, 1814, aged seventy-five. His "last will and testament" was written April 15, 1812, witnessed by "J. W. McConnell and Wm. Sumner." It was recorded in 1813 and probated in August, 1814, as attested by "C. F. Wing, Clerk," in Will Book No. 1, page 194:

In the name of God, Amen. I, Henry Rhoads, of the county of Muhlenberg and State of Kentucky, being weak in body but of perfect mind and memory, do make and ordain this my last will and testament.

First, I recommend my soul to the Almighty God, and as touching my worldly effects wherewith He has helped me, I give and dispose of them in the following manner.

First, I give and bequeath to my beloved wife Barbay Rhoads all the property she brought with her after we were married, agreeable to contract, and one cow, a large heifer and one iron pot and the corner cupboard and chest and my large Bible, and the low posted bedstead, one large and one small wheel including all the furniture we have got since we were married. I also give and bequeath to my beloved wife Barbay all that is allowed to her agreeable to the courts of a bond on my son David Rhoads bearing date August 23, 1810.

Secondly, I give and bequeath all my debts, dues and demands and all the property I own in this world except what is expressly mentioned in this my last will to my children, namely my sons, Jacob Rhoads, Daniel Rhoads, Henry Rhoads, Solomon Rhoads, David Rhoads, Susanah Nighmyoir and Caty Jackson, Elizabeth VanMeter and Hannah Jackson, all my daughters, to be equally divided among them, at the discretion of my executors at my decease.

Lastly, I do hereby nominate and appoint my brother Daniel Rhoads and Solomon Rhoads and David Rhoads as executors of my last will and testament, hereby ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills by me made as witness and seal this 15th day of April in the year of our Lord 1812 and the presence of viz: Henry Rhoads. (Seal)²

When Henry Rhoads settled on his tract of land Muhlenberg was practically an unbroken wilderness. Many wild animals, large and small, held sway. A number of stories are told about the game that roamed over these hills in olden times. I here repeat two of these stories, because they are characteristic of life in the wilderness and because they are incidents from the life of Muhlenberg's first great pioneer, handed down by local tradition.

HENRY RHOADS (GRANDSON OF PIONEER HENRY RHOADS), HIS WIFE AND DAUGHTER, IN 1864

When Henry Rhoads was building his log house his neighbors were few and far between, but all came with a helping hand and a happy heart to take part in his "house-raising." These old-time house-raising were attended as much for the sake of their social features as for the purpose of building a house.

One afternoon, while the crowd was busily engaged on the roof of this building, a large bear leisurely wandered into sight. When the men saw the

² The descendants of Solomon Rhoads, son of Henry Rhoads, are represented more extensively in Muhlenberg County and other parts of the Green River country than any other of Henry Rhoads' children. Solomon Rhoads was born June 7, 1774, and died near Browder November 19, 1849. (This Solomon Rhoads was a nephew of the Solomon Rhoads who, with Henry Rhoads and another brother, started the station which later became Calhoun.)

Among the children of Solomon Rhoads was Henry Rhoads, whose picture, taken with his wife and daughter, is here reproduced. This Henry Rhoads was born in Muhlenberg in 1806, where he died in 1864. His wife, Elizabeth Morton Rhoads, was born in Muhlenberg in 1808 and died near Greenville in 1907. They were the parents of Morton and Doctor Solomon Rhoads and Cynthia Ann, who in 1863 became the wife of Robert W. Browning.

Luther Bard Rhoads, of Drakesboro, is a son of Isaac W., grandson of Barnabas and a great-grandson of David Rhoads, who was a son of Henry Rhoads.

animal they stopped work and immediately started on a bear chase. Some ran after him with axes and others with guns. The women of the wilderness always lent a helping hand. In this instance one woman followed in the bear chase with a pitchfork. After an exciting time old Bruin was finally killed. That night a large bearskin was stretched on the new log wall and barbecued bear meat was served in abundance at all the other meals prepared for the house-raising party.

But the noise made by the bear-chasers evidently did not scare all the wild animals out of the neighborhood. About a year after that event Henry Rhoads, while walking in his wood, which is still standing a short distance north of the old house, espied a large drove of wild turkeys. He slowly raised his flint-lock rifle for the purpose of shooting a fine gobbler strutting under a white oak within close range. When he was about ready to pull the trigger he heard a rustling in the dry leaves behind him. Rhoads looked around, and to his great surprise saw a huge panther preparing to spring upon him. Without stopping to take sure aim he fired at the threatening beast. Luckily, the bullet hit the animal between the eyes and killed it instantly. A half-hour later Rhoads walked back home with the panther skin on his arm and his trusty flint-lock on his shoulder.

These old flint-locks were, as a rule, fine-sighted and unerring. They were slow but sure, although they did not kill every panther they were aimed at. Compared with modern rifles they were slow in all the operations that preceded and resulted in the discharge of the bullet.

Most of the local traditions are subject to a variety of versions. The old panther story, as I have related it, has probably changed very little from the original since Henry Rhoads' day. However, another version of this incident has also crept into circulation, and shows to what extent some traditions are changed. This new version has it that when Henry Rhoads saw the wild turkey in the woods he took steady aim and then pulled the trigger of his flint-lock. He had no more than pulled the trigger when he heard the panther back of him. Rhoads turned, immediately swung his gun around and aimed at the panther, then in the very act of making a long leap from a limb down upon the hunter. But the old pioneer was quicker than the discharging powder or the charging panther, for he had the gun pointed at the animal before the bullet left the barrel, and thus killed the panther with the load that, a few seconds before, had been started toward the turkey! This same version continues with the statement that the animal did not drop to the ground after it was shot, but fell across the shoulder of the hunter, who then leisurely walked home and did not throw the panther down on the ground until he reached the front of his house. I do not adopt this version, but merely record it for its vivacity and novelty.

Henry Rhoads, as already stated, was a member of the State Legislature from Logan County when, in 1798, Muhlenberg was formed, and he was the first man to represent the new county in the House of Representatives. He was sixty years of age when the county was organized. Although he declined various county offices offered to him, he nevertheless continued to work for the good of the community, and probably did as much for the county, if not more, than any of the other early pioneers. He helped draw the plans for the first courthouse and also did much toward promoting the interests of Greenville, the new county seat. He was bondsman and adviser to a number of the younger men whom he successfully recommended for office. Tradition says that many, and probably all, of the German-American pioneers in Muhlenberg came to the county through his direct or indirect influence.

During his last years Henry Rhoads spent much of his time looking after his farm, tanyard, and other personal affairs, but nevertheless lost no opportunity to bring in new settlers and perform such acts as he thought would advance Muhlenberg County and its people. To-day a small sandstone is all that marks the spot where rest the bones of this influential pioneer. Some day his labors will be more fully recognized and appreciated and an appropriate memorial will then, I dare say, be erected over the grave of the Godfather of Muhlenberg County.³

³ Professor McHenry Rhoads, a great-grandson of Henry Rhoads, was born in Muhlenberg County on July 27, 1858, and entered West Kentucky College, South Carrollton, in 1876, from which institution he was graduated in 1880. He held the chair of natural science in this college until 1885, when he was elected vice-president of the Hartford College and Business Institute, where he taught science and literature until 1891, when he was elected Superintendent of City Schools at Frankfort, which position he held for nine years. In 1900 he was elected to the superintendency of the city schools of Owensboro, which position he held for eleven years. In the fall of 1910 he was appointed State Supervisor of High Schools under the General Education Board and elected to the professorship of secondary education in the State University, which position he now holds. He has been a member of the National Educational Association since 1891, and has served in the capacity of director, vice-president, and treasurer. His work as State Supervisor of High Schools arises out of a dual position, he being connected with the State University and the Department of Education at Frankfort.

WESTERN KENTUCKY SETTLEMENT: MUHLENBERG COUNTY

If the evidence describing the Drakes Creek congregation is meager, records identifying the Muhlenberg County Brethren to the north are even more inadequate. The territory now included in this county was originally part of Lincoln County, created in 1780. In 1792 it was included in Logan County. Muhlenberg County was created primarily from Logan in 1799. Tradition records that it was named in honor of General John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg (1746-1807), an officer and clergyman of high distinction during the American Revolution. Henry Rhoads, Sr. (1739-1814), who was a member of the Kentucky General Assembly from Logan County for the 1798 term, supposedly introduced the bill creating and naming the new county. It is popularly thought that Rhoads served under Muhlenberg in the Eighth Virginia Regiment and that it was by virtue of his military service that he obtained land warrants for several thousand acres in the Green River military district.¹ To make matters more

ANOTHER KENTUCKY SETTLEMENT: MOUNTAIN COUNTY

If the evidence describing the Green Creek country is correct, records identifying the Mountain County settlement to the north are even more inadequate. The first very one located in this county was still nearly half a century hence, created in 1792. In 1792 it was included in Logan County. Mountain County was created primarily from Logan in 1797. Tradition records that it was named in honor of the Kentucky Council of War from 1779 to 1780 for the 1780 year, subsequently has founded the first settlement and naming the new county. It is generally thought that Wolfe intriguing, H. Austin Cooper has claimed that Rhoads was a former Dunker minister from western Pennsylvania and that he led a sizable immigration of Brethren to what is now Muhlenberg and McClean counties in 1785.² McClean County was created from the northern part of Muhlenberg County in 1854.

Cooper's identification of Rhoads is based partly on the fact that Henry Roth, Jr., was included in a 1770 membership list by Morgan Edwards of the Stony Creek congregation in what is now Somerset County, Pennsylvania.³ Unfortunately, concrete evidence of Rhoads' military service under Muhlenberg has not been uncovered. It is unlikely that Rhoads owned any Kentucky lands by virtue of his military service. His holdings in Muhlenberg County were obtained through an agreement with Alexander McClanahan of Augusta County, Virginia, for surveying and patenting lands warranted to McClanahan. Rhoads later purchased ³Edwards, Materials, p. 185. Philip Kimmel and Henry Roth, Sr., were also listed as members at Stony Creek (Brothersvalley). Cooper, Two Centuries of Brothersvalley, pp. 165-168, located with will of Henry Roth, Sr., which is given as "Rhoads," dated 1774; Bedford County, Will Book 1: 5. Cooper believed that his son, Henry Rhoads, Jr., of Pennsylvania is Henry Rhoads, Sr., of Kentucky. He indicated that although Rhoads was no longer a Brethren minister in Kentucky, the Brethren used his home near Browder for a meetinghouse.

According to the family of Cooper has claimed that Rhoads was a former member minister from western Pennsylvania and that he had a sizable inheritance of property to what is now Mifflinburg and Mifflin County in 1785. Mifflin County was created from the northern part of Mifflinburg County in 1854.

Rhoads, Henry, p. 182. Philip Kimmel and Henry Roth, Jr., were also listed as members at Stony Creek (Pottsville). Cooper, Two Centuries of Pennsylvania History, pp. 105-106, located with will of Henry Roth, Jr., which is given as "Rhoads," dated 1774; Mifflin County will book 1. Cooper believed that his son, Henry Rhoads, Jr., of Pennsylvania is Henry Rhoads, Jr., of Kentucky. He indicated that although Rhoads was no longer a brother minister in Kentucky, the brother used his home near brother for a meetinghouse.

military land patented to George Matthews, of Georgia.⁴

If Rhoads were a former Dunker in Pennsylvania, there is little in the Muhlenberg County records which so identifies him. He was most likely associated with the Hazel Creek Baptist Church, organized in 1797, near Yost (now Belton). Members of the Rhoads family, however, were in close association with other settlers of Dunker background.⁵

Henry Rhoads, for example, had numerous contacts with the first resident Dunker minister in the county, ⁴Rhoads is not mentioned in Historical Register of Virginians in the Revolution: Soldiers, Sailors, Marines, 1775-1783, ed., John H. Gwathmey, intro. by H. J. Eckenrode (Baltimore: Genealogy Publishing Co., 1973). This volume contains a compilation of those officers and men from the Eight Virginia Regiment who received Virginia military land. Neither is Rhoads listed in "Catalogue of Revolutionary Soldiers and Sailors of the Commonwealth of Virginia to Whom Land Bounty Warrants Were Granted by Virginia for Military Service in the War for Independence," in Yearbook of the Society, Sons of the Revolution in the Commonwealth of Kentucky, 1894-1913, comp., Samuel M. Wilson (Lexington, Ky.: for the Society by Westerfield-Bonte Co., Louisville, Ky., 1913); pp. 242, 238 contain the warrants for Alexander McClanahan, who received 6666 and 2/3 acres, and George Matthews, who received 7777 and 2/3 acres. See also Logan County, Deed Book A: 179; and Muhlenberg County, Deed Book 1: 1, 2, 3, 23, 26, 31 and 61. In 1801 Rhoads asked for and received clear title to 2000 acres from a division of the McClanahan warrants; Muhlenberg County, Order Book 1: 1, 207; and Deed Book 1: 66.

⁵Rhoads moved to the Green River area with three brothers, Daniel (sometimes given as David), Soloman, and Joseph. There are no Rhoads in the Logan County tax lists for 1790. The 1800 Muhlenberg tax lists contain the names: Henry, Henry, Jr., Daniel, Daniel, Jr., David, John, Soloman, and Elizabeth; "Second Census," p. 249. Joseph died in 1800; Henry in 1814. Francis Stump. Stump is identified in the 1790 census as living in Bullskin Township, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, near the Youghiogheny River. He was already a Dunker minister in 1799 when his land in Pennsylvania was sold.⁶ He indicates that Soloman Rhoads, brother of Henry, was also a minister and that he married Rachel Boone, sister of Daniel Boone and Squire Boone, Jr. The court records, however, reveal that Soloman Rhoads performed weddings as a Justice of the Peace, not as a minister. He was also an early county commissioner. In 1811 he was appointed sheriff; a $5000 bond for this office was posted by Jacob Studebaker, David Rhoads, John Vought, Jesse Jackson, George Davis, and Daniel Landis. All of these men were associated with Brethren; a few may have been members. Order Book 1: 109, 133; Book 2: 107, 269.

The history of the Hazel Creek congregation has been preserved in William J. Johnson, History of the Hazel Creek Church (Greenville, Ky.: Banner Print Co., 1898). Muhlenberg, County Deed Book 1: 105 contains one of the most unusual documents relating to early church history in the county. It may also indicate a Dunker background to some early members of the Hazel Creek and Nelson's Creek Baptist churches (1803). The document is a record of a dispute between Edward Williams and Thomas Waters, dated January 2, 1801. The conflict was submitted to "us members of their church, and we find evidence that Waters wrongfully charged Williams of false swearing and of being no better than a high way robber." The verdict is signed by Henry Rhoads, Isaac Davis, George Clark, Lenox Rose, Thomas Downs, Mathias Hunsinger, Charles Grisby, Gilbert Vaught, Daniel Rhoads, and Jesse Jackson. Davis, Rhoads, Vaught, and Hunsinger were all associated with Dunkers. Rose and Davis were charter members of Nelsons Creek church. Gilbert Vaught later became a Baptist preacher. For more on the early Baptist history of Muhlenberg County, see William L. Winebarger, A History of the Muhlenberg County Baptist Association, forward by Wendel H. Rone, Sr. (Greenville, Ky.: The Western Recorder, 1966), pp. 14, 150-151, 164.

Blough, History of the Church of the Brethren of the Western District of Pennsylvania (Elgin, Ill.: Brethren Publishing House, 1916), p. 593 contains the following identification of Stump:

"Francis Stump lived in what is now Elk Lick Township, Somerset County, from 1783 to 1799, when

Francis Stump. Stump is identified in the 1790 census as living in Ballistic Township, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, near the Pennsylvania River. He was already a Baptist minister in 1790 when his land in Pennsylvania was sold. He indicates that Solomon Rhoads, brother of Henry, was also a minister and that he married Rachel Boone, sister of Daniel Boone and Zephiah Boone, Jr. The court records, however, reveal that Solomon Rhoads performed weddings as a Justice of the Peace, not as a minister. He was also an early county commissioner. In 1811 he was appointed sheriff; a $2500 bond for this office was posted by Jacob Stuber, David Rhoads, John Young, James Jackson, George Davis, and Daniel Landis. All of these men were associated with Brethren; a few may have been members. Order Book 1: 109, 115; Book 2: 107, 109. The history of the Harts Creek congregation has been preserved in William J. Johnson, History of the Harts Creek Church (Greensville, Ky.: Banner Press Co., 1893). William J. Johnson Book 1: 102 contains one of the most unusual documents relating to early church history in the county. It not only indicates a Baptist background to some early members of the Harts Creek and Nelson's Creek Baptist churches (1801) but also contains a record of a dispute between Edward Williams and Thomas Waters, dated January 2, 1801. The conflict was described as "a matter of civil church, and we find that Edward Williams eventually charged Williams of being a member of the church and of being no better than a high way robber." The conflict is named by Henry Rhoads, Isaac Davis, George Clark, James Hays, Thomas Hays, William Haysinger, Charles Gishy, Robert Young, Daniel Rhoads, and James Jackson. Davis, Rhoads, Young, and Haysinger were all associated with Brethren. Rhoads and Davis were the members of Harts Creek Church. Gishy, Young, and Haysinger later became a Baptist preacher. For more on the early Baptist history of Washington County see William J. Haysinger, A History of the Washington County Baptist Association, founded by William H. Hays, Sr. (Greensville, Ky.: The Western Recorder, 1950), pp. 14, 150-151, 164.

C.: Government Printing Office, 1908), reprint ed., Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Co., 1960), p. 104. James A. Elough, History of the Church of the Brethren of the Western District of Pennsylvania (Elgin, Ill.: Western Publishing House, 1915), p. 222 contains the following identification of Stump:

"Francis Stump lived in what is now Elk Lick Township, Somerset County, from 1781 to 1792, when first obtained two hundred acres from Daniel Rhoads, a brother of Henry, in 1797. Another one hundred seventy acres was surveyed for him in 1798, which was bounded both by military land and a Hunsaker family. This land was located near Pond Creek. In 1801 he made a headright claim for one hundred fifty acres on Rocky Fork of the Mud River.⁷

In 1798 the Logan County court ordered that "Francis Stump be granted a license to solemnize the Rites of Marriage."⁸ Unfortunately, the original marriage bonds of Logan County have been destroyed. Those early records which have been preserved do not indicate the name of the solemnizer. After Muhlenberg County was formed, there are only two recorded marriages by him. Stump died sometime between August and October of 1801. The will mentions his "beloved wife Rachael," who was made one of the executors and George Hunsinger, who received one hundred fifty acres of Stump's headright land, provided that he live with Rachael until he he sold his farm. The deed reads 'between Francis Stump, minister of the Dunkard Society.' He undoubtedly moved to Kentucky. . . . Brother Stump was a descendant of Elder Peter Becker [see above, p. 15] of Germantown."

In 1790 Somerset County would have been part of Bedford County, not Fayette. Stump is also briefly identified in Cassel, "Some Account of the Far Western Brethren," p. 1. A "Hannes Stump and wife Elizabeth" were baptized into the Brethren in 1748 by Michael Frantz of the Conestoga congregation in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania; Brumbaugh, German Baptist Brethren, p. 308.

 was conveyed for him in 1798, which was bounded both by mill-erty land and a Hamaker family. This land was located near Pond Creek. In 1801 he made a headright claim for one hundred fifty acres on Rocky Fork of the Red River.

 Stump be granted a license to sell within the State of Martinsburg. Unfortunately, the original marriage bonds of Logan County have been destroyed. Those early records which have been preserved do not indicate the name of the salarist.
 After Martinsburg County was formed, there are only two recorded marriages by him. Stump died sometime between August and October of 1801. The will mentions his "beloved wife Rachel," who was made one of the executors and George Hensinger, who received one hundred fifty acres of Stump's headright land provided that he live with Rachel until he edly proved to be true. . . . Brother Stump was a

out and that their lands were entered upon by other settlers.¹⁸

That George Wolfe, Sr., was a minister is confirmed by his brief mention in the Muhlenberg County marriage records. There are only three solemnizations indicated for him between 1800 and 1804. Only one of these, Samuel Grable (Graybill) to Mary Millhouse, appears to be Dunker associated. George Wolfe, Jr., was married to Ann Hunsaker in 1803. This ceremony was performed by John Hendricks, the universalist Dunker minister from Warren County.¹⁹ George, Sr., supposedly died in 1809 at Kaskaskia, Illinois, while on a preaching tour of frontier settlements.²⁰

The Hunsaker family into which George Wolfe, Jr., married was associated with the Brethren in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Kentucky and Illinois. Members of this family were on the frontier edge of the Brethren movement west. According to family tradition the parents of Ann Hunsaker were Jacob Hunsaker (1759-1831) and Kathrine Huffman Hunsaker. They were Pennsylvanians but may have moved to Kentucky by way of North Carolina. The 1810 census lists no fewer than eight Hunsaker, Huntsinger families in Muhlenberg records. There are only three registrations indicated for the years 1800 and 1801. Only one of these, Samuel Grady

¹⁸On April 12, 1811 James J. Hughes listed for taxation purposes various tracts in Muhlenberg County, including 400 acres previously entered by George Wolfe and surveyed for Thomas Prouse; Muhlenberg County, Order Book 2: 267.

Also, George Wolfe, Jr., was married to Ann Hunsaker in 1801. This ceremony was performed by John Handrick, the ministerial brother minister from Warren County. George

Wolfe, apparently died in 1802 at Kaskaskia, Illinois, while on a preaching tour of frontier settlements.¹⁰

The Hunsaker family into which George Wolfe, Jr.,

entered was associated with the Brethren in Pennsylvania,

North Carolina, Kentucky and Illinois. Members of this family were on the frontier edge of the Western movement and, according to family tradition the parents of Ann Hunsaker were John Hunsaker (1752-1811) and Elizabeth Hoffman.

They were Pennsylvania Germans who have moved to Kentucky by way of North Carolina. The 1810 census lists no fewer than eight Hunsaker, Hunsinger families in Muhlenberg

¹⁰ On April 12, 1811 Jacob J. Hughes listed for tax and purposes various tracts in Muhlenberg County, including

400 acres previously owned by George Wolfe and surveyed for James Frouse, Muhlenberg County, Order Book 2: 207.

County. Of these, Jacob Hunsaker was probably the most prominent. Like many of this family in the "Hunsaker neighborhood," he owned land on Mud River where he established a mill, tavern, and ferry.²¹ The Hunsakers were also closely tied to the Rhoads family in Kentucky. George and Andrew Hunsaker were made guardians of four of the children of Joseph Rhoads (d. 1800), brother of Henry Rhoads. Samuel Hunsaker married Hannah Rhoads in 1799. Andrew Hunsaker may have married Mary Rhoads.²²

²¹Hunsaker and Haws, History of Abraham Hunsaker, pp. 6-8. Mathias Hunsaker, who died in Muhlenberg County about 1801, witnessed a deed in 1790 between two Brethren associated settlers in Wilkes County, North Carolina, John Sears and David Burkett; Muhlenberg County, Will Book 1: 73, 56; and Wilkes County, North Carolina, Deed Book B: 204. From Wilkes County he may have moved to the Bluegrass region of Kentucky c1788. Mathias also may have been associated with Hazel Creek church, see above p. 83 n. 5. A Jacob Hunsinger obtained state land in Wilkes County in 1778 near John Dick (discussed below) and Gasper Rowland. Although he sold some of this land in 1796, he continued to appear in the Ashe County records after 1801 when most of the Muhlenberg Hunsakers had obtained land in Kentucky; Wilkes County Deed Book B: 246; Book D: 4; Land Entry Book, North Carolina State Archives, Raleigh, North Carolina, no. 186, June 1778; no. 1862, 1863, June 1795. A Jacob Hunsaker also posted bond in 1796 for George Tarvin, the Dunker minister in Mason County, see above, pp. 60-61. The two earliest Hunsakers to obtain Muhlenberg County lands were John and George, who obtained headright claims on the Mud River in 1798; Logan County, Surveyor's Book A: 127. For Hunsaker listings in the 1810 census, see Kentucky 1810 Census, p. 347, 396-397. Other data on the Hunsakers is from Muhlenberg County Order Book 1: 102, 103, 109, 223, 302; Book 2: 4, 6.

²²Muhlenberg County, Marriage Book 1: 7; Order Book 1: 130, 131, 134; Hunsaker and Haws, History of Abraham Hunsaker, pp. 6-8. A listing of Muhlenberg County marriages may be found in "Muhlenberg County Records 1799-1836," comp., Mrs. Roy E. Barnhill, Kentucky State Historical Society Register 30 (October 1932): 373-392, and 30 (July 1932): 373-392.

County. Of these, Jacob Hunsaker was probably the most prominent. Like many of this family in the "Hunsaker neighborhood," he owned land on both sides of the river where he established a mill, sawmill, and ferry. The Hunsakers were also closely tied to the Rhoads family in Kentucky. George and Andrew Hunsaker were also guardians of four of the children of Joseph Rhoads (d. 1800), brother of Henry Rhoads. Samuel Hunsaker married Hannah Rhoads in 1750. Andrew Hunsaker and Mary Rhoads.

Hunsaker and Hays, History of Abraham Hunsaker, pp. 2-3. Nathan Hunsaker, who died in Muhlenberg County about 1800, witnessed a deed in 1798 between two brothers, Samuel and David Hunsaker, Muhlenberg County, Will Book 1: 17, 50, and Wilkes County, North Carolina, Deed Book 1: 104. From Wilkes County he may have moved to the Rhoads region of Kentucky about 1788. Nathan also may have been associated with the church, see above p. 2. A Jacob Hunsaker owned state land in Wilkes County in 1778 near the Ohio River (see below) and Casper Hunsaker. Although he sold some of this land in 1790, he continued to appear in the state records after 1801 when most of the Hunsaker family had obtained land in Kentucky. Wilkes County Deed Book 1: 104; Book 1: 4; Land Entry Book, North Carolina State Archives, Raleigh, North Carolina, no. 180, June 1778; no. 181, June 1778. A Jacob Hunsaker also owned land in 1790 for George Taylor, the Hunsaker minister in Mason County, see above, pp. 60-61. The two earliest Hunsakers to settle in Muhlenberg County lands were John and George, who obtained land rights on the Mud River in 1768: Logan County, Surveyor's Book A: 117. For Hunsaker listings in the 1810 Census, see Kentucky 1810 Census, p. 287, 288-297. Other data on the Hunsakers is from Muhlenberg County Order Book 1: 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106; Book 2: 4, 5.

PROFILE OF STEERING COMMITTEE PERSONS

General Guidelines:

- I. Make selection a matter of prayer. These people are a key factor in the growth of Youth for Christ.
- II. Pursue couples. The steering committee is designed to provide an activity that keeps couples together instead of being another activity that separates them. This does not exclude singles but the committee is weighed in favor of couples.
- III. The final decision on the selection of steering committee members is made by joint consultation of staff and executive director. Candidates should always be run by current steering committee members. A negative response by steering committee should be reason for reevaluation. No matter how strongly you might believe in the candidate, they must perform in the context of the existing steering committee.

Selection Criteria:

Selection should not depend on a 100% attainment of the criteria listed below but there should be a high percentage of agreements.

1. Agreement with Youth for Christ Mission Statement.
2. Compatability with Youth for Christ methodology.
3. Christian commitment.
4. Involvement in local church.
5. Willingness to be financially involved in program.
6. Willing to be a table host at annual sharing dinner.
7. Respected by their peers.
8. Time available or willingness to make adjustments in their time.
9. Likes young people - a concern for them.
10. Compatability with other steering committee members.
11. Denominational affiliation in balance with other steering committee members.
12. Positive husband and wife relationships.
13. Stable family relationships.
14. Have young people in program (past - present - future).
15. Instestinal - "The thermometric" inclination - (translation - gut reaction).

Selection Interview:

The selection interview should take place with the couple over dinner, lunch is especially good because wives like to do this or in their home during evening. You should go into selection interview with a working knowledge of your subjects. Do some spade work prior to meeting. This allows for a more targeted interview and provides you with conversation strategy.

Always begin your discussion with qualifiers - "We are talking with several persons about possible selection on to the steering committee. No decisions have been made." Let me start our discussion by telling you about Y. F. C. and our ministry philosophy. How we're organized etc.

Questions for interview should be directed to answer selection criteria. The criteria forms a launching pad for much of your dialogue.

Levi Rhodes (1828-1885) is buried at Blacks Cemetery in Posey County. His wife, Malinda (Watson) Rhodes, evidently is not. They were the parents of Levi Watson "Lee" Rhodes, who was born Feb. 19, 1858, here in Posey County. 5725

"Lee" Rhodes was a carpenter and married Ruey H. Hanshoe on June 12, 1884. He lived 83 years, until 1941. 5726

Ruey H. (Hanshoe) ~~RUEY~~ was born Feb. 8, 1865. She was the youngest of eight children born in Floyd County, KY to Samuel Hanshoe and Mary Jane (Allen) Hanshoe. It is unclear exactly when the family moved to Indiana, but they did before any of the children were married. Little else is known about this family except that Jane (or Virginia) (Hanshoe) Baker's husband shot and killed her brother, David, over a gambling debt. The family then split up with several of them returning to Kentucky. 55 George W. Hanshoe (1861-1931) and Ella Frances (Hanshoe) Fletcher-Ashworth (1863-1942) still have decendants living in Posey County. Grandma "Ruey" lived 74 years, until 1939. 777

Alan Curtis

My grandmother (your great-grandmother), Mabel Ellen (Rhodes) Curtis, was born Feb. 11, 1889, here in Posey County. Most of the information about her is reflected in the earlier writing. She was always a frail looking little lady who kept the home for everybody else. She must have been tougher than she ever looked. I remember that she made the best divinity in the world; but at a very young age I told her that her lemon pie was not as good as my mother's. She remembered the lemon pie story for many years. She died in 1970, sixteen years after her husband.

Her brothers (she had no sisters) are almost unknown to me. The oldest, Stanley Rhodes, was born in 1885. Family members remember him marrying Adna Jones, from Hazelton, IN. Supposedly, he was an engineer that moved around a lot and designed and/or worked on the Wabash River bridge at Vincennes, IN. He also supposedly developed tuberculosis later in life and moved to Arizona, where he died sometime. Another brother, Ernest Dale Rhodes, born in 1891, did live here in Mt. Vernon. He died in 1976 and is buried at Bellefontaine Cemetery. There is a question about his marriage, it may have been a "common-law" marriage. Cecil Rhodes was born in 1897 and Asa Hanshoe Rhodes was born in 1898. I have no other information about them at this time.

Another brother, Houston Rhodes, was the youngest in the family. I do not have any birth or death dates at this time. I remember seeing him one time. We had a "family gathering" at "Aunt Pauline's" house, when they lived at Oliver (IN). "Uncle Houston" came with his wife, Inez, and his daughter, Bertie Rue. Stories in the family indicate that he worked for a circus.

I will continue looking for information about this group of siblings.

Dear Shirley Hannaford

My name is Gene Hudson from Abilene Texas. I am tracing my family history. I found your name in a genealogical Magazine, which mentions about Jane Rhodes from Virginia. I don't know if she is related to my 3rd Great Grandmother Rebecca Rhodes. I am sending you chart of Rebecca family. I would like to know about Jane Rhodes also.

If you would like any information on the Hudson's. Feel free to contact me at any time. My address is Gene Hudson

Phone 915-695-8543

I would be very appreciative if you could send me any information that you might have on the Rhodes. Again, if I can help you, feel free to contact me.

Sincerely
Gene Hudson

Dear Ms. Hanniford:

I noticed by your query in the January issue of THE SILENT FOOTSTEPS, that you are researching RHODES, among other surnames. The RHODES line I am searching includes an ENOS RHODES who left Grayson Co. sometime after the 1830 census was taken, and went to Shelby Co. IL. I believe the family was in Shelby Co. in late 1830 or at least by 1831. Enos' wife's name was Mary (nee unknown) and they had four children; one girl and three boys.

We believe Enos' father's name was Beacham Rhodes, who brought his family to Grayson Co. from Nicholas Co. in 1819 or 1820. We are trying to confirm the relationship between this Beacham and Enos, and to find the names of Beacham's parents, and their place of origin.

The above Enos had a son b. 1829 in Ky., who was also named Beacham. This Beacham had a son b. 1852 in Ill. who was in turn named Enos. This Enos was my grandfather. Because of the given name sequence, we believe this to be our line, but we need corroborating evidence.

There are several RHODES lines in Kentucky, but I thought that perhaps there was a chance the RHODES line you were researching may have crossed our line at some point. If you have information about this line or you would like to know more about this line, please contact me.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Hanniford:

I noticed by your query in the January issue of THE SILVER
FOOTPRINT, that you are researching RHODES, among other surnames.
The RHODES line I am searching includes an ERNEST RHODES who left Grayson Co. sometime after the 1830 census was taken, and went to Shelby Co. Ill. I believe the family was in Shelby Co. in late 1830 or at least by 1831. Ernie's wife's name was Mary (nee unknown) and they had four children: one girl and three boys.

We believe Ernie's father's name was Benjamin Rhodes, who brought his family to Grayson Co. from Nicholas Co. in 1819 or 1820. We are trying to confirm the relationship between this Benjamin and Ernie, and to find the names of Benjamin's parents, and their place of origin.

The above Ernie had a son B. 1839 in Ky., who was also named Benjamin. This Benjamin had a son B. 1852 in Ill. who was in turn named Ernie. This line was my grandfather. Because of the given name sequence, we believe this to be our line, but we need corroborating evidence.

There are several RHODES lines in Kentucky, but I thought

Dear Shirley,

I am researching the Rhodes-Rhodus and I noticed in the Genealogical Helper that you are searching for info on Jane Rhodes b 1822, Va.

My ancestor was Keziah(kissire) Rhodus (Rhodes), b. 22 June 1825, m. 22 July, 1848 to David Everett Amerine, d. 4 Dec. 1874, Providence, Carrol Co., Mo. She was married in Madison, Ky. They had either 10 or 11 children-one being John Wm. Amerine, my grandfather.

I know this is strictly hope, but I wonder if possibly your Jane and my Keziah might be sisters. I do not know Keziah's birth place, or her parents names.

I hope to hear from you real soon. Enclosed find SASE.

Dear Ms. Hannaford,

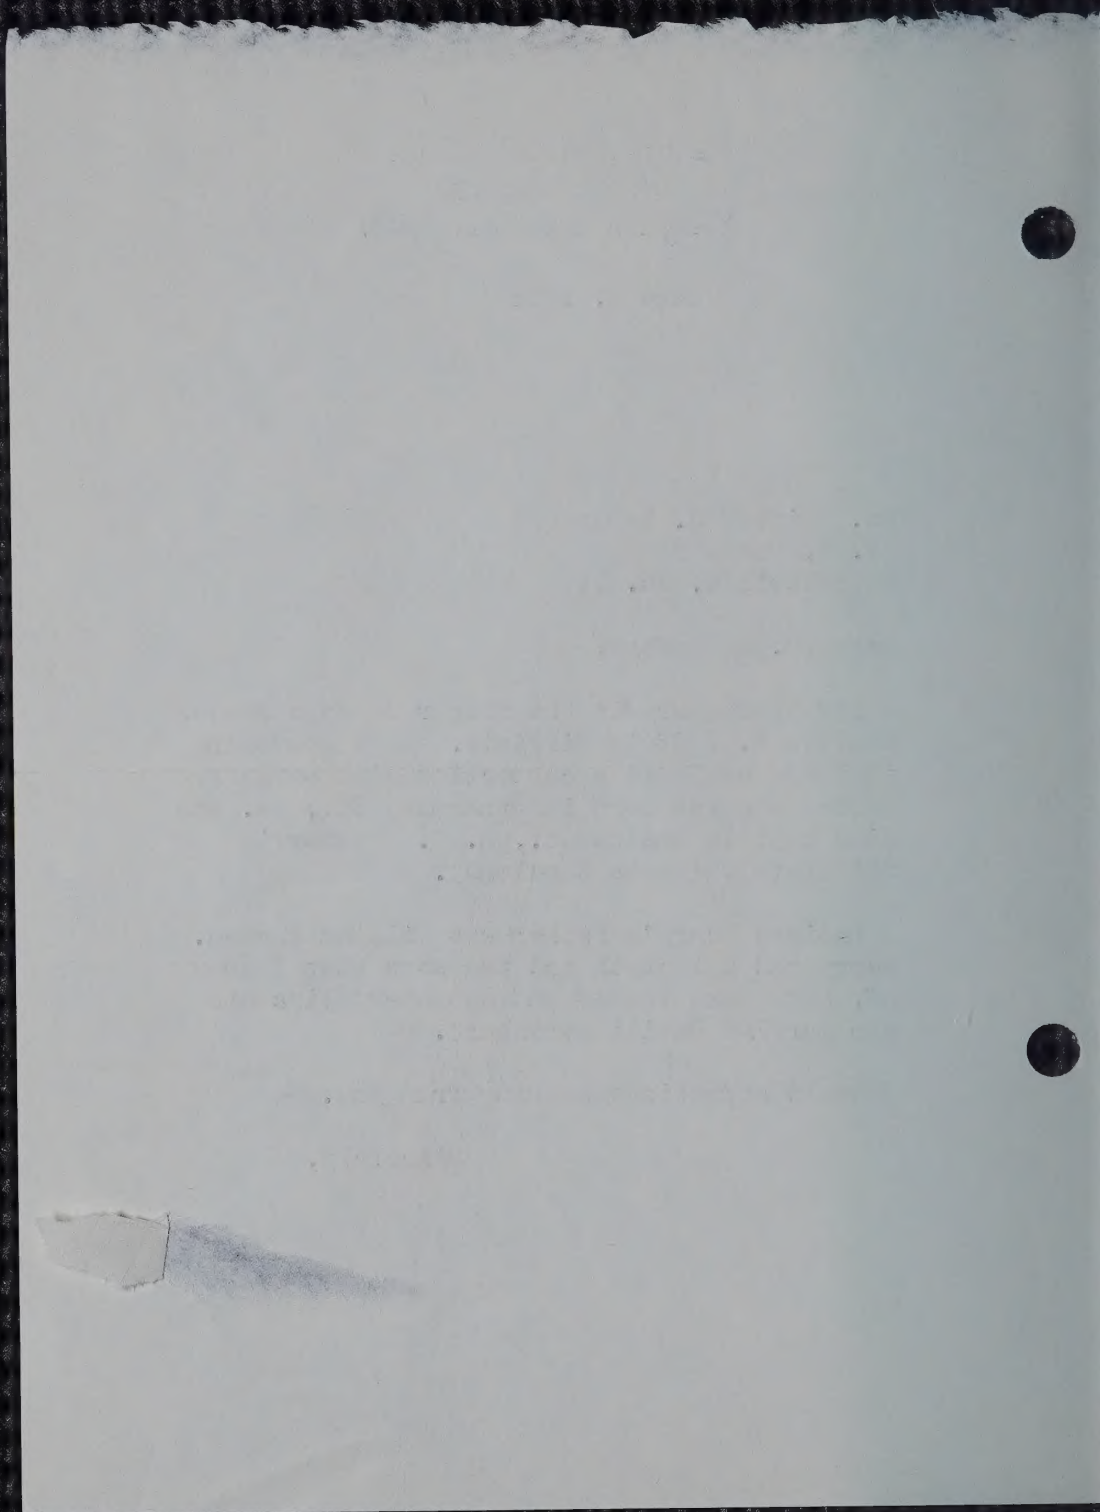

I saw your query in the Helper on Jane Rhodes who was b. 1822 in Virginia. I am wondering if there could be a connection with my Henry Rhodes who was born in Nansemond Co., Va. and died 1751 in Onslow Co., N. C. He married Elizabeth ? (maybe Copeland).

I believe Henry's father was William Rhodes. Henry and Elizabeth had two sons that I know of, Henry and Thomas and daughter Elizabeth who married Daniel Marshburn.

I would appreciate hearing from you.

Judges, Wilson Bullitt and Robert O. Tevault, Clerks. This, it must be remembered, was about two years prior to the birth of Boonville, and while the county-seat was located at Darlington.

Boon Township is by far the largest in the county and occupies a central position. It is bounded on the north by Hart and Owen Townships, on the east by Skelton Township and Otter and Little Pigeon Creeks, on the south by Little Pigeon Creek, Anderson and Ohio Townships, on the west by Ohio and Campbell Townships. In agricultural facilities it is unexcelled by any other in the county. This was recognized by the early settlers, and the land entries for this township are larger in proportion than in any other part. The following is a full list, prior to and including the year 1820:

James Young, 1818; Samuel Shannon, 1818; Israel Broshears, 1819; William Barker, 1816; John Williams, 1820; Daniel, Andrew and Isaac Rhoads, 1815; Jacob Sever and J. Johnson, 1817; John Williams, 1818; George Williams, 1820; John Davis, 1819; John Campbell, 1820; William Baker, 1817; Isaac Hudson, 1817; John McMillan, Sr., 1817; Francis M. Ashley, 1818; John D. Day, 1819; William Graham, 1818; James Hargrave, 1816; Joseph Weir, 1817; William Webb, 1817; William Campbell, 1816; John Mumford, 1817; Hezekiah Hargrave, 1816; Richard Stephens, 1815; Samuel Broshears, 1815; William Harris, 1818; William Berry, 1817; Joseph English, 1812; Isaac Blackford, 1818; John Gardner, 1814; Ratliff Boon, 1812; John Daugherty, 1816; John Coutts, 1813; James W. Battle, 1818; James Wright, 1816; Nathan Nichols, 1817; William M. and Orville A. Tarlton, 1820; Joshua Anderson, 1813; Bartholomew Wood, 1816; Jesse Boon, 1817; Edward Baker, 1817; Joseph Adams, 1818; Henry Hopkins, 1818; Brannock Wilkerson, 1818; Walter Wilson, 1818; Eli Strand, 1817; Samuel Hinman, 1814; Henry Rhoads, 1818; James McCulla, 1819; Romely Perig, 1818; John T. Allen, 1818; W. G. Buckler, 1818; Moses Wood, 1818; Roland Ellis, 1818; James Corwin, 1816; Olney Hines, 1819; Job Matthews, 1818; Daniel Frame, 1815; Solomon Vanada, 1818; Robert Hedges, 1818.

Campbell Township.—Campbell Township lies in the western part of the county, and is bounded on the north by Greer and Hart Townships, on the east by Hart, Boon and Ohio Townships, on the south by Ohio Township and Vanderburg County, and on the west by Vanderburg County. Agriculturally it is one of the best townships in the county and contains about thirty-nine square miles. It is watered by Big Pigeon Creek flowing across from north to south and along most of the southern boundary. Squaw Creek runs along the eastern boundary, and together these two streams drain nearly the whole township, flowing through belts Della, Walter and Minnie, all of whom are deceased; and Esther, who also assists in the store.

In religious belief Mr. Fischer is in hearty sympathy with the Lutheran church, of which he and his family are members. He gives his support to the republican party, the principles of which he regards as highly important for the perpetuity of the republic. He has never sought public office but has given his undivided attention to his business, and the success he has attained is convincing evidence of his ability. By thrift, energy and good judgment he has accumulated a fortune, and it is gratifying to know that his success has been won in legitimate channels and through perfectly honorable methods.

GEORGE W. RHOADS.

George W. Rhoads, a native of Shipman township and for many years past the owner of a valuable farm in Bird township, was born December 26, 1855, and has made his home in Macoupin county for over fifty-five years. He is a son of John D. and Mary E. (Jolly) Rhoads, both of whom were born in Grayson county, Kentucky. The father came to Macoupin county, Illinois, with his parents at five years of age, in 1831, and the grandfather of our subject, Jacob V. Rhoads, entered over four hundred acres of land in the southern part of Macoupin county and across the line in Jersey county. Jacob V. Rhoads was born in Pennsylvania but removed in his boyhood to Kentucky. After coming to this state he kept a country inn where he extended to many travelers a cordial welcome. He was a pioneer preacher of the Baptist church and was widely known throughout this part of the state. He died on the old homestead near Medora, after arriving at the age of seventy-eight years. Samuel Rhoads, one of his brothers, was a soldier in the war of 1812. The father of our subject was a Baptist minister and preached in many places in Macoupin county. His death occurred at the age of seventy-three. There were eight children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads, six of whom are living, namely: Margaret J., who married Thomas W. Stover, and resides in Medora; Ellen, who is the wife of Granville G. Reno, a member of the board of supervisors, and also resides at Medora; George W., of this review; Stroud K., who is engaged in farming east of Brighton; Willis M., who lives on the old home place in Shipman township; and Jacob D., who resides on a farm near Ansley, Nebraska.

Mr. Rhoads, whose name introduces this sketch, attended the district schools of Shipman township and early showed an interest in farming which indicated agriculture and stock-raising to be his natural pursuits. As he grew to manhood he assisted his father upon the home place and twenty-eight years ago purchased the farm upon which he has since lived. Through his application and good management he has made it highly productive. His life has been a busy and useful one and the success that has come to him is the reward of unremitting diligence.

On October 10, 1880, Mr. Rhoads was married to Miss Celia C. Chism, who was born near Medora, October 31, 1856, a daughter of John and Ellen (Skeen) Chism. The father was born in Grayson county, Kentucky, and the mother in Tennessee, the Rhoads and Chism families being neighbors. Mr. Chism came with his family to Macoupin county, Illinois, in 1831, and entered government land in Chesterfield township where he spent the remainder of his life. The mother still survives, having reached the age of eighty-six years, and is living on the home place one and one-half miles north of Medora. William Chism, the grandfather of Mrs. Rhoads, was a farmer and also an innkeeper. Of the twelve children born to Mr. and Mrs. Chism ten are now living, namely: William and James, both residents of Medora; Adelaide, who is the wife of John Stotler, a farmer who lives east of Medora; Celia C., now Mrs. George W. Rhoads; Rachel E., who married Ira Ketchum and resides in Polk township; Susan, the wife of M. C. Beavers, of Bird township; Emma, who married Gardner Rhine and resides near Medora; Catherin , the wife of Rolla Rhine, of Jerseyville; Clara, who married F. O. Brown, a resident of Bird township; and John, at home. Mr. and Mrs. Rhoads are the parents of three children: Pearl L., a resident of Portland, Oregon; and Earl E. and Ethel, both of whom are at home.

Mr. Rhoads and his family are actively identified with the Charity Baptist church. He holds membership in Lodge No. 107, I. O. O. F., of Carlinville, and also in Lodge No. 125, M. W. A., of the same place, being, moreover, connected with the Protective League and the Court of Honor. He is a supporter of the republican party and has served as highway commissioner for two terms and as supervisor of the township for one term. He filled the office of school director for twelve years and is now treasurer of the township. In his business he has always aimed to meet obligations faithfully and in all his dealings he has been straightforward and just. His success may be attributed to capable management and close application and he clearly belongs among the representative citizens of Macoupin county.

JAMES E. BYCROFT.

James E. Bycroft, junior member of the widely known milling firm of H. F. Bycroft & Son, was born in St. Louis, March 28, 1878. He is a son of Henry F. and Mary E. (Dillon) Bycroft, a record of whom appears elsewhere in this work. He grew to maturity under the parental roof and up to thirteen years of age possessed advantages of education in the public schools of Litchfield. In 1891 he came with his parents to Gillespie and attended school for one month in this city. He then became associated with the business of which his father is the head, beginning at the foot of the ladder as driver of a delivery wagon. After several years he entered the office of the firm and in 1900, having mastered the details of the business, was admitted to partnership under the title of H. F. Bycroft & Son. He has ever since had charge of the office, displaying a discrimination and ability that give bright promise as to his future.

On the 27th of April, 1909, Mr. Bycroft was married, at Gillespie, to Miss Alice M. Poivey, whose father, Modeste Poivey, was born in France. He was one of the early miners of this section and is now deceased. One child, James Fenwick, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Bycroft.

A youth of thirteen when his parents settled in Macoupin county, E. J. McIntyre completed his preliminary education in the public schools of Carlinville, after which he attended Blackburn University. After the completion of his education he gave his entire time and attention to farming under the capable direction of his father, who took him into partnership when he attained his majority. From then until the latter's death they were associated in operating the farm upon which Mr. McIntyre is now residing. In connection with the tilling of his extensive fields he raises considerable stock, always keeping about sixty cows and twenty-two horses and raising sixty hogs annually.

In December, 1893, Mr. McIntyre married Miss Carrie Winter, a daughter of the late Samuel and Jane (Jones) Winter. Her father was a native of England, while her mother was born in North Carolina. Upon his arrival in this country, Mr. Winter first located in Chicago, where he followed teaming, later engaging in the meat business. After two years' residence in Illinois' metropolis he went to Dubuque, Iowa, where he followed the same business for three years, then came to Macoupin county. Here he purchased a farm that he operated very successfully until 1882, when he disposed of it and removed to Missouri. He bought land in the latter state, continuing to follow agricultural pursuits until his demise on the 27th of November, 1889. His wife is still living at the age of seventy-nine years and continues to make her residence on the Missouri homestead. Four children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre: Roy, Everett, Allen and Hugh. The latter died in 1904.

In matters of religion Mr. McIntyre holds to the Episcopal faith of his parents, while Mrs. McIntyre affiliates with the Methodist Episcopal church. Politically he is a democrat, and is now serving as township commissioner while for fifteen years he was school director. He has spent the greater portion of his life in the immediate vicinity of his homestead, and is well known in the community among whose citizens he numbers many stanch friends.

WILLIAM WILLIS RHOADS.

A member of one of the best known families in Macoupin county, William W. Rhoads, of Brighton, has possessed excellent opportunities of becoming acquainted with business methods and has been highly successful in the conduct of financial affairs. He was born near Plainview, May 13, 1872, and is now entering upon the prime of life with prospects of advancement which point to large activities in years to come.

His parents are Isaiah and Mary A. (Meehan) Rhoads, the former of whom was born at Rhoads Point, now Medora, and the latter in Iowa. Josiah Rhoads, the great-grandfather of our subject and his brothers Rev. Jacob, John, Jesse, father of Colonel W. C. Rhoads, of Civil war fame, and Rev. Samuel Rhoads, were natives of Kentucky and the founders of the family in Macoupin county. They entered government land in Macoupin and Jersey counties, locating their homes across the line in Jersey county, and were the first settlers in that portion of the state now known as Jersey and Macoupin counties. The place of their

The Alice Compton Foundation was established in 1928 to honor the memory of Alice Compton, a distinguished physicist and one of the first women to earn a Ph.D. in physics from the University of Chicago. The foundation's primary purpose is to support research in physics, particularly in the areas of atomic and nuclear physics, and to provide financial assistance to women students and researchers in these fields. The foundation has a long history of supporting scientific research and education, and its contributions have been instrumental in the advancement of physics and the careers of many women in the field.

location was afterward named Rhoads Point in their honor. The family has for many years been noted for its religious faith and has contributed eleven ministers to the Baptist church. Edmund and John V. Rhoads, uncles of our subject, were very liberal in their contributions to worthy causes and contributed thousands of dollars to religious and charitable work. John V. Rhoads was especially noted for his liberality and at one time had as his guests the entire Apple Creek Baptist Association, which consisted of several hundred persons.

Isaiah Rhoads, the father of our subject, was born in 1844 on the old Chisholm farm, just across the line separating Macoupin from Jersey county. This place was a part of the original Rhoads homestead. The family acquired many hundred acres of land just north of Rhoads Point and there established the family home, when Isaiah was in his early boyhood. The latter engaged in farming and about 1900 removed to Granite City in order to carry forward under more favorable conditions the education of his children. He and his wife are now living at that place. They are both members of the Baptist church and have been prominent factors in the erection of the new church built at Granite City.

Amidst the environment of country life William W. Rhoads spent his youthful days. His attendance at school was limited to about two years as the family was not in flourishing financial circumstances and his services were needed upon the home farm as soon as he was tall enough to handle a hoe or guide a plow. Through an innate perseverance he has overcome the early obstacles to intellectual advancement and by reading and study has become one of the best informed men in the community. He received only a few lessons in grammar and physiology at school but he became a teacher and in the course of an experience of three years as a schoolmaster proved himself to be quite proficient in those two branches. He worked as a farm laborer at fourteen dollars per month, paying seventy-five cents per month for laundry. When it was necessary for him to practice rigid economy he did not hesitate to do so, and upon arriving at the age of twenty-nine years he entered the timber business, with which he has ever since been connected, being now one of the large operators in this line. In order to give an idea of the magnitude upon which he carries forward his work it may be stated that he has furnished mining timbers for seventy-five mines and recently sold one million square feet of lumber. He is the owner of extensive timber land in five counties of the state and also conducts sawmills. Since 1903 he has maintained his business headquarters at Brighton.

On February 14, 1910, Mr. Rhoads was married to Miss Alice T. Moores, a daughter of Frank and Mertie (Kelsey) Moores, the latter being the eldest daughter of John Kelsey, the pioneer settler of the Kelsey family in Brighton township. Mrs. Rhoads was christened in the Episcopal church but attends the Methodist Episcopal church. Politically Mr. Rhoads is a staunch supporter of the democratic party and ever since he reached voting age has been very active in the advancement of its interests. He was elected clerk of Polk township at the age of twenty-one and has frequently been reelected to the office. Since 1904 he has been a member of the county board of supervisors, with the exception of one term when he was defeated. This is the only defeat he has ever experienced in a political campaign, but at one time was given a tie vote when a candidate for clerk of Polk township. He has served as a delegate or alternate to the county conventions of the party ever since he reached his majority and has been sent to the state convention as a delegate many times, having also occupied a chair as alternate at the national convention.

Although Mr. Rhoads is not a member of any religious denomination he is a teacher in a Sabbath school and has been connected with Sabbath school and church work for the past fifteen years. He is a sincere believer in fraternal organizations and is a member of Hibbard Lodge, No. 249, A. F. & A. M.; Brighton Lodge No. 366, I. O. O. F.; and of the Encampment, being also connected with Plainview Camp, No. 1365, M. W. A. He has passed through all the chairs in the latter organization and has also filled all the chairs in the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, being at the present time acting past grand and secretary of the lodge. He has through life exhibited the qualities of perseverance, integrity and adherence to principles of truth and justice which have been leading characteristics of the honored family of which he is a representative. He has made friends wherever his name is known and, judging by what he has accomplished, there are large possibilities before him in years to come. He is gifted with sound business judgment and as his methods are eminently sane and practical he has apparently built upon a safe and secure foundation. His friends, who are many, have the utmost confidence in his continued advancement.

DOUGLAS M. BATES.

A well known stockman and farmer of Carlinville township is Douglas M. Bates, who was born in Bird township, Macoupin county, Illinois, on the 11th of May, 1861, a son of George and Agnes Ann (Adams) Bates, also natives of Illinois. The father was born and reared in this county, engaging in agricultural pursuits all of his life. The first property he owned was a tract of one hundred and twenty acres in Bird township, which he improved and cultivated for eight years. He then disposed of this land, buying a quarter section in Carlinville township that he operated until his death on the 4th of February, 1879. His wife had passed away about ten years previously, her demise occurring in December.

Douglas M. Bates was reared in Macoupin county, his early interests being very similar to those of other lads reared in the country at that period. He attended the district schools of the vicinity until he had acquired sufficient knowledge of the common branches to enable him to assume the heavier responsibilities of life. Laying aside his school books he gave his entire attention to the work of the farm with which he had been assisting since his early boyhood. He remained a member of the parental household until he had attained his majority, when he felt he was fully-qualified to begin his independent career as an agriculturist. He rented some land in the cultivation of which he met with such gratifying success that at the expiration of six years he was able to buy his father's farm. This has ever since been his home and here he engages comprised the territory embraced in Stratton, Hunter and Brouillett Townships, with a narrow strip of Elbridge Township. Immediately south of this district and lying in the southeast corner of the county, was another of those early divisions, and was known as

PIKE PRECINCT.

This precinct, or civil township, embraced the present territory of Elbridge Township, with the exception of the north tier of sections which belonged to the division just described, as noted in another page. with a kind of arm from Pike extending north between Sugar Creek and the range line to where the creek crosses it. It was scarcely one-fourth the size of Wayne Precinct, but for a time had nearly as great a population as the whole of that district. Among the early settlers of this township, were some of the roughest characters that, perhaps, Edgar County ever knew. We do not wish to be understood to say, however, that all there were of that character; for Pike had many who were of the very best and most honorable citizens, and who succeeded, in a few years, in getting rid of the turbulent ones, until, at the present day, this section compares favorably with any portion of the country.

One of the first settlers in the original Pike Township or Precinct, was John Ray, who came from Tennessee in 1818, and settled in the southern part of it, but a short distance from the present line of Clark County. While he is supposed to have been one of the first, it is not altogether certain that he was the very first settler in that section. And there still exists some doubt upon the point, many believing that the Elliotts, Ewings and Rhoadeses came about the same time. Hall Sims, now living in this district, but who settled in what is now Sims Township, says when he came to the county in 1821, he found John Ray, Alexander Ewing, Thomas Wilson, Thomas Rhoades, James Love, James Eggleton, James Knight and Arthur Foster living in what was known as Pike Township. Wilson, Rhoades, Eggleton and Foster were from Kentucky, and settled here between the years 1818 and 1821. Ewing was from Tennessee, as well as the Rays. Knight was likewise from Tennessee, and is said by some to have been a Revolutionary soldier. We are inclined to doubt that fact, however, and think that if a soldier at all, it must have been in the war of 1812. Love was a pretended doctor, but seems to have been of rather questionable standing in the community, and remained but a few years. Where he came from, no one now can tell, nor seems to care whither he went. He figured in the early courts of the county in a manner not in the least to his honor or credit.

In 1822, Eleven Tucker and David Role came to the settlement from Ohio. Tucker came at the same time as the Meanses and Beard, who settled first in Vermilion County, and afterward in Paris Township, in this county, where their history is given. Andrew B. Ray was from Tennessee, and settled in Pike in 1823, and served in the Black Hawk war of 1832. Abner Lamb settled in the neighborhood in 1823, and was from Kentucky. Thomas Hicklin was also from Kentucky, and came to the settlement the next year after Lamb.

of the Board of Township Commissioners of Buck Township, his time expiring in 1881; he has a farm of 375 acres of fine land, well improved, finely watered, and good timber, valued at about $75 per acre. He is still a young man, pleasant, congenial, full of life and energy, and is already known as one among the substantial men of Edgar Co.

JOHN RHOADS, farmer and Township Supervisor; P. O. Redmon; is a native of Edgar Co., Ill.; was born March 13, 1828, in Sims Tp.; lived there until April 2, 1863; then bought his present farm on Sec. 14, where he has since lived; during his early life, his chances for getting an education were very poor, but by home study and perseverance he acquired a good common-school education. Was married April 13, 1851, to Miss Sydney Walls, of Pike Co., Ohio; they have eight children—three boys and five girls. Mr. Rhoads began business for himself at the age of 21; his father gave him forty acres of wild land; by his own energy and industry he now owns seventy-seven acres of good land, well improved, valued at about $60 per acre; Mr. Rhoads is one of the old pioneers of the county, being a native of it; being now 50 years of age, can relate many of the hardships endured by himself incident to pioneer life; he is well known in the county, and esteemed by many warm friends, and can safely be classed as one of the pioneers of Edgar Co.

W. H. RUDY, farmer and stock-breeder, Sec. 7; P. O. Conlogue; is a native of Jefferson Co., Ky.; was born July 8, 1824; lived there with his parents until the age of 6, his father moving to Edgar Co. in 1830; during his early life, Edgar Co. had very poor schools; the distance being so far that he could not at all times attend, so was obliged to acquire most of his education by home study. Was married Nov. 17, 1853, to Miss Julia Lodge, of Zanesville, Ohio; they have a family of six children, four boys and two girls. Mr. Rudy started in business for himself with no material assistance; he now has a farm of 220 acres of first-class land, well improved, valued at about $75 per acre. He is one of the old pioneers of the county, having been obliged to put up with many of the trials and troubles incident to pioneer life; he stands well in the community, and is known as one among the substantial and better class of citizens of Edgar Co.

NEWTON STEWART, farmer and stock-raiser, Sec. 7; P. O. Paris; was born Nov. 11, 1833, in Ross Co., Ohio; was brought to Edgar Co. in 1838, where he has since lived; during his early life, he acquired but little education, but later in life has gained, by observation and experience, what he neglected during boyhood; he began business for himself at the age of 21. Was married Nov. 6, 1856, to Miss Armina Rhoads; they have nine children—Egbert, Florence B., Marriam C., William, Albert, Luella, Edg., Minnie M. and Walter. At the time of beginning life for himself, Mr. Stewart had no help from his father, but began a poor boy on the open prairie, and by hard work, economy and good management he now owns a farm of 570 acres of fine land, valued at about $50 per acre. Mr. Stewart is one among the early pioneers of Edgar Co.; has seen many of the changes take place from a wild prairie country to a thickly-settled county; now, at the prime of life, he is known as one among the wealthy and better class of citizens of the county.

ADAM STEWART, farmer and stock-raiser, Sec. 7; P. O. Paris; was born Dec. 19, 1828, in Ross Co., Ohio; was brought to Edgar Co., Ill., in 1838, by his parents; his opportunities of gaining an education were very meager, but by perseverance he acquired a good common-school education; he began business for himself at farming at the age of 22. Was married January 21, 1853, to Miss Rebecca E. Owen, of Edgar Co.; she died May 24, 1873, leaving his present family of four children; he married again April 21, 1875, to Miss Mary A. Lewman, of Vermillion Co., Ill., she dying Jan. 20, 1876; the names of his children are Demarions, Mary O. (now Mrs. G. North), Cyrus and Martha. At the time of beginning business for himself, Mr. Stewart had no material assistance financially from his father, but, by hard work, close economy and perseverance, coupled with a firm will to succeed under difficulties, he now owns a farm of 117½ acres, valued at $50 per acre. Mr. Stewart is one of the old pioneers of Edgar Co., having put up with the hardships of a pioneer life; has seen and simply as a pasturage, and, ere long, breaking-plows were invented, which were able to turn the tough sod and allow it to decompose. These prairie-plows were a cumbersome affair compared to the modern contrivances of to-day, required three or four yoke of oxen to pull one of them through the sod. They did an effectual work, however, in subjugating the Western domain and forming the advance guard in their own way. Their more ancient predecessors, bar-shares, with wooden moldboards were the early friends of the pioneer. They could be used in the porous soil of the timber-land, and were constantly required there. After the breaking-plow came a variety of others, each an improvement on its predecessor, until now the Diamond, the Cary, and others equally as good, seem to stand at the climax of these tillers of the soil.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

The early settlers of Sims Township came principally from Kentucky, Tennessee and the Carolinas. Their coming, settlement and their private history, as they are related, endured are the interesting parts of these pages, and to them we will devote the remainder of this history. The first settlers in Sims Township were Jacob Thomas Rhoades, who, with their families, came from Kentucky as early as 1819 or 1820. Mr. Hall Sims, who came to what is now Elbridge Township in March, 1821, mentions Thomas Rhoades as living in Elbridge on his arrival. He afterward removed, he says, to near Big Creek. This was done the next year, from the best accounts given. Mr. Rhoades married a daughter of Thomas Foster, one of the pioneers on Sugar Creek. In after years, when the Mormon excitement came over this part of the State, it carried Thomas Rhoades away in its doctrine. He went with them in their journey West, first to Utah, and then to California where he became quite wealthy. He was not alone, by any means, in his infatuation for this peculiar sect, as Edgar County furnished several adherents to the church of the "Latter-day Saints." Almost contemporary with them were William Janes, Moses Williams, Aaron Moses W., and John Darnall, Samuel Wells and William Craig. William Darnall, now living in Paris, says that when the county was organized, in the spring of 1823, he thinks that Thomas and Jacob Rhoades and Mr. Wells were about the only settlers in this part of the new county. Others came in very shortly after, if indeed, some of them were not already located.

When the first settlers arrived, they found their neighbors were in what is now Hunter Township and on Sugar Creek in Elbridge. It is not likely that there was any mill in the county at that date, and they were obliged to go to Palestine or to Terre Haute did they wish to avoid the laborious task of grinding mortar or grater. Each one of those named came in wagons, crossing the Ohio River at Louisville, or below the mouth of Salt River, thence to Vincennes, thence to Palestine where the land office was at that date, and where they could ascertain about unsold lands and unsettled parts of the State.

James Lamasters brought four sons and four daughters, and settled in the west part of the township. He remained here until his death.

James Adams came from Scott County, Ky., with his family, bringing a small outfit for commencement in the West. Yet, as they were industrious, and worked, they soon made a home in the forest. They built a small cabin, cleared a field, around which they made a brush fence, and soon had a comfortable and provident home. Mr. Adams was for many years a Justice of Peace in this precinct, and was a much-respected man. After a residence here of nearly thirty-five years, he sold his farm and removed to the State of Kansas, where he lived until his death.

William Young came from Kentucky, some assert as early as 1823, and located on Big Creek. Here he opened a farm, and lived a useful, quiet life until his death, some three years ago. He had seen, as few others were allowed to see, the town grow from a population of a few families to be filled with people enjoying all the comforts of life.

Michael and John O'Hair came, one in 1825, the other in 1830. The latter is yet living, over eighty years of age. Michael was one of the most prominent men in the county in after years. He was for some time an officer in his own township, and for two terms Sheriff of the county. At his house the first township meeting was held, and through his influence was the precinct kept separate. At a meeting of old settlers, in the summer of 1873, Mr. O'Hair was called upon to narrate his early experiences here. This was preserved in one of the local papers, and is worth repeating. He said:

"I was born in Montgomery County, Ky., on the 10th of July, 1801, and was married on the 16th of November, 1820. In October, 1825, I started for Illinois. All of my goods were soon made ready for the long journey. I was the owner of four common horses. Two of them were rigged with pack-saddles, and upon them I loaded all my worldly goods. The other two were used to pack myself, wife and two children. Thus equipped, we started for the 'Far West,' and on the 28th day of October, 1825, I landed on what is now my farm, five miles south of Paris, on Big Creek. On the place there were about three acres of cleared land; the balance of the region roundabout was heavy timber. I immediately examined my finances, and found I had a fraction over one hundred dollars in silver, which I used in entering the first 'eighty' I ever owned. I at once proceeded with my own hands to clear up my land for cultivation. I hardly ever hired my work done, for hands were scarce, and I had no means to pay them. There was a small cabin on the three acres that were cleared, that I occupied as my residence for sixteen years.

"On my arrival in my new home in this county, I found the following persons, who had preceded me a year or two to Big Creek:

"Thomas Rhoades, Jacob Rhoades, John House, William Janes, Elijah Elledge, Samuel Handley, Thomas O'Hair (a half-brother), Fred. Uncell, Aaron Darnall and brother, who were then "baching" it, and Mike, John and Daniel

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and dates, arranged in two columns. The names are written in a cursive script, and the dates are in a more formal, printed style. The list appears to be a record of some kind, possibly a roster or a list of events.

2. The second part of the document is a single paragraph of text, also written in a cursive script. It appears to be a continuation of the information provided in the list, possibly providing more details about the individuals or events mentioned.

3. The third part of the document is a single line of text, written in a cursive script. It appears to be a concluding statement or a signature, possibly indicating the end of the document or the author's name.
